SMITH BINDS JERSEY AGAINST W. J. BRYAN

Unit Rule Adopted and Convention Defeats Davis for Delegate at Large.

FOR JOHNSON OR GRAY

Nearly a Riot When Hudson's Demand for Bryan and Davis Is Voted Down—Roosevelt Assailed.

Special to The New York Times.

TRENTON, N. J., April 28.—Ex-Senator James Smith, Jr., administered to-day a stinging rebuke to "Bob" Davis of Hudson County for trying to force the selection of William Jennings Bryan as the choice of the 24 New Jersey delegates to the National Democratic Convention, the result being that Davis was beaten as a delegate at large, and the Jersey delegates uninstructed, except that they are not to vote for Bryan, and the unit rule is in force.

Smith goes at the head of the "Big Four," his companions being Frank S. Katzenbach, Jr., of this city, Senator Hinchliffe of Passaic, and Judge Howard Carrow of Camden.

Carrow was slated for National Committeeman in place of William B. Gourley, but when William J. Thompson of Gloucester refused to go as a delegate at large, Smith forced Carrow as a delegate at large because Davis came here determined to win out against Smith.

Davis believed that Smith would not dare slap Democratic rock-ribbed Hudson in the face by not allowing the county a delegate at large, but he did not reckon right, for Smith was determined that the Jersey Democratic delegation should have in it no semblance of Bryanism. Davis represented the Bryan faith, and, although he pleaded with Smith to be allowed to go as one of the "Big Four," Smith refused. Then Davis sought to carry Bryan sentiment into the convention in a resolution introduced by ex-Congressman Allen Benny of Hudson to instruct the delegates to vote for Bryan. Smith at once moved that the resolution lie on the table, and his motion was seconded. Benny insisted on a roll call, but Chairman G. A. Viehmann of New Brunwick refused to recognize him, and declared the viva voce vote to lay on the table carried, although many of the Smith delegates had left the hall.

Almost a riot broke out when Congressman Hamill rose to put the name of Davis in nomination for delegate at large. Cries of "He sold out Katzenbach and lost us the Governorship!" were heard.

Hamill stopped long enough in his speech to deny this, but the catcalls were so loud that he was forced to desist in defending Davis.

The vote on delegates at large was:

Smith, 972; Katzenbach, 1,090; Hinchliffe, 1,213; Carrow, 918; Davis, 443; Martine, 369; Birch, 213. Necessary to choice, 669. Davis received the solid support of Hudson and scattering votes in Bergen, Camden, Cumberland, Gloucester, Passaic, Somerset, Sussex, and Warren.

When the convention was about through with its business Smith relented a little and allowed Davis to be named as a district delegate to the National Convention. But he will go bound by the unit rule, obeying the wishes of Smith, who favors the nomination of Judge George Gray or Gov. Johnson of Minnesota.

The absolute control which Smith exercised over the affairs of the convention is shown in part in the selection of his right-hand man, James Nugent of Newark, as one of the delegates in the Eighth District. Mr. Smith was in control from the time he landed in Trenton yesterday afternoon until the convention came to a close this afternoon.

E. C. Bonniwell, President, and J. B. McGrane, Secretary, of the Philadelphia Johnson League, came to Trenton to-day for the purpose of working up sentiment for the Presidential boom of Gov. Johnson. A league is to be established in Philadelphia to embrace Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Maryland, and the two Virginias. The men distributed 500 buttons and about 2,000 circulars.

Chairman Viehmann in his address attacked the Roosevelt Administration and also the Republican Administration in this State.

Referring to President Roosevelt, he said:

"We have been passing through strenuous times. This has been the day of the 'big stick,' and whenever a head bobbed up the club swinger would get into action.

"Boldly proclaiming the necessity for tariff reformation at the beginning of his Administration, he was led to see a brighter light, and party supremacy and political demands have beaten the National need and the general welfare. Vigorous in his denunciation of corruption, subsequent events have proved that he was the recipient of the fruit of such corruption, and was knowingly meeting some who are now undesirable citizens to arrange for the then existing needs."

MAXIM ON PEACE AND WAR.

Inventor Says International Love-Making Must Be Done with Armor On.

"International love-making must be done with armor on," said Hudson Maxim, the inventor of many explosives and explosive devices, last night at a dinner given by the Aldine Association, 111 Fifth Avenue. It wasn't a war dinner; it was an air-going dinner, the chief guests being, besides Mr. Maxim, Major George O. Squier, in command of the Government's experiments with aeronautics; Alexander Graham Bell, F. Hopkinson Smith, Lieut. Thomas E. Selfridge, U. S. N., who recently took Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., up in a balloon, and Augustus Post, the banker and balloonist.

Mr. Maxim got around to his talk about armor and international peace by way of the balloon and aeroplane, which, he said, would presently enter into national war plans for offense and defense.

"The inventors of deadly war engines," went on Mr. Maxim, "place in the hands of scientific and enlightened nations means controlling wars; and as mercy is largely a product of civilization, future conquest will be more and more tempered with mercy until mercy shall have conquered war. Altruism is born of love, but international love-making must be done with armor on.

"The entire history of man's race is a sermon of the plain truth that the only secure place for mercy, for peace, justice, and law is with the man behind the gun."

ROY BLAMES GLACIA CALLA.

Declares She Signaled to Carkins, Her Brother, to Shoot Him.

PARIS, April 28.—Paul L. Roy, the Frenchman who is being examined in connection with the allegation made by his wife that he murdered her brother, George A. Carkins, near Portsmouth, N. H., was cross-examined to-day by Magistrate Boucard regarding the details of the shooting.

He declared that Carkins fired at him at a sign given by Glacia Calla, his wife, Carkins's sister. This was after Roy had called her an adventuress.

Roy said he fired at Carkins only after Carkins had shot at him. Roy said he believed his life was in danger when he left the house, and in fear of an ambush he reloaded his revolver.

Roy, who produced a coat in which there was a shot hole as an exhibit, stated that during a dispute which originated because of a hat his wife wore that he objected to, he had been abused by Carkins. Finally he told his wife that he had left position, family, and everything to marry her, and as he was not appreciated he thought it would be better to obtain a divorce.

His wife rejoined that she also preferred a divorce; that she had lost her reputation for Roy, who was a "low blackguard's son, a thieving horse dealer."

Roy declared that then he called her an adventuress, speaking in French, but repeating the term in English at her request for the benefit of Carkins. It was then, said the witness, that Carkins drew a revolver and resting his hand on the arm of a chair, aimed and fired at him when his wife made a sign. Roy also emptied his revolver, at the same time retreating through the doorway and proceeding to his room to get more cartridges.

Roy announces his intention to begin divorce proceedings.

MRS. COREY TO GIVE OPERA

In Her House Here, She Says—Sails for Paris to Study Under De Reszke.

Before sailing yesterday on the Hamburg-American liner Deutschland for Europe with her husband, Mrs. W. E. Corey, formerly Mabelle Gilman, the actress, said she intended to go to Paris to study for the operatic stage under Jean de Reszke.

"I have several rôles entirely learned," Mrs. Corey said, "which I have to finish with Mr. de Reszke, with whom I shall appear in grand opera this season. I am not doing this with any desire to appear again before the public, but simply for the sake of the work. I have always been used to an active life and cannot remain idle. I shall appear in opera, and hope to be able to do something for a phase of music in this country which should be developed."

Mrs. Corey said that she intended to have a theatre in her own house here such as she has in her château near Paris, so that she will be able to give operas in which she will take part herself and for which she will engage the best singers and musicians procurable. Three performances will be given of each opera, one for her friends, the second for the critics and musicians, and the third to create a fund to develop the talent of those who do not have the means to pursue their studies. She added that the rôles she expected to sing with Jean de Reszke were Amneris in "Aïda" and Carmen.

Mrs. Henry Spies Kip, who is a well-known amateur soprano in New York society, sailed on the same steamer to go to Paris and take a course in opera under Jean de Reszke. At musicales she was heard last season in selections from "La Bohême," "Manon Lescaut," and "Madama Butterfly."

NO MOTORMAN, CAR SPED ON.

While He and a Passenger Fought the Trolley Was in Mad Flight.

Persons in Amsterdam Avenue, between 100th Street and Eighty-sixth Street, about 9 o'clock last night gazed in amazement at an Amsterdam and Broadway car which tore down the street with no one at the controller. From the front window on the right-hand side of the car protruded the head and half the body of Motorman Frank A. Ferris. He was struggling with a passenger whose hands clutched his throat.

The fight had started at 101st Street. There a passenger boarded the car by the front platform and began a wrangle with the motorman when the latter told him to "step lively." Finally Ferris grabbed the man and shoved him into the car, turning back immediately to his controller and brake.

"An instant later," Ferris told Magistrate Walsh, in the Night Court, "I felt the man's hands on my throat."

The car was speeding along, swerving from side to side, and lurching dangerously on the curves. There were four passengers in the car, two of them women and one a priest. The women screamed in terror and at last ran to the back platform and leaped off the rapidly moving car. They tumbled in the dust, but picked themselves up and got away in a hurry.

The car reached Eighty-sixth Street before Conductor Gillespie took in the situation and ran to the front platform, where he shut off the power and applied the brake. Then he ran back into the car to Ferris's help. The latter was nearly black in the face from the choking he had received, but with Gillespie's help he threw off his assailant and held him until Policeman Connors of the West Sixty-eighth Street Station came up.

Connors took all three men to the Night Court, where Ferris's assailant said he was Joseph Carr, a liveryman of 106 West Eighty-ninth Street. He denied having started the fight, and said that the conductor had refused to give him change for a quarter. Ferris bore the marks of fingers on his throat, however, and Magistrate Walsh held Carr in $100 bail for good behavior for a month.

Educators to Try New Schoolship.

The Board of Education will make the first test this morning of the new schoolship Newport, which, by direction of President Roosevelt, has been placed at the disposal of the department. The Newport, which is a small gunboat, is lying in the East River, off Twenty-fifth Street. The board plans to-day to take a trip through Hell Gate and into the Sound.

M'INTYRE DENIES CUSTOMERS' CHARGES

Head of Failed Firm Wires That He Did Not Sell Stocks They Owned.

EXAMINE FIRM MEMBERS

Bankruptcy Commissioner Will Ask Them Where Nearly $100,000 Missing Securities Have Gone To.

In reply to a telegram informing him of the charge made by customers of T. A. McIntyre & Co. that stocks they had bought outright had been disposed of by the firm, THE TIMES received this dispatch from Mr. McIntyre last night:

Goldsboro, N. C., April 28.

THE NEW YORK TIMES:

Telegram just received. Charge is absolutely untrue.
T. A. McINTYRE.

Despite the denial of the head of the firm, demands for securities they said had been paid for in full continued to pour in from clients of the failed Stock Exchange house yesterday. A hastily gathered list of the stocks and bonds for which customers have been clamoring was made up by Irving L. Ernst, attorney for the receivers, yesterday, amounting to nearly $100,000, and as near as he could estimate, Mr. Ernst said, the list represents only about one-quarter of the demands.

Receiver Charles C. Burlingham and his counsel have taken the ground that, since no trace of the missing securities can be found, and the claims of the firm's clients to outright ownership if established make the matter one for the criminal authorities, the whole question must be thoroughly thrashed out without loss of time. To this end an order was obtained from Judge Holt in the United States District Court yesterday under Section 21A of the bankruptcy act authorizing the examination of the seven partners of the firm before Commissioner Gilchrist. The attorneys for the receivers will then cross-examine the firm members as to the disposal made of their customers' property.

Many of the clamoring clients of the failed firm who had made their demands by letter appeared in person at the 71 Broadway office yesterday, and Attorney Ernst was kept busy during the greater part of the day listening to the claims of ownership and explaining the situation. Several of the largest losers have put their claims into the hands of lawyers. Attorney Ernst brought out during the afternoon a partial list of the securities which have been demanded by customers of the firm, and which cannot be found. He said it would be days before anything like a complete list of the stocks and bonds demanded could be gathered together and compared with the books. He figured that the securities enumerated below comprise about one-quarter of those which have been called for by letter or in person, and all of these he said were securities which the firm had no right to put up as collateral, and which should have been in the firm's safe deposit boxes. The list follows with values estimated at yesterday's closing prices:

	STOCKS.
60	Rock Island pf	32⅞	$1,972.50
20	Am. Smelting com	71⅜	1,427.50
30	Anaconda	38¼	1,147.50
100	Amalgamated	60¼	6,025.00
100	U. S. Cast Iron Pipe	25	2,500.00
100	New York Air Brake	69½	6,950.00
100	Great Northern pf	128	12,800.00
75	Missouri Pacific	46½	3,487.50
20	Yukon Gold	4½	90.00
200	Southern Pacific	78⅜	15,675.00
100	Nevada-Utah	4½	450.00
100	U. S. Steel pf	101	10,100.00
200	St. L. & S. F. pf	54	10,800.00
1,000	Pitts. Coal	11⅛	11,125.00
50	Mo., K. & T. pf	58½	2,925.00
18	Pullman	161	1,898.00
10	Erie	19	190.00
50	Portland Copper	11c.	5.50
	BONDS.
$5,000	St. Paul	109¾	5,487.50
5,000	Mo., K. & T.	78	3,900.00
			$98,956.00

In many cases those claiming ownership in the securities had paid their good money into the firm only a few days before the failure. The 100 shares of United States Cast Iron Pipe, according to the claimant, were turned over to the firm for transfer only the day before the failure. The 200 shares of St. Louis & San Francisco preferred, which at the close of the stock market yesterday were worth $10,800, are said to have been paid for in full by a New York woman whose name the receivers did not feel free to divulge yesterday. Many of the clamoring customers were clients of the firm's out-of-town branches, of which the house had more than a dozen.

The Rock Island preferred was deposited with the firm with instructions to sell when ordered, but no selling order had ever been given, the customer asserts.

The 200 shares of Southern Pacific and twenty shares of American Smelters were ordered to be bought for cash by a customer living at Roxbury, Mass. The ten shares of Anaconda Copper, fifty shares of Portland Copper, seventy-five shares of Northern Pacific, and twenty shares of Yukon Gold, and five Chicago & Alton bonds are all claimed by the same client, who says he merely placed the securities with the firm for safekeeping.

No attempt has been made as yet to identify the securities demanded with the stocks and bonds behind the firm's $575,000 more or less of bank loans. This collateral is, however, subject to the first liens of the banks making the loans, and even if the actual certificates belonging to the firm's customers could be picked out of the collateral held by the banks they would not be recoverable by the owners, it was said yesterday by counsel for the receivers.

JEROME TO OPPOSE THAW.

Letters Written from Asylum to be Used Against Patient.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., April 28.—District Attorney Jerome of New York to-day notified District Attorney Mack of Dutchess County that his assistant, Francis P. Garvan, will attend the habeas corpus proceedings instituted by Harry K. Thaw and oppose the discharge of Thaw from the Matteawan Asylum. The writ of habeas corpus is returnable before Justice Morschauser in this city next Monday.

Special to The New York Times.

PITTSBURG, April 28.—Letters which Harry K. Thaw has written to friends in Pittsburg since his confinement at Matteawan will have great bearing on his appeal for release from the asylum. It is understood that some of the letters have been forwarded to physicians at Matteawan to peruse, and that they had much to do with the physicians' declination to testify that Thaw is fit to be at large.

That the Thaws here do not expect that Harry will be liberated was indicated today when Mrs. Thaw completed arrangements for sailing to Europe next month. She will spend the Summer and Fall abroad with her daughters.

FANATIC KILLS LITTLE GIRL.

Head of Praying Band, While Fighting Devil, Slays His Niece.

ALLENTOWN, Penn., April 28.—A murder by a religious fanatic occurred last night in the Borough of Alliance, near here. Councilman Henry Smith's little daughter was killed by his brother-in-law, Robert Bachman of Nazareth, Penn., while on a visit at the Bachman home. At the time of the killing Bachman was in a frenzy, during which he drove everybody except the little girl out of the house.

Bachman was at the head of a new praying band, and last week he got the Smiths interested. They went to Bachman's house yesterday, prayed, and held services, and then decided to remain until the spirit told them to leave. Late last night, under Bachman's direction, Smith, in fighting the devil, broke three doors, kicked in the footboard of a bed and jumped on the bed, smashing it. Meanwhile Bachman was in an adjoining room with the Smiths' only child, May Irene, who would have been 5 years old to-day.

When Mrs. Smith entered that room she found her daughter dead on the floor and Bachman on his knees alongside in a religious frenzy. The horrified mother snatched up the body of her child and ran shrieking from the house. Later the father and mother took the body to their home, eight miles distant. The forehead and upper portions of the child's body were bruised and scratched.

This afternoon Bachman was arrested. His wife told the Coroner that the child had been killed by God, and that her husband was God. The belief is that Bachman, in his frenzy, unwittingly killed the child.

Smith and Bachman are cement mill workmen.

CAPERS ASSAULTS A NEGRO.

South Carolina Leader Hurls F. B. Thompson from Convention Platform.

COLUMBIA, S. C., April 28.—The Republican State Convention met here to-day at noon. Just before the convention was called to order for the afternoon session, F. B. Thompson, a negro, formerly a mail carrier in Columbia, took charge of the chair and was presiding over a recess meeting, at which various delegates spoke.

Presently Capt. John G. Capers, United States Collector of Internal Revenue and National Republican Committeeman from South Carolina, stepped on the platform and was introduced by Thompson as a "good Democrat." After this the two men faced each other and Thompson brandished a hickory stick which he was using as a gavel in the face of Capt. Capers. Capt. Capers hurled the negro from the platform, the negro falling upon his head. About a dozen white men and a large number of negroes surrounded Capers.

Temporary Chairman F. H. Deas, after hammering on a table for fifteen minutes, finally restored a semblance of order. Capt. Capers then read the resolutions, which commended the Administration of President Roosevelt and pledged support to the nominee of the Republican Convention at Chicago whoever he might be.

CONFESSES BRENNAN MURDER

Mrs. Farmer Says She Killed Woman —Later Accuses Her Husband.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., April 28.—Mrs. James Farmer, who, with her husband, is held at the county jail here, suspected of the murder of Mrs. Sarah Brennan of Brownville, whose body was found packed in a trunk yesterday, has made two confessions of the crime, according to statements made by the police.

In the first she stated that it was she who struck the blows with the axe while Mrs. Brennan was looking out of the window with her back turned. She had the trunk in readiness for the body, she said. When confronted with the body of the victim she made the alleged second confession, and said:

"I may as well tell the truth; Jim did it. I found him leaning over her body in the sitting room. He had the axe in his hand, and said to me, with an oath, 'That's the end of her.'"

The woman's head had been crushed in by a blow on the left side that severed the ear, and her face was a network of cuts, where blows had been rained upon her after she had fallen.

Both the prisoners retain great composure, and show no worry as to their position. Mrs. Farmer devotes her entire attention to the care of her eight-month-old baby, which the officials have allowed her to keep with her in her cell.

A sister of Farmer to-day said that he was at work all day Thursday at her home, the day that Mrs. Brennan disappeared.

The authorities believe Mrs. Farmer's first confession is a correct statement of what actually occurred. They are proceeding on the theory that Mrs. Brennan went to the Farmer residence to demand the alleged forged deed of the property when she was killed.

FRANK GOULD COMING BACK.

Leaves Hot Springs, Va.—Will Not Go to Residence, Where Wife Is.

Special to The New York Times.

HOT SPRINGS, Va., April 28.—Frank Jay Gould left to-night on a late train for New York. He will arrive at 1 o'clock to-morrow afternoon and will return to his apartments at the Plaza Hotel, where he went after leaving his wife in their Fifth Avenue home. Mr. Gould was accompanied on the trip to New York by William Northrop of Richmond.

Asked if he would make any further statement concerning his matrimonial difficulties, Mr. Gould said he would not. Newspaper publicity, he said, was a great grievance to him, but he smiled and said he guessed he could not escape it.

The departure of Frank Jay Gould from Hot Springs, Va., to New York was a basis for the revival of many rumors concerning a reconciliation between Mr. and Mrs. Gould. Prior to Mr. Gould's departure for the Springs he engaged a suite at the Plaza which he has retained during his fortnight's visit. Mr. Gould will go directly to the Plaza, while Mrs. Gould is staying at 834 Fifth Avenue.

At midnight a friend of Mrs. Frank Jay Gould, who had seen her during the evening, said: "Any interview purporting to have been given by Mrs. Gould is false. She has not discussed her affairs even with her friends, and the facts in the matter remain unchanged. Mr. and Mrs. Gould have never been further removed from a reconciliation than they are now, and no overtures have been made by either side."

BROKER CHAS. COSTER A SUICIDE AT HOME

Stock Exchange Member Shoots Himself for No Apparent Cause.

CHEERFUL BEFORE HE DIED

Had Been Chatting with Family Physician a Few Moments Before—Well Known in Athletics.

Charles Coster, junior member of the Stock Exchange firm of Coster, Knapp & Co. of 66 Broadway, committed suicide at his home, 17 East Fifty-fifth Street, last night, by shooting himself through the head with a revolver of heavy calibre. No reason could be assigned by members of his family or his partner, Mr. Knapp, last night for the act.

According to the statements made to a TIMES reporter at the house last night by a member of the family, Mr. Coster came home at 5 o'clock last night as usual, took his bath, and put on a suit of pajamas preparatory to dressing for dinner. Dr. William Allen Bartlett of 41 East Forty-third Street, the family physician, called at about 5:30 o'clock to see Mrs. Coster, who had been suffering with a slight cold, but she was out, and he sat down in the parlor on the second floor chatting to Mr. Coster, who gave him a description of some of the new guns he had recently purchased to add to his collection of firearms, which was a hobby of his.

He left the doctor apparently, according to Dr. Bartlett, to fetch one of the guns. While Mr. Coster had gone out of the room his wife returned and was talking to Dr. Bartlett, when they were both startled by the loud report of a gun coming from the sleeping apartment at the rear on the same floor. The doctor rushed into the room, and found Mr. Coster lying on the bed with a bullet wound through his right temple. Death had been instantaneous.

"All of his friends who have called here to-night have been dumfounded by the news, as they could not think of any reason why Mr. Coster should kill himself," said THE TIMES's informant. "He had been happily married for seventeen years, was an all-around athlete in the best of health, and as far as we know had not an enemy in the world. It is no doubt a suicide, but beyond that there is nothing to be said. His partner, Mr. Knapp, is out at a theatre, and we shall have him here as soon as he can be got at."

When reporters called at the Hotel Gotham at 12:30 this morning to get the statement from J. M. Knapp regarding his partner's financial position, they were informed that Mr. Knapp had nothing to say on the matter, and that he had gone to bed. Seen later, Mr. Steers said that he had seen Mr. Knapp, who said that it would be impossible for him to make a statement until he had been down to the office and seen the books of the firm.

The relative added that he knew of no financial embarrassment that would have caused Mr. Coster any trouble, as he came of a wealthy old New York family, and his wife, who was a Miss Anthon, was also wealthy in her own right.

Coroner Dooley was notified, and after a visit to the Coster residence gave a permit to the undertakers to take charge of the remains. Three Central Office detectives were sent np to the house to see if their services were needed, but they were informed that it was an inexplicable suiside and that that was all there was to be said.

Dr. Bartlett said last night that he could not account in any way for Mr. Coster's taking his life.

"I was merely paying him a social visit," he said, "although I was his family physician. He appeared most cheery and was as well as any man could be."

Charles Coster was 42 years of age, and was not only well known in business circles, but prominent in the athletic world. He was an expert swimmer and boxer, and took a great interest in all outdoor sports. He was a member of the Coney Island Jockey Club, New York Athletic Club, and Southampton and Shinnecock Golf Clubs. The Costers had no children.

John M. Knapp of Islip, L. I., is the senior member of the firm.

W. B. Coster, an elder brother of Charles Coster, was formerly a partner in the firm, but he retired last May, and is now abroad. Mr. Coster was a son of Col. Robert Coster, who died some years ago.

'GATOR IN THE TAXICAB.

Woman Who Left It There Invited Through the Lost Column to Call.

The woman who left a live alligator in a green taximeter early yesterday morning while going from the Hotel Astor to the Grand Central Station may hear something to her advantage by inquiring at the office of the New York Transportation Company, Eighth Avenue and Forty-ninth Street.

The night manager at Eighth Avenue and Forty-ninth Street said last evening that the alligator was found dressed in doll's clothes of the latest fashion. The alligator answered to the name of Florabelle, so far as any human can tell about an alligator answering.

Florabelle wore at the time—and is still wearing, for that matter—a tight-fitting gown of Swiss cheese cloth over a biscuit tortoni underfrock, with a sash swathed tightly over the hips, producing that exceedingly de rigueur effect rarely seen off Sixth Avenue and Orchard Street. Her jewelry was simple.

The New York Transportation Company has asked THE TIMES, through its Lost and Found columns, to find a claimant for its new charge. The night manager said last evening that at the particular moment he didn't know exactly where the alligator was, but that the claim department would know. It was closed, however, then.

The night manager wanted to warn the owner of Florabelle that if she is not claimed or if a change of clothes is not sent her immediately she will be unfrocked.

Free Rides in Cleveland.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, April 28.—For the first time in the history of this city, street car service was absolutely free to-day, not a fare being rung up on any car within the city limits. This action was decided upon last night after the papers had been finally signed ending the long street car war in order that the occasion might be duly commemorated. It is proposed to celebrate the same date each year with free street car service.

MIKADO HONORS CLEWS.

The "Imperial Decoration" Conferred for Friendly Services to Japan.

Henry Clews was notified yesterday that he had been invested by the Japanese Emperor with the "Imperial Decoration." The banker has been a friend of many years' standing of Baron Kentaro Kaneko, who was sent here during the Japanese war with Russia as an envoy to the people of this country. Mr. Clews has heard of the honor conferred on him in a letter from the Baron.

After the labor troubles with the Japanese on the Pacific Coast Mr. Clews sent many assurances to his Japanese friends of the good will of the American people as a whole. When it was first announced that Admiral Evans's fleet was to be dispatched to the Pacific Coast he wrote to Baron Kaneko suggesting that it would help the international situation if the Emperor would extend an invitation to the fleet to visit Japan.

The order conferred on Mr. Clews is the highest imperial decoration given by the Emperor to foreigners. Mr. Clews sent a reply to Viscount Kaneko thanking him for the gift, and saying that on its receipt he would formally express his gratification to the Emperor.

Senator Offers to Sell Out for $1,000 and Donate Money to Charity.

Special to The New York Times.

AUSTIN, Texas, April 28.—Senator J. W. Bailey last night in a public speech here denied the report that he is in the multi-millionaire class. He offered to sell all of his holdings in Texas, with the exception of a 600-acre farm, for $1,000, and to donate that amount to charity if the sale should be made.

MRS. COCHRAN GAVE $50,000.

Sum to be Used in Buying the Historic Yonkers Manor Hall.

With the news that Gov. Hughes had signed the Yonkers Manor Hall bill, preserving that historic structure as State property, came the announcement yesetrday that Mrs. William F. Cochran of Yonkers is the donor of the $50,000 for the purchase of the property from the city, and the $5,000 for such repairs as may be necessary when it is vacated by the city.

Mrs. Cochran's late husband was the founder of Hollywood Inn. Yonkers, which is a model club for workingmen. This structure cost over $150,000. Manor Hall, which has been used for about thirty-six years as a municipal building, was erected in 1682 by Frederick Phillipse. In one of the rooms is an arm chair in which Mary Phillipse is said to have sat when she refused a proposal of marriage from George Washington.

CARS KILL 600 A YEAR.

Public Service Commission Starts Inquiry to Lessen Accidents.

On motion of Commissioner Maltbie the Public Service Commission began yesterday the work of seeing that the cars of the traction lines in the city are thoroughly equipped with safety devices to the end that the number of accidents may be reduced. The commission directed all the traction companies to file before May 10 complete statements as to the number and kinds of cars owned, and the detailed equipment of those cars.

Commissioner Maltbie had this to say about the resolution:

"In the six months ended Feb. 1, 1908, the street railways of Greater New York killed 299 persons and seriously injured 944. The total number of accidents due to collisions of street cars was 1,196, and the number of vehicles and persons struck by cars was 7,059. At this rate in an entire year about 600 persons will be killed and 2,000 seriously injured. The number of accidents due to collisions will approximate 2,400, and the number of persons and vehicles struck 14,000. From the standpoint of humanity this is a serious condition, and ought not to be allowed to continue if there is any way to prevent it."

"RED" BOMB THROWER DEAD.

Silverstein Pays the Penalty of His Union Square Explosion.

Selig Silverstein, the Anarchist who attempted to throw a bomb in Union Square on March 28, died yesterday in Bellevue Hospital after hovering between life and death for a month.

Silverstein entered the hospital with his right hand blown to shreds, a hole in his skull, and three ribs broken. After two weeks he developed meningitis. The hospital physicians brought him through this in safety, but the amputation of his hand gave him a shock from which he had not the strength to recover.

Only once after being taken to the prison ward of the hospital did Silverstein talk. Then he told an attendant why he had attempted to throw the bomb, declaring that his only regret was that he had not succeeded in killing the policemen he aimed at.

MRS. DOLGE FIRES AT HUSBAND

Daughter In Law of Founder of Dolgeville, N. Y., Confined as Insane.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., April 28.—During a fit of temporary insanity, Mrs. Vera Dolge, wife of Fritz Dolge of Alhambra and daughter-in-law of Alfred Dolge, the millionaire founder of Dolgeville, N. Y., yesterday fired two shots at her husband with a revolver. Neither shot took effect.

To-day Mrs. Dolge was placed in the county hospital, where she was taken on a complaint charging insanity. Mrs. Dolge had made a previous attempt to shoot her husband.

TYPESETTING NEXT BY WIRELESS WAVES

Wireless Photography Demonstrated in London, Wireless Typesetting Soon to Be.

HANS KNUDSEN'S INVENTION

Proposes to Operate Linotype Machines in Paris by Wireless Waves from London.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, April 28.—That he has already perfected an invention by which he can set type in an ordinary linotype machine in Paris by wireless waves thrown from London was the surprising statement made at the Hotel Cecil to-night by Hans Knudsen, the Danish inventor, famous for his achievements with liquid air, after giving the first public demonstration of long-distance wireless photography.

"I shall publicly demonstrate my new wireless typesetting invention within a few weeks," said Mr. Knudsen. "I have already had the first machine constructed, and it has proved successful, seting 3,000 words an hour, at a distance, just as if the operator were working the machine.

"The time is not far distant when, with my invention, the London correspondents of the New York newspapers will be able to send their news straight to the printing press through the Marconi operator."

In the course of his demonstration of wireless photography Mr. Knudsen to-night sent photographs of the King, Queen, and Kaiser from one room in the hotel through the wall, into another, without wires, the pictures proving recognizable.

He had constructed in the first room a transmitter with a needle point passing over a picture prepared on a glass plate from a photograph.

The needle continually vibrated over the plate, according to the roughness or smoothness of the surface. A succession of electric waves was accurately recorded by a plate on the wall. These waves were in turn caught by another receiving plate in the adjoining room after passing through the wall, the picture being again accurately recorded by the receiving instrument on a smoked glass plate.

From this plate, recognizable photographs were printed on sensitized paper.

"I claim I can send pictures wherever Marconi can send messages," said Mr. Knudsen. "Within a short time I shall be sending pictures of criminals and finger prints from England to New York."

ABRUZZI SEES BROTHERS.

Said to Have Held Conference on His Marriage to Miss Elkins.

NAPLES, April 28.—The Duke of the Abruzzi, commanding the battleship Regina Elena, which is anchored off Pozzuoli, gave a luncheon to-day to the Duke of Aosta and the Count of Turin.

According to current reports, the meeting of the three brothers had reference to the arrangements for the marriage of the Duke of the Abruzzi and Miss Elkins.

The Duke of Aosta and the Count of Turin left this evening for Rome to report to the King the result of the conference.

The trim little steam yacht Marietta, which Senator Stephen B. Elkins of West Virginia has purchased from the estate of Robert N. Carson of Philadelphia, intended, according to report, for his daughter, Katherine Elkins, is one of the best-known vessels of the kind in New York waters. Mr. Carson was a keen yachtsman, and used the boat about Newport and on Long Island Sound every Summer. The craft was at every yacht race of importance, and at other aquatic spectacles, always with a merry party aboard. So the vessel got to be as familiar to yachtsmen as the big steam yachts North Star, Kanawha, Nourmahal, Niagara, and others in America's pleasure fleet.

FRITZI SCHEFF'S DIVORCE SUIT

Referee Reports in Actress's Favor, but Court Reserves Decision.

The report of Edmond E. Wise, who was appointed to take testimony in the suit for divorce which Friedericke Anna von Bardeleben, which is Fritzi Scheff's name in private life, brought against her husband, Baron Friederich Wilhelm Gustave Carl von Bardeleben, was submitted for confirmation by her counsel to Supreme Court Justice McCall yesterday.

The referee recommends that an interlocutory decree of divorce be signed in favor of the actress. The court reserved decision.

Counsel for the Baron filed an answer denying his wife's allegations, but Referee Wise gives it as his opinion that Miss Scheff is entitled to the release she asks for.

After the decree is signed three months must elapse before it is made final, and until the expiration of that period Miss Scheff cannot marry again.

She charged her husband with misconduct with a woman whose name has not been made public.

Enoch Magrue Indicted.

Special to The New York Times.

LEXINGTON, Ky., April 28.—An indictment charging unlawful conversion has been found here against Enoch Magrue of New York. He is the brother of Mrs. Anna Louise Madden-Bell, and is charged with having stripped the Madden residence at Hamburg Place of its silverware and other household articles directly after his sister left Madden. Bond was fixed at $1,000 and a bench warrant issued for his arrest.

Mill Owner Weds Dancing Teacher.

Special to The New York Times.

WORCESTER, Mass., April 28.—Miss Rosa Frances Oehme of this city, a pretty and popular young woman, who for years has been a teacher of dancing, and C. Francis Thayer, the wealthy head of the Thayer Woolen Mills of North Oxford, were married to-night in the First Unitarian Church, the Rev. A. S. Garvan officiating. Mr. Thayer is a Worcester man and a member of one of the oldest and most aristocratic families of Massachusetts.

TAFT FOR SUFFRAGE, BUT NOT JUST YET

Tells Carnegie Hall Audience That Women Will Vote When Majority Want To.

QUESTION AND ANSWER TALK

Introduced as "the Next President," He Discusses First the Delays of the Law.

Introduced by Isaac N. Seligman, a Trustee of the Civic Forum, as the next President of the United States, Secretary of War William H. Taft delivered a lecture at Carnegie Hall before a large audience last evening on "The Delays and Defects in the Enforcement of the Laws in This Country."

Secretary Taft had been expected to speak on the effect of the American republican form of government on the policy of the nations of the world, but announced tha he had found he had not sufficient time to treat the subject as thoroughly as he would like, so asked that he be allowed to switch to a theme with which he was more familiar.

In introducing the Secretary Mr. Seligman referred to his career on the bench, at the bar, and in the various administrative positions he has held under the Government, from Governor of the Philippines to his present post, and his reorganization of Cuba and Panama thrown in.

"No one who is acquainted with Secretary Taft will give any credence to the oft-repeated charge that he is an echo of our President," said Mr. Seligman. "They have a common desire to purge the country of its evils, and both are animated by high purposes to establish public and private dealings on a loftier plane, but each is too independent to be unduly influenced by the other."

Mr. Seligman's reference to Secretary Taft as "the next President" was greeted with hearty applause, and the audience cheered him again at the conclusion of his address.

Mr. Taft discussed the courts of the land from those of first resort to the United States Supreme Court, and declared that there is too much technicality connected with the judicial proceedings as they appear in the code books. He thought the right of appeal should be limited and that he was heartily in favor of trial by jury, but he insisted that the Legislatures had given too much power to juries and had taken power from the hands of the Judges that should have been theirs.

"One of the great difficulties with the law," said the Secretary, "is a disposition to treat litigants as made for the courts and lawyers instead of the courts and lawyers as made for litigants."

Secretary Taft declared that there are too many delays, especially in criminal cases, and that for this reason many persons who have been indicted are never brought to trial, and that the rich are able to stave off their trials, while the poor, who have not the money to hire astute lawyers, are compelled to languish in jail or are punished, while those who have committed perhaps greater crimes go free. He called attention to the rapidity with which the courts of England dispose of criminal cases.

It was announced before Secretary Taft commenced to speak that he would answer such questions as were put to him regarding the subject matter of his address, and when he had concluded many questions were asked. Mr. Taft laughed heartily at the irrelevancy of some of them.

"What brought about the present restraint of trade, 'my policies' or the domination of the trusts?" was the first question.

"I think I can safely assume," replied Mr. Taft, "that the questioner means by 'my policies' the policies of Theodore Roosevelt, and I answer that the policies of Theodore Roosevelt are responsible for a very great restraint in illegal trade, while the trusts are responsible for a very great restraint in legal trade."

The answer was heartily applauded and the next came:

"Do you believe in a large army and navy?"

"I believe in an army and a navy of sufficient size to lend dignity to any statement, claim, or assertion made by the United States in any conference it might have with the other powers of the world. We must show the world that we are in a position to enforce the opinions we believe to be right should it become necessary," was the answer.

"Would you, if elected President, favor woman suffrage?"

"When I was a schoolboy, my first paper was on 'Woman Suffrage,'" replied Mr. Taft. "I was a strong advocate of it at that time, and I have not changed my mind."

The answer brought forth loud cheers from the women in the audience.

"But," continued the Secretary, "I do not think that the time is yet ripe for giving suffrage to women. The time will come when a majority of the women of the United States desire and will use the ballot. Then it will be necessary to give it consideration. That time has not come."

The Secretary was then asked what efforts he would make if elected President in behalf of the unemployed of the country.

The Secretary answered feelingly:

"I would use every means at my command to bring to the knowledge of the unemployed places in the country where labor is in demand, and in this way the question would soon settle itself. The trouble is that the unemployed in one section do not know of the jobs they could easily get in another section."

Other questions the Secretary answered cheerfully, though he called attention to the fact that they had absolutely no bearing on the topic of the evening, but he was good-natured about it all through.

TAFT PRAISES RED CROSS.

And Says if Any One Comes Along with $100,000 It Won't Be Spurned.

A large number of members at a small annual subscription was the ideal set forth by Secretary Taft for the American Red Cross yesterday afternoon at a meeting of the New York State branch in the grand ballroom of the Waldorf. Russia and Japan, he said, had Red Cross societies with hundreds of thousands of members, but it is not characteristic of America to raise funds in this way.

"We should get more," he declared, "by asking for subscriptions of $500 than by seeking single dollars. There must be something sensational to arouse the American people. If we can only have a great big disaster we can raise millions, but we can't get a reserve fund.

"If we could arrange to burn down a city or cause some other great catastrophe we could get the money. But we can't. It's against the Constitution. We think we're so great a nation that we can create in half a day what a little reflection would show us should take six months, an organization.

"Still if any one has the impulse to give $100,000 to make up for this failing, we don't wish to stop him."

A letter of greeting from President Roosevelt was read. It ran:

"I wish to send my special word of greeting to the New York State branch of the Red Cross. This is an organization which should receive the heartiest support of every American. We should not let our people lag behind in doing what is really a National duty."

Brief addresses were also made by Col. William Cary Sanger, President of the State branch; Lieut. Gov. Chanler, Gen. Horace Porter, and Cleveland H. Dodge, representing the Chamber of Commerce. The ballroom was crowded with a representative audience, many of whom joined the society.

It was announced that $5,000 had been appropriated by the Sage Foundation Fund to consider the methods in which the Red Cross can co-operate with other organizations in times of emergency.

TAFT AT PSI UPSILON SMOKER.

He Makes a Little Speech to Society Brothers in Terrace Garden.

With cries of "Taft! Taft!" and the explosion of a bomb, the Secretary of War was welcomed at the smoker of the Psi Upsilon Club of New York last night at 10:30 o'clock, shortly after his speech before the Civic Forum.

"I've made four speeches within the last twenty-four hours," said Mr. Taft, "and I'm not prepared to talk very long on any subject now, although I know that you would like to hear me for some two hours and a half. But it is a great pleasure for me to be with you again, brothers of Psi Upsilon. I congratulate you on your New York club."

WOMEN NOMINATE TAFT.

Their Republican Association Acclaims Him During Speech by Judge Dike.

Judge Norman Dike of Brooklyn got a surprise yesterday during his address to the Woman's Republican Association of the State of New York at its annual luncheon at Delmonico's. Judge Dike had been speaking of the coming National Convention and the candidate to be nominated.

"You sit here as brides adorned for the wedding," he said, "waiting for the coming of the bridegroom, and who will it be?"

It was a pretty figure of speech not necessarily requiring an answer, but before the Judge had reached the interrogation point in his question there were cries from all over the room:

"Taft! Taft! Taft!" and peals of laughter at the speaker's nonplused expression at the sudden and emphatic decision upon an important question.

COLORADO FOR TAFT.

Harmonious Convention Instructs Its Delegates for Secretary.

PUEBLO, Col., April 28.—The Republican State Convention to-day selected delegates at large to the National Convention at Chicago. The entire State delegation was instructed to vote as a unit for Secretary Taft.

A slight hitch in the programme came in an attempt to obtain the indorsement of Clarence C. Hamlin of Colorado Springs for United States Senator, but Chairman William H. Dickson did not permit the Senatorial question to disturb the harmony of the convention. Gov. Henry A. Buchtel and United States Senator Simon Guggenheim were indorsed.

The platform, after commending President Roosevelt, says:

PENNSYLVANIA FAVORS KNOX.

Convention Chairman Expects Senator Will Have a Solid Delegation.

HARRISBURG, Penn., April 28.—The advance guard of the Knox boomers are here to stir things up for the Senator as Pennsylvania's favorite for the Presidential nomination. The Knox people have been promised a strong indorsement in the platform at the convention to-morrow.

Ex-Speaker Harry F. Walton of Philadelphia, who is to be the Chairman of the convention, says he expects that Pennsylvania will give Senator Knox a solid delegation with the strongest kind of an indorsement.

NO PLEDGES FROM VERMONT.

First and Second District Republican Delegates Are Uninstructed.

BURLINGTON, Vt., April 28.—With the exception of a resolution favoring the renomination of President Roosevelt, which was tabled, no mention was made of any Presidential candidate at the First Republican District Convention, held here to-day. Thad M. Chapman of Middlebury, and Roger W. Hurlburt of Hyde Park, will go unpledged as delegates to the Chicago Convention.

MONTPELIER, Vt., April 28.—No instructions were given the delegates and alternates to the Republican National Convention at Chicago, elected by the Second Vermont District Convention here today. N. G. Williams of Bellows Falls and George F. Campbell of Lyndon were chosen as delegates.

POLITICAL BIG-WIGS' DINNER.

Philadelphia and New York Patriots Enjoy Good Cheer at Knickerbocker.

The political big-wigs of Philadelphia and New York had a small but elaborate dinner on Monday night in the Hotel Knickerbocker as the guests of Max D. Steuer and Felix Isman. James McNichol, the Republican "boss" of Philadelphia, sat on one side of Mr. Steuer, the Tammany lawyer, and Patrick F. McGowan on the other.

The finest of Host Regan's gold plate and gold-embossed glassware was used, and, although it was modestly disclaimed that the dinner actually cost $125 a plate, it was said at the Knickerbocker last night that the "best in the market" was provided.

Among those present were Larry Mulligan, Sheriff Thomas Foley, "Little Tim" Sullivan, George Kraus, Ross Williams, Michael Fadden, Louis Leavitt, and John White of Philadelphia.

Stories were afloat yesterday that the dinner had been sensational in its appointment, and it was reported among other things that the finger bowls had been fashioned from Chinese calcedony, and that "Little Tim" Sullivan had drunk sparkling mineral water from a golden goblet.

Democrats Win in W. L. Ward's Home

For the first time in seventeen years the Democrats yesterday elected their ticket in Port Chester. This is the home of William L. Ward, the Republican National Committeeman from New York, and it has for years been merely a pocket borough for him. This year Addison Johnson, until recently Warden of Sing Sing Prison, ran for Village President, but was beaten by Franklin Pierce Perkins, Democrat.

Can't Have a New Subway Station.

Chairman Willcox of the Public Service Commission sent a letter yesterday to Charles Haas regarding the request of the West Side Taxpayers' Association for a subway station on the Lenox Avenue division at 104th Street. Mr. Willcox said that the undertaking would be too expensive and dangerous, owing to the great depth of the tracks at that point.

HUGHES CONFERENCE HERE ON THURSDAY

Woodruff Announces Meeting of Delegates, but Anti-Hughes Men Won't Be There.

PLANS FOR EXTRA SESSION

Raines in Doubt About the Fate of the Governor's Anti-Gambling Bills When Legislature Convenes.

Republican State Chairman Timothy L. Woodruff announced yesterday that he would attend the conference of delegates at large and district delegates from this State to the Republican National Convention, which has been called for next Thursday at the Hotel Astor by Gen. Stewart L. Woodford, head of the Hughes League and one of the delegates at large. Mr. Woodruff said Congressman Herbert Parsons also would come from Washington for the conference.

"Many of the district delegates will not attend the conference," said Mr. Woodruff. "Republican National Committeeman William L. Ward of Westchester will not be there, nor will William Barnes, Jr., of Albany, nor Francis Hendricks of Syracuse, nor Congressman J. Sloat Fassett of Elmira."

Thus, according to Mr. Woodruff's announcement, the men who practically dominate the Republican organizations in their respective sections of the State will be absent.

A prominent Republican said yesterday that, if any effort was being made to bind the district delegates hard and fast to the resolution indorsing Gov. Hughes, which was adopted at the Republican State Convention, several bolts from the conference would be likely to occur. A number of district delegations have not been instructed for Gov. Hughes, and at least one, the Westchester delegation, has been instructed for Taft. The resolution adopted at the State Convention, to the mind of Republican politicians not friendly to the Governor, is binding only on the four delegates at large.

Ex-State Superintendent of Insurance Francis Hendricks and Majority Leader John Raines of the Senate dropped in to see State Chairman Woodruff yesterday. Within the last few days Mr. Woodruff has also conferred with William Barnes, Jr., and J. Sloat Fassett.

Mr. Woodruff made no effort to conceal the fact that the extra session of the Legislature and the reforms Gov. Hughes will seek to have enacted, most important of which is his race-track measure, had been up for discussion.

Mr. Woodruff had nothing to say regarding his talks with Hendricks and Raines. Senator Raines said after the conference that no programme had been mapped out.

"Don't you believe the passage of the anti-gambling bills would prove a valuable asset to the Republican Party in the Fall campaign?" the Senator was asked.

"The enactment of moral legislation would be an asset to any party," said Senator Raines. "Yes"—this in reply to another question—"I will call a caucus of the Republicans in the Senate any time a majority of the Republican Senators ask me to do so."

ROTHERHAM WINS IN HUDSON.

Republican Primaries Held in Jersey Yesterday—Mixed Results.

Republican primaries to elect delegates to the Republican State Convention on Tuesday next were held throughout New Jersey yesterday.

The result in Hudson County was a sweeping victory for John Rotherham, the new leader. He defeated the combined forces of Col. Samuel D. Dickinson, the deposed leader, and ex-Mayor Fagan of Jersey City, in practically every district in the city, and in every city, town, or township in the county.

By carrying Harrison, Bayonne, and the Ninth, Tenth, Eleventh, and Twelfth Wards of Jersey City Rotherham practically made sure of the Ninth Congressional District. Faganites and Dickinsonites raised a cry of fraud, and it is almost certain that there will be some effort to contest the election.

Complete success for the regular Republican organization marked the primaries in Essex County as far as last night's returns show. A peculiar feature of the victory, however, is that while State Chairman Franklin Murphy has placed the Essex County organization on record as favoring Philander C. Knox's candidacy, the primaries showed a marked Taft tendency in that where the Colby New Idea forces made a fight in nearly every instance they were beaten by a "regular" Taft ticket put in at the eleventh hour.

This success for the Taft supporters is thought to mean that Essex's men will go to Trenton next Tuesday committed to no one, but ready to harmonize for Taft if his candidacy carries the majority with it.

Franklin Murphy's success in his home county has given him an opportunity to force Gov. Fort to come under the regular wing before next Tuesday, or to remain in the cold. In the latter event the big four delegation will be for Knox.

The delegates elected in Monmouth County are believed to be for Taft.

NUTMEG CLASH OVER BRYAN.

His Supporters' Resolution Will Be Opposed in Convention To-day.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., April 28.—Refusing to retire unless decisively beaten, the Bryan supporters among the Democrats here for the State Convention have introduced a resolution extolling the public life and services of the Nebraskan and pledging the Connecticut delegation at the Denver Convention to support him. The memorial was thrown into the convention here like a bombshell, destroying all hope of harmony unless it is withdrawn.

In filing it in committee the Bryan workers have upset the harmony plan, which provided that there should be no indorsement of Bryan or instruction of delegates for him provided men of pronounced Bryan sympathies were chosen to the Denver Convention. Definite action by the Resolutions Committee will not be taken till to-morrow.

A majority of the committee opposes instructions favoring Bryan, and will probably decline to report the resolutions to the convention for adoption to-morrow. If the Bryan members of the Resolutions Committee force a minority report on the convention floor for action, the fireworks will be set off and the Bryan side, urged by Alexander Troup, and the antis, headed by ex-Gov. Thomas Waller, will clash vigorously.

To-night the convention was called to order by Charles W. Comstock, Chairman of the State Central Committee, who is both, temporary and permanent presiding officer. The county caucuses followed. The indications at midnight were that Bryan will have eight of the delegates sent to Denver to six who are hostile to him.

JUDGE MALONE NAMED IN SUIT

Said to Have Agreed to Accept Fees in Suit Against City.

In a suit heard yesterday before Supreme Court Justice Burr, in Brooklyn, for the recovery of certain legal fees, it was alleged that Judge James T. Malone of General Sessions, Manhattan, had, while acting as Assistant Corporation Counsel, made a contract with Thomas P. Burke, a lawyer of Queens, now dead, whereby Mr. Malone was to receive a part of the fees obtained by Burke in certain proceedings against the city.

Mr. Malone appeared as the legal representative of the city in the proceedings, which were instituted by Burke on behalf of sixty-three members of the Long Island City Fire Department.

In reorganizing the Fire Department of New York the then Commissioner John J. Scannell dismissed the sixty-three members of the Long Island City Department and replaced them with men from the civil service list. Burke was retained by the men to obtain their reinstatement. His fee, it was agreed, was to be the salaries of all the sixty-three firemen for the year 1899, which amounted in the aggregate to about $78,000.

According to the affidavits presented to the court, Burke, to facilitate the reinstatement of the firemen, agreed with Philip J. Coffey, Labor Clerk in the Civil Service Department, and with James T. Malone that in the event of victory he would give to them each one-third of his fee. The suits were brought, and Judge Malone defended them and lost.

Before his death Burke, it is alleged, made a memorandum showing that there was due to Coffey and Malone about $27,000 each, but the fees had not been collected, and the reinstated firemen attempted to repudiate the contract with Burke. Miss Mary C. Burke, sister of the dead lawyer and his executrix, began suit for the recovery of the fees and won it.

Judge Malone presented an affidavit renouncing his claim to a share in the fees. In this affidavit Judge Malone declared that Miss Burke owed him nothing, either as executrix or personally. This affidavit, however, has disappeared from the files of the court.

Justice Burr decided yesterday that Coffey was not entitled to any part of the fees. In addition, he imposed $1,400 costs on him. The decision was made on the ground that Coffey, while a city employe, could not lawfully contract to receive a share of the fruits of a suit against the city.

GAS KILLS SIX ITALIANS.

Coroner Calls for Action Against the Lodging House Owner.

Six Italians, fearing they might be robbed, nailed themselves in a small room in Frank's lodging house at 14 Greenwich Street on Monday night, and were found dead there yesterday afternoon when the owners broke down the door. The gas jet was turned on full and the room was heavy with the deadly fumes. By what accident the gas was turned on was not discovered.

On the same floor on which the dead men lay and on the one directly below slept sixty-six other Italians, all miners, on Monday night, some of them four in a bed and some on the floor.

Coroner Harburger, after inspecting the quarters, said he would call the attention of the Board of Health to the place, as it was one of the most unsanitary he had ever seen.

The dead men, who were identified several hours after their bodies were found, were Antonio Molla, Angelo Giallombardo, and Giuseppe Tudisco of Westerly, R. I.; Antonio Renna, Ignatzio Glaviano, and Salvatore Giardinelli of St. Louis.

With several hundred other Italians, they came here last Friday, expecting to sail the following day on the steamship Florida of the Italian Lloyd's Line for their old home in Naples. Most of the men were miners from the coal fields of Pennsylvania. There were too many to go on the Florida, so, when the steamer sailed 200 had to be left behind. Those left were told by the steamship agents to wait until to-day and sail on the steamship North America from Pier 34. They were instructed to go to Frank's lodging house, a three-story structure in Greenwich Street, near Bowling Green. The steamship company agreed, it is said, to pay 50 cents a day for the board and lodging of the men until the North America sailed.

TARIFF LEAGUE CONVICTED.

It Is Found Guilty of Criminally Libeling an Importing House.

The American Protective Tariff League, which has been on trial as a corporation for eight days in the Court of General Sessions on an indictment for criminal libel found on the complaint of officials of the George Borgfeldt Company, importers of glass and crockery, was convicted at 11 o'clock last night before Judge Swann. The indictment was based on an article which appeared in 1905 in The American Economist, a publication of the Tariff League.

The article, which was written by Wilbur F. Wakeman, Secretary and Treasurer of the league, stated that "the house of Borgfeldt has succeeded in controlling, through manipulation, threats, and intimidations, not to speak of other methods, the Consular Service, the entry division of the Customs House, the special agents abroad, and as clearly as may be, Lyman J. Gage, Secretary of the Treasury."

PAY-AS-YOU-GO SUBWAYS.

Borough Representatives Organize to Push the Building Plan.

Five committees from the five boroughs of the city, which were formed originally to further the "pay-as-you-go" plan for building subways, got together in the Manhattan Hotel last night and formed a permanent organization in the interest of harmony between the boroughs in the matter of agitating for subways. The meeting was not altogether harmonious.

After a lot of sharp discussion, the organization decided to call itself the United Boroughs Transit Association of the City of New York. Calvin Tomkins was elected President, Elwin S. Piper, Vice President, John W. Paris Secretary, Marcus M. Marks Treasurer, and Joseph Caccavajo consulting engineer. Mr. Caccavajo has mapped out a little matter of 150 miles of new subways, and the purpose of the new organization is to further the building of this system of new transit lines.

MURPHY-McCLELLAN LUNCH.

Consequent Rejoicing in the Wigwam Over Renewal of Cordiality.

It was learned last night that Mayor McClellan and Tammany Leader Charles F. Murphy had had luncheon together at the Hardware Club.

As Mr. Murphy is not a member of the club and the Mayor is, the few faithful about the Wigwam concluded that the Tammany leader attended as the Mayor's guest and rejoiced in this new evidence of a return of the cordial relations which once existed between the Mayor and Mr. Murphy.

Alabama Delegates for Taft.

HAMILTON HOLT REJECTED IT

Solitary Exception, a Socialist, Says It Is a Question for the Individual—And So Say the Negroes.

With a single exception the white members of the Cosmopolitan Society who attended the dinner in Pack's restaurant, 140 Fulton Street, on Monday night, at which whites and negroes of both sexes ate side by side, expressed themselves yesterday as opposed to mixed marriages as a solution of the race problem, although they saw nothing extraordinary in the meeting of the educated of the two races at a social gathering. All agreed that reports of the speeches purporting to make Hamilton Holt, managing editor of The Independent, declare in favor of mixed marriages, were utterly erroneous. Mr. Holt, while he mentioned intermarriage in his speech as one of the four ways suggested of dealing with the problem, utterly rejected it, declaring that education, bringing about in due time the respect of one race for the other, was the only solution possible.

Yesterday the sole white diner who did not outspokenly declare against intermarriage was André Tridon, a Frenchman connected with Wilshire's Magazine, and Treasurer of the society.

"Marriage," said he, "is a thing that in each given case concerns largely and almost solely the two persons involved. I would by no means frown upon a marriage between a colored woman or man and a member of a white race. I think that if such a marriage were to be contracted by two members of the club that all of the other members of the society would go to the wedding. But no such marriages have taken place in our society.

Misrepresentation of the Dinner.

"The dinner of the Cosmopolitan Club was not, as represented in certain newspapers, a sort of fast affair at which white men entertained colored girls. The presence at the dinner of men like Hamilton Holt shows that. The white membership of the society comprises several writers who have made a study of the race problem and in that way have been brought into contact with colored men and women prominent in art or professional and business life. Rabbi Silverman has accepted an invitation to speak at our next meeting. The Secretary, Dr. O. M. Waller, is a graduate of Oxford University, England."

Miss Mary White Ovington, daughter of Theodore T. Ovington, a wealthy merchant of 314 Fifth Avenue, who was one of the white women at the dinner, said that there had been nothing out of the ordinary there. She saw no harm in negroes and educated whites dining together. But she cretainly did not believe in intermarriage.

"Our meeting together last night," said she, "was so unimportant a thing that I gave no thought to it. Nor did the other white people who were present. Far too much has been done for the negro without our knowing what the best people of the colored race want done. So from the very beginning of my work for the negro I have consulted with colored men and women who know the needs of their race. I do not believe in the marriage of blacks and whites. But I see no reason why white people should not meet cultured colored men and women on terms of equality."

Hamilton Holt himself complained bitterly yesterday that his speech had been grossly misrepresented in certain newspapers.

"I said in my speech," declared Mr. Holt, "that there were four ways of dealing with the race problem. Those ways were extermination, deportation, assimilation and education. The first two, I remarked, were impossible. I said that intermarriage, if it were between white men and colored women and not between colored men and white women, would bleach the race, but I rejected this as a proper solution. I then laid stress upon the education of the negro race as the best means of dealing with the problem."

Oswald G. Villard, grandson of William Lloyd Garrison, who was present at the dinner as an invited guest and not as a member of the society, made a speech, but did not advocate intermarriage any more than did Mr. Holt.

"Many of the newspaper accounts of the dinner are malicious and false," said Mr. Villard last night. "The subject of intermarriage was not discussed by any of the speakers save by one in passing, and he declared it to be impossible. The object of the meeting was merely for the purpose of exchanging ideas on how best to help forward the colored people."

Mr. Peters Not Disgusted.

The Rev. Madison C. Peters, who had been represented as having left the dinner when he discovered its character, said yesterday that he had done nothing of the sort.

"I accepted an invitation to speak there," said he, "but as I am not in the habit of eating at the dinners at which I speak I knew nothing of the seating arrangements which mingled whites and blacks. I went there early and explained that I could not remain to talk, as I had an engagement uptown which would not permit of my remaining at the dinner until it was time to speak.

"I did not leave because I did not wish to speak. Had I remained there I would have spoken, but I certainly would not have advocated intermarriage. Ordinarily I do not believe in meetings of this kind, which are especially arranged for, but dining with negroes is nothing new to me. In Philadelphia at our conferences colored clergymen would come and would sit at table with whites and be waited upon by white women. It is, however, worthy of note that America is the only country on the globe where to-day blacks and whites eating together would make a sensation. I am against race prejudice because it is against the Sermon on the Mount and the best policy of this country. The race problem will not be solved by the extremists of either wing."

Negro Diners' View of It.

But, however, the majority of the whites at the dinner may look upon the subject of intermarriage, there are no two opinions about it among the negroes who attended. Dr. Owen M. Waller, secretary of the society, is a colored physician at 762 Herkimer Street, Brooklyn. Dr. Waller visits his patients in a small automobile runabout. Fully half of his practice, he says, is among white people.

"It is indeed strange," he said yesterday, "that a colored man cannot be present at a social function without there being a lot of talk. Our society is not by any means a new one. It was organized two years ago, and has been meeting at the homes of members in that time. Monday night's dinner was our first, but there will be others. The best of white people were there, and the best of colored.

"There was Miss N. Lyons, Vice Principal of Public School 83, and also these colored clergymen, all of whom are Episcopal clergymen in New York: The Rev. George F. Miller, the Rev. H. C. Bishop, the Rev. E. W. Daniel, and the Rev. N. P. Boyd.

"We believe in intermarriage where such intermarriage is desired. It is a matter which concerns the individual. We want to have the colored man treated as an individual without reference to his color.

"Some of the newspaper accounts of the dinner were badly garbled. A colored woman of wealth, who has come North to educate her children outside of a Southern environment—a woman who looks like a Spanish woman, or an Indian—a beautiful woman, was described as a negress."

George F. Miller a colored clergyman, of 121 North Oxford Street, Brooklyn, who was at the dinner, said that he believed in mixed marriages.

At Peck's restaurant, 140 Nassau Street, where the dinner was held, it was said yesterday that the management had had no idea that negroes were to be present until half an hour before the dinner began.

DERAILED EXPRESS BLOCKS THE SUBWAY

Train Jumps Track at Worth Street Curve and Miles of Stalled Cars Pile Up.

SYSTEM ALL OUT OF KILTER

Passengers Held Up Long in Tunnel and Stations Jammed for Several Hours.

The derailing of a southbound Broadway express on the Worth Street curve at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon caused one of the worst Subway blockades that has occurred since the road was opened. Southbound traffic was entirely stopped for an hour and a half, and for many hours longer those who sought to reach their destinations by the Subway had trouble in doing so. The road was not running normally again three hours after the accident.

In the rush hour, before the trains, both north and south bound, were able to get back on anything like their regular schedule, the crowds that jammed all the platforms from Seventy-second Street to the Battery, were unprecedented. Men's tempers and women's millinery suffered alike if either attempted to enter or leave a train.

The trouble started three minutes before 3 o'clock. An eight-car express which had left Dyckman Street at 2:23, and was not very crowded, jumped the track just below the Worth Street Station. The gear on the rear car of the train broke on the pitch of the curve, throwing both trucks off the rails. The curve is one of the sharpest in the system, and is always taken at low speed. Consequently Motorman Googins had no difficulty in stopping the train before much happened.

Passengers Shaken About.

There was a good deal of jarring and bumping, and the passengers were considerably excited. No one was hurt, however, and as soon as the speed of the train had been checked Conductor Fitzgerald saw to getting the passengers off to the platform. The south-bound local was flagged, and every one was safely conducted across the tracks to the downtown Worth Street Station.

As soon as possible all the express station guards were notified to shout "No express trains running!" but at Grand Central and Fourteenth Street this caused all kinds of trouble. The downtown expresses were ordered switched to the local track, and passengers would enter them at the express stations and get carried by the local station at which they wished to get off, only to be stalled in the tunnel. On one train of this kind which left Fourteenth Street at a little after 3 o'clock a number of shoppers were carried by Astor Place at an aggravatingly slow pace, only to be held up forty feet beyond the station. The train was well filled, and when the wait had lengthened into fifteen minutes several of the men commenced to get into a bad humor.

The derailed train was got back on the track at 4:30 o'clock, and crawled down to the Brooklyn Bridge station. Then things commenced to loosen up a bit, but it was slow traveling until the long line of stalled southbound trains was untangled. At 5 o'clock it took ten minutes, and sometimes twenty, to go from one local station to the next. Many of the passengers gave it up anad left the train at the next station after they had entered it, but others stuck it out sturdily.

Uptown Rush Causes Jam.

When the downtown expresses got running again commuters who wanted to catch the Jersey trains or get to Brooklyn, had a better time of it, but they still had their vicissitudes, the trains running one minute at top speed and then perhaps waiting for ten.

But more trouble began when the uptown rush from the financial and department store districts got under way. Every train was packed to the doors. Men lost their hats and tempers, and many women were frightened in the crush to get on and off the trains. The extra force of station guards and "greycoats" that had been called out by the block, seemed powerless, and could only let the crowd swing and sway to its own salvation.

It was 8 o'clock before things really righted themselves.

The hearing before the Public Service Commission on the question of putting side doors in Subway cars was adjourned suddenly when reports of the accident reached the board room. Before the adjournment President E. P. Bryan of the Interborough, dissenting from the views of Bion J. Arnold, the commission's expert, who says that side doors would be an advantage, informed the commission that experience had demonstrated it to be impossible to "drive" the New York public into maintaining a circulatory movement between the doors, which Mr. Arnold said was essential.

Mr. Bryan said that such cars might be a success in Boston and other places, but that here the public would insist on standing near the doors and blocking both entrances and exits if they could not find seats. He regarded this as a serious objection to the side doors.

FIREMEN PAY BRIBES?

Commissioners of Accounts Try to Show Transfers Were Purchaseable.

The inquiry into the Fire Department management was continued yesterday before the Commissioners of Accounts, much time being spent in an effort to get evidence that firemen in the department had paid for transfers.

James D. Clifford, a former fire Captain, now President of the Firemen's Mutual Benevolent Association, was the chief witness. It appeared from the questions that prior to Commissioner Hayes's appointment the witness had said he could tell of men paying for transfers from one company to another. Yesterday he could not remember having said anything of the kind, and did not know of any money having passed in such a transaction.

A fireman named Quinn asserted that a transfer had been offered to him for $25, but he said he did not pay the money. The offer, he said, came from Emanuel Berge, a salesman.

Ex-Fire Commissioner Thomas Sturgis told the Commissioners what he considered to be the evils of the special fire-alarm telegraph system and of his efforts during Mayor Low's term to curtail the business of the Manhattan Fire Alarm Company, which, he asserted, was using improper methods to obtain customers. William S. Allen, President of this company, said he had never heard of money having been offered to Commissioner Sturgis to "let up."

Commissioner Mitchel intimated that he would recommend the adoption of one of three courses with regard to the company: Either the city should purchase the plant, it should pay for a franchise, or be taxed on its net earnings of about $100,000.

OUR SECOND PLACE AMONG NAVIES SURE

Programme of Two Battleships Each Year Exceeds the German Plan.

THE WHITE HOUSE PLEASED

Immediate Appropriation Carried for Building of Two Provided For at This Session.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 28.—There is general jubilation to-day in the camp of those Senators who fought for the four-battleship programme, and who, although unable to force through such an increase, hold that it was owing to their efforts that the two battleships a year announcement was made.

In addition they compelled immediate appropriation for the two carried in the present Naval bill, something that has never been done in the past in times of peace.

There is satisfaction also at the other end of the avenue from the Capitol. The White House will be content with the outcome of the fight. The Navy Department, too, is satisfied, although there are some naval officers who shake their heads dubiously and question the ability of the Senate leaders to carry out their promise.

In naval circles to-day considerable comment was evoked over the respective strength of the United States and German Navies, in view of the fixed programmes now adopted by both countries. The question was raised that possibly the German strength on the sea might displace the American sea power in rank, once the programmes had been completed.

This, however, is found to be incorrect. At the present time the United States has twenty-six effective first-class battleships, three marked "obsolescent" by foreign experts, four building, and two authorized by the bill that passed the Senate yesterday. This fleet totals 406,146 tons, and is heavier in armament and greater in speed than the German ships.

In addition, this country has fifteen powerful armored cruisers, the tonnage of which is 186,545.

Germany at present possesses twenty-four efficient battleships, four put down as obsolescent, and five ships building. The twenty-eight vessels are of 359,566 tonnage. It also counts in its navy ten armored cruisers, with a tonnage of 113,528.

The German naval programme, so far as it can be learned by this Government, contemplates the construction of seventeen battleships between now and 1917. In that time, counting those ships authorized this year, the United States will have added twenty great ships completed and under way. Neither programme has gone into details with regard to cruisers or the smaller craft of war.

Under the announced programme the United States will maintain second place among the navies of the world. The intention to do so ran all through the debate in the Senate. Incidentally, Chairman Foss resents the giving of credit to the President for forcing the new order of naval construction. He issued a formal statement to-day, calling attention to the fact that he advocated such a policy eight years ago upon becoming Chairman of the House Committee.

DENIAL FROM STORY.

Says Everything Belonging to Mme. Eames Was Removed from Italian House.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, April 28.—Charges that Julian Story had retained a large amount of the personal property of Mme. Emma Eames, who was recently divorced from him, are denied by Julian Story through his personal counsel, Thomas Leaming of this city. Mr. Leamin's statement is as follows:

"I do not know what may be claimed in the suit, because newspaper publicity was sought before service of the papers was made. In fact, they have not yet been received. Printed accounts of Mr. Story's having retained Mme. Eames's wearing apparel are absurd and untrue.

"On the contrary, every single article which had belonged to Mme. Eames was promptly cleared out of Mr. Story's country house in Italy and forwarded to her. He paid a large sum of money to her to dispose of a claim for improvements to his Paris residence. He owned this house long before his marriage.

"He further conceded to her various bric-à-brac and objects of art. I presume the action is to obtain delivery of these articles. They are being held in storage under advice of counsel until the return of a large quantity of valuable silver, some of which is the Story family silver or has other associations for Mr. Story. This was removed from a Paris bank without his knowledge."

Japanese Decoration for Gen. Congdon.

PATERSON, N. J., April 28.—Gen. Joseph W. Congdon, President of the Phoenix Silk Manufacturing Company of this city, and for many years President of the Silk Association of America, has been made Commander, a decoration of the third class by the Mikado of Japan. The order was given as a special token of the Emperor's good-will for Gen. Congdon.

SATURDAY.

Parade of Catholic laity, 1 P. M., reviewed by Cardinal Logue, Archbishop Farley, and visiting prelates. Grand Marshal, Major Gen. Thomas H. Barry, U. S. A. Reviewing stand, Cathedral.

The climax of the centennial celebration of the founding of the Roman Catholic Diocese of New York was reached yesterday when Cardinal Logue, the 114th successor of St. Patrick as Primate of Ireland, celebrated pontifical mass in the Cathedral, and the Pope, as the head of the Church, and President Roosevelt, as the head of the Nation, sent messages to the faithful of New York.

Archbishop Farley read the Pope's message at the conclusion of the pontifical mass. Here it is:

To Our Venerable Brother, John M. Farley, Archbishop of New York; Venerable Brother, Health and Apostolic Benediction:

The recurrence of the memorable events in the history of any diocese is at all times an occasion of joy, and the one hundredth anniversary of the foundation of the archdiocese of New York, whose development has been extraordinary, must call forth unusual rejoicing because the constant increase in the harvests of a hundred years bears ample testimony that the highest expectations have been abundantly fulfilled.

It seems proper, in view of these consoling results, that on the solemn centennial celebration of the See of New York we should renew our fervent supplication to God that He may vouchsafe to it a more plentiful supply of His celestial gifts and more copious resources to accomplish things even more laudable.

For these reasons and as a mark of special honor, it affords us great pleasure to tender to you and to your devoted flock our heartfelt congratulations. For assuredly you and your loyal brethren have rendered many distinguished services to the Church and the State, and we cherish the hope that these, our words, may be an incentive to persevere in that vigilance and zeal of which you have thus far given such signal proof, and thus bring glory to America and stand as an example for the entire world.

As an augury of heavenly favor and an evidence of our good will we most lovingly impart to you and to your faithful people the apostolic benediction.

Given at St. Peter's, Rome, the 9th day of April, 1908, in the fifth year of our Pontificiate. PIUS X., POPE.

President Roosevelt's Message.

This was the message read from President Roosevelt:

White House, Washington.

My Dear Archbishop: Let me take occasion on the celebration of the one hundredth anniversary of the Diocese of New York to extend to you my hearty congratulations and my earnest good wishes for the future of yourself and of your diocese. Sincerely yours,

THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

The reading of these messages of congratulation came at the end of a pontifical mass in the Cathedral, of which the celebrant was St. Patrick's successor, Cardinal Logue, and in which Cardinal Gibbons took part. Besides the two Cardinals, fifty Bishops, a hundred or more Monsignori, and several hundred priests gathered in the sanctuary for the solemn service. It was probably one of the most impressive ceremonies ever held outside of Rome.

At 9 o'clock the crowd began to gather. At 10 it began to clamor for admittance to the Cathedral, and Inspector Walsh began driving into the side streets thousands of men and women. Under Capt. McCullagh of the Traffic Squad, fifty mounted men kept Fifth Avenue's automobiles and other vehicles moving north and south.

At 10:30 o'clock the chimes of the Cathedral rang out "The Star-Spangled Banner," and from the archdiocesan mansion filed a long line of the Archbishops of the Church in America. From the sacristy came the purple-gowned Monsignori, and from the big red brick building of the Catholic College, at Fifty-first Street and Madison Avenue, poured a double line of priests, in black cassocks and white surplices.

The Bishops of the Archdiocese were garbed in white and gold vestments, with mitres of white and gold. The Archbishops, escorted by their deacons of honor, followed them. Ahead of the priests and prelates was a long line of altar and choir boys in crimson and purple cassocks. Finally came Cardinal Logue with his fifteen-foot train of vivid cardinal.

Cardinal Gibbons was not in the procession. As the preacher of the day, he remained in the Archbishop's house until the time came for him to ascend the pulpit stairs.

Before Cardinal Logue the thousands who were unable to get inside the cathedral knelt uncovered. The venerable successor of St. Patrick extended his right hand and made the sign of the cross to the kneeling throng as he muttered a prayer for them.

Throng in the Cathedral.

Inside of the cathedral a throng had gathered. Every available inch of space was filled long before the time for the solemn service to begin.

The procession entered the church to the Mendelssohn march of the priests from "Athele." About the great organ in the choir loft had been built a temporary structure for the orchestra of sixty pieces which took part in the service. At the wave of the director's baton they sounded the first notes of the Mendelssohn march. The great edifice was filled with the thunder of the drums and the heavy bass notes of the organ, while the five thousand in the cathedral turned toward the centre aisle to watch the procession of prelates.

It took the better part of an hour to bring the procession into the church. There was a long line of altar boys, then an escort of the laity in which Thomas F. Ryan and other prominent Catholics marched, delegations from the various religious orders of the Church, the diocesan clergy, the Monsignori, the Bishops, and the Archbishops, and finally the religious family of Archbishop Farley and Cardinal Logue.

Cardinal Logue was escorted to the throne of Archbishop Farley within the sanctuary, and there he robed himself with the rich vestments made for him by the Franciscan Sisters of Rome at a cost of two years of labor and $6,000 of material.

Cardinal Gibbons occupied the great golden throne especially constructed for him as the Prince of the Church in America.

Both Cardinals were attended by deacons of honor while behind the throne of Cardinal Logue stood Charles Astor Bristed, Papal Chamberlain. Before the altar were Mgr. John Edwards, assistant priest to the Cardinal celebrant of the mass; Mgrs. James H. McGean and Charles McCready, deacons of honor; Father John A. Kellner, deacon, and Father Richard O. Hughes, subdeacon.

Gathered about the altar were the Archbishops, Bishops, and Monsignori of the Catholic Church of America. Even the Greek Church was represented, and with the ecclesiasts was a Syrian priest, with his beretta shaped like a silk hat without a rim.

Cardinal Gibbons left his throne to occupy the pulpit, and behind him filed the prelates of the Church to their seats. With two pages holding his scarlet train, the Cardinal made his way to the pulpit. His text was taken from Isaiah. He said in part:

"The most impressive sermon ever preached in this church is delivered by the Cathedral itself. It is a sermon in marble. It preaches in silent but eloquent language to the immigrant daily arriving at your harbor.

"If the devout philosopher 'finds tongues in trees, books in running brooks, sermons in stones, and good in everything,' surely the Christian pilgrim, in casting his eyes around him in this church, will discover everywhere object lessons to quicken his faith, to strengthen his hope, and nourish his love for his God and Saviour.

"Let us imagine a foreigner coming today to New York, from Germany, Switzerland, or sunny Italy. As he walks through the streets of your city, he feels that he is in a strange land, a stranger to your country, to your institutions, and even to your language. But, when his eyes fall on this Cathedral, with its cross-crowned spires pointing to the heavens, he feels that he has discovered an oasis in the desert; he has found one familiar spot in a foreign land.

The Growth of the See.

"If we investigate the principal causes that have contributed to the growth and expansion of this metropolitan See, we must acknowledge that under God you are chiefly indebted for this result to the tide of immigrants that for the last century has steadily flowed to your harbor. They have come to your city from the British Isles, from the German and Austrian Empires, from France and Italy, and other portions of Catholic Europe.

"But this heterogeneous and unorganized mass of Christian worshippers would soon disintegrate under adverse circumstances, like a body without a spirit, and their faith would vanish into thin air, if they were not marshaled and co-ordinated, nourished, and sustained by the zeal and piety of a devoted and enlightened clergy.

"But of all the nations that have contributed to the upbuilding of the Church of Christ in the City of New York, you will all avow with gratitude, whatever may be your own ancestry, that the post of honor must be assigned to the children of everfaithful Ireland. They have borne the brunt of the battle.

"Whatever may have been the unhappy causes that have led to the expatriation of so many of Ireland's sons and daughters from their native soil, an overruling Providence has made their exile subservient to higher and holier purposes. I can safely say that there are few cities or towns in the United States where the Catholic religion has not been proclaimed by priests and sustained by laymen of Irish birth or descent.

What Immigration Has Done.

"When I contemplate this army of sturdy immigrants leaving their native shores of Europe and advancing toward your beautiful harbor; when I behold them assimilated with the native population, and becoming 'bone of our bone and flesh of our flesh'; when I see them contributing to the material wealth and prosperity of the country; above all, when I observe them enriching our Nation with the blessings of Christian faith and uniting with us in building up the walls of Jerusalem—when I survey this scene, the glorious vision of the Prophet Isaiah looms up before me: 'Arise, be enlightened, O Jerusalem, for thy light is come, and the glory of the Lord is risen upon thee. The Gentiles shall walk in thy light, and Kings in the brightness of thy rising. Lift up thine eyes round about and see: all these are gathered together, they are come to thee; thy sons shall come from afar, and thy daughters shall rise up at thy side. Then shalt thou see and abound, and thy heart shall wonder and be enlarged when the multitude of the sea shall be converted to thee, the strength of the Gentiles shall come to thee.'

"A word in conclusion to you, my brethren, who are the heirs of the faith of your fathers. It is your sacred mission to see to it that the glorious prophecy of Isaiah will be amply fulfilled, and that the twentieth century will emulate the century that has closed by the growth and expansion of the Church of Christ. This result you will accomplish by co-operating with your Bishops and clergy in promoting every good work undertaken in the cause of religion and humanity.

"Take an active, loyal, personal interest in all that concerns the temporal and spiritual welfare of your beloved country. No man should be a drone in the social beehive. No one should be an indifferent spectator of the social, economic, and political events occurring around him. As you all enjoy the protection of a strong and enlightened Government, so should each man have a share in sustaining the burden of the Commonwealth."

650 PRELATES AT BANQUET.

America Holds the Future of the Church, Declares Cardinal Logue.

Immediately following the pontificial mass in the Cathedral yesterday the 650 prelates sat at banquet in the large hall of the Cathedral College. They represented practically the entire Roman Catholic Church of America.

The banquet room was decorated with the Papal colors intertwined with the National colors. Archbishop Farley occupied the centre seat at the table of the speakers and distinguished guests. On his left was Cardinal Logue and on his right Cardinal Gibbons.

Cardinal Logue was greeted by the clerical banquetters with an old Irish air. He arose and bowed his thanks for the chorus. He was introduced by Mgr. McGean, and three cheers for "ould Ireland" were given as St. Patrick's successor rose to speak.

"I am here," he said, "under false pretences. Archbishop Farley had renown of me as a singer of the mass and he thought that I could speak as clearly."

The assembled clergy broke out in laughter, for the Cardinal is so weak of voice that his chanting of the mass was inaudible.

"I expected the Archbishop to compliment me on my singing, but he did not do so. He complimented Cardinal Gibbons on his sermon. My visit here has been of great interest to me. It has taught me the wonderful progress of Catholicism in America. I am an eyewitness of the greatest triumph of the Church, its triumph in America.

"In the old country we are getting, perhaps, old and decrepit. We may be dying out, but I am here to gather up some of the energy that is yours and take it back with me.

Future of the Church.

"The future of the Church is in America. We will always have the centre of its government in Rome, but the future of it is here. Some people might think that the form of the Church's government being monarchic would cause it to depend on monarchic forms of government. It delights me to see that in this Republic the Church flourishes. It delights me to find that Catholics are true to their Government here and are loyal to the Republic. It is a thing delightful to me to contemplate that the Church can so adapt itself. It can meet any government, it seems to me, so long as that government is based on justice and honesty."

Time and again Cardinal Gibbons was cheered and called on for a speech, but he responded to the cheers and the singing of "Maryland, My Maryland" only with bows. He was on the programme of speakers to respond to the toast, "Our Country," but he gave way to Archbishop Blenk of New Orleans, who spoke in his stead.

"No Prince of the Church," he said, "could go to a crowned head of Europe, and get the reception that I got from the President of this Republic. Pius X. is the American Pope, and next to him is Theodore Roosevelt."

The prelates arose and cheered the name of Roosevelt, while the Carmellites shouted:

"Viva Il Papa! Viva Roosevelt!"

"The President told me," said the New Orleans Archbishop, "that, in his opinion, the finest human being that walked the earth to-day was the true and loyal Catholic priest."

The banquet continued until nightfall, and then Pontifical vespers were celebrated in the Cathedral. Mgr. Diomede Falconio, Papal Delegate to the United States and Canada, was the celebrant. Archbishop Glennon of St. Louis was the preacher. He said in part:

"You have heard much of the recent encyclical of the Holy Father on Modernism, much adverse criticism on the title, the manner, the object of it. You have heard how it purposed stifling all mental activity, all spirit of inquiry, all further search for the truth; how it must produce atrophy of the spiritual sense.

"The truth is that the encyclical is first of all and above all a defense of the divinity of Christ, a defense made with all the more spirit because the denial in these latter days was heard in the home of His friends; in some instances even from those who, as His priests, had sworn to serve Him and proclaim that divinity unto all men.

"Interesting then, it is to ask: Can philosophy and philosophers save us? I think not. If philosophers and their teachings were competent to save a nation, then the civilization that gave to this world Plato, Socrates, and Aristotle is entitled to perpetuity, yet we know that Greece is now the living Greece no more. Its civilization is only a matter of history—it is only a ghost by the sands of the sea.

"And Rome, pagan Rome, that boasted its brave deeds and just laws, and magnificent empire, went down to death mumbling the sayings of Marcus Aurelius. Philosophy reads well, but it never yet has created a civilization nor saved a nation, and this civilization of ours, born at the foot of the cross, with the glow and glory of the resurrection across its face, may endure only by retaining, as the principle of its durability, that which gave it the first flush of life and has remained forever its inspiration, namely, the divinity that is in it through Christ the Divine, the Son of the Living God.

"His cross rose high above the legionaries, while fell the eagles of Rome, and with them the gods whom they worshipped. Christendom arose, gathering up the fragments that remained of ancient truth, and, grouping them with the Gospel, led the people out into the full light of Christian faith."

DEPOSITORS SEEK FUGITIVE BANKER

Angry Italians Hunt in Vain for the Man Who Has Their Savings.

Thrifty Father-in-Law Takes Over His Real Estate When He Sells at a Sacrifice.

After having deserted his bride of four weeks, and closed his little bank at 2,123 First Avenue, Eliseo Saggese, a young Italian, was being eagerly sought by a crowd of angry depositors all of yesterday and until late last night.

Several days ago Saggese left his usual haunts, and placed his brother, Gittano, in charge of his banking business. Yesterday morning when the first customers went to the bank to deposit or withdraw their money they found the doors of the bank closed. A notice in Italian on the front door told the story of another failure among the Italian banking institutions which dot the city.

The notice, which meant the loss of savings to many in the neighborhood, read:

"The owner of this bank, being unable to collect moneys due him, advises his customers that he has gone away, but will return in seven days and give them complete information as to their deposits, which are fully guaranteed."

This did not satisfy the angry depositors, and a search of the neighborhood was made for the missing banker, but not a trace of him could be found. They hunted in vain also for the brother, Gittano. One look inside the glass door of the bank told the story. The room was in utter confusion. Furniture and chairs were turned topsy turvy, while papers were strewn all over the floor and desks.

The departure of Saggese brought out a romance, but that did not serve to put the depositors in a good humor. Up to a month ago Saggese was paying quiet court to the daughter of Allessandrio Dellapaoli, a prosperous banker at 180 Mulberry Street. But the father-in-law-to-be would not give his consent to the marriage of the couple until Saggese had proved his worth. Despite this proviso they slipped quietly away and were married by an Alderman.

The civil ceremony having been performed, each returned home and nothing was said of the marriage to the father of the girl, but he found out what had happened and took his son-in-law to task, at the same time refusing to allow the marriage to go further through a performance of the religious ceremony of the Roman Catholic Church. He also kept his daughter closely confined to his home.

Then came the demands upon Saggese's bank for money by Italians who desired to return to their native shores. He was compelled to sell at a sacrifice such real estate as he had invested his deposits in. Dellapaoli did not mind making a paying investment, and bought much of this property from his son-in-law, but the proceeds were not enough, it is said, to meet the demands of the depositors, and Saggese took his departure.

"Dellapaoli will pay," said some of the depositors yesterday.

But Dellapaoli will not pay. He so informed a reporter for THE TIMES yesterday when asked about the disposition of his son-in-law's affairs.

"Do you know where he is?" asked the reporter.

"No, I do not. He did not tell me. I have not spoken to him for three weeks."

"Does his wife know where he is?"

"My daughter is not his wife. They were not married in church. She doesn't know anything about him."

It was said by friends of the missing banker that he is probably in debt to his depositors to the extent of $15,000, and that he could not have had more than a few hundred dollars with him when he went away.

CONEY EXPENSIVE FOR B. R. T.

President Winters Reports a Big Deficit Even at the 10-Cent Fare.

President Winter of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company said yesterday that a good many people had acquired an exaggerated idea of the importance of the Coney Island business to the transit companies serving the island. In view of the five-cent-fare bill now before Gov. Hughes, President Winter suggested that these figures might prove interesting:

"A statement prepared by the company's auditors, comparing the cost of operation per mile with the return from Coney Island business, shows that there was a large deficit at the end of last year. The gross earnings of the Coney Island business that year were $2,688,553, and the expenses of operating were $3,151,997, leaving a deficit of $463,443.

MANILA PAPER POOL MUST SHOW BOOKS

Judge Lacombe Gives Officials Two Days to Produce Them Before the Grand Jury.

GONE BEFORE INQUIRY

They Were Last in the Hands of John H. Parks, Paper Trust's Organizer, and He Is in Europe.

The Fibre and Manila Paper Manufacturers' Association, one of the branches of the Paper Trust, was brought to bay in the United States Circuit Court yesterday when it developed that the company's books and papers, called for by the Federal Grand Jury in its investigation of alleged violations of the Sherman anti-trust law, were missing, and were last in the possession of John H. Parks, who organized the paper pool.

Parks is now in Europe, but Judge Lacombe, brushing aside all excuses made by the counsel for the trust, ordered two officials of the trust who were arraigned before him to produce the books for Grand Jury inspection by Friday morning. They had been cited for contempt in declining to produce the books.

The absent Mr. Parks is the chief moving genius in the Manila Paper Trust. He fixed the prices, arranged the output among the various members, the distribution of profits, and shut down factories or opened them at will. His office was at 1 West Thirty-fourth Street, where the operations of the pool were conducted. So much in control was Mr. Parks that the trust arrangement became known as the "Parks Pooling Plan."

United States District Attorney Stimson made the move against the trust at the instance of the Grand Jury. The witnesses arraigned before Judge Lacombe on the Grand Jury's presentment were Dr. James E. Campbell, President of the Sulphite Pulp and Paper Company of Dexter, N. Y.; James A. Outterson, President of the De Grass Paper Company of Carthage, N. Y., and Louis F. Haupt, sales agent of the Munissing Paper Company of Munissing, Mich. Haupt is only an employe, and Judge Lacombe took no action in his case.

The books and papers called for, it appeared, were surrendered to Parks by the witnesses named a few months ago. Parks's secretary, whose name is Plumb, informed the Grand Jury that he knew nothing as to the whereabouts of the books and correspondence between the companies and the Fibre and Manila Paper Manufacturers' Association, considered necessary for the continuation of the investigation.

Methods of the Paper Pool.

When Dr. Campbell, Mr. Outterson, and Mr. Haupt were brought before Judge Lacombe, United States District Attorney Stimson explained that the witnesses were arraigned on a presentment by the Grand Jury. He stated that the Grand Jury has been engaged for several days investigating the manner in which the several wrapping paper companies included in the membership of the Fibre and Manila Paper Manufacturers' Association, organized by Parks, are conducting business. He said it was understood that the mills included in the association paid in the total amount of their production and received back 70 per cent. of the amount paid in, and in this allotment allowances were made to mills that had actually shut down in consideration of their remaining closed during the pleasure of the associated manufacturers.

Mr. Stimson said that the Grand Jury was anxious to get the minutes of the meetings of the association and its books showing the different monthly payments to members of the association, and statements and correspondence so as to determine if the association was conducting business in violation of the provisions of the Sherman law, by means of what was known as the "Parks pooling plan."

He said further that in some cases the back payments made to members of the association did not fully cover the actual earning capacity of the mills.

Dr. Campbell, according to Mr. Stimson, when called before the Grand Jury explained that the books and papers were no longer in his possession, and that a month or more ago he had sent them to Mr. Parks. This action, the witness admitted, was taken without consulting any of the Directors.

At this point Mr. Stimson called Judge Lacombe's attention to the answer shown on the minutes of the Grand Jury, in which Dr. Campbell said he had sent the papers to Mr. Parks by advice of counsel, who suggested that in view of the agitation regarding the production of paper, this seemed the proper thing to do. Asked who was counsel for the Fibre and Manila Paper Manufacturers' Association, Dr. Campbell mentioned Samuel Untermyer.

"Were these statements, papers, and correspondence the property of the company?" asked Judge Lacombe.

"Yes," answered Mr. Stimson, who said they included carbon copies of letters between the Sulphite Paper Company and Parks.

"Do you allege the spoliation of any books?"

"No spoliation."

Stating the case of Mr. Outterson, Mr. Stimson said that the President of the De Grass Company had taken upon himself the entire responsibility of sending to Parks the papers the Grand Jury is so anxious to locate. The papers were demanded last Thursday, and when the witnesses appeared next day they reported that as Mr. Parks is in Europe they were unable to get any tidings as to the whereabouts of the documents. They said they had gone to Mr. Parks's office in West Thirty-fourth Street, and his secretary, Mr. Plumb, had been unable to locate the papers. They were then informed, explained Mr. Stimson, that this was not a valid or sufficient excuse, and the witnesses were directed to have the papers with them when they appeared for further examination. Yesterday, upon appearing, Messrs. Campbell and Outterson, Mr. Stimson said, declared that they have been unable to obtain the papers sought for, and further explained that they had consulted counsel and had been informed that they were under no obligation to get back the papers which they had voluntarily returned to Mr. Parks.

It was this refusal and reply that precipitated the clash with the Grand Jury, and then it was decided to present the witnesses to Judge Lacombe for possible punishment for contempt.

Trust's Defense Lame, Court Says.

Sustaining Mr. Stimson's contention that the witnesses had not made sufficient efforts to recover the papers needed by the Grand Jury, Judge Lacombe said:

"The court hasn't any doubt at all that if the production of the papers in the council chamber of the corporation itself was going to enable them to immediately largely advance their income, or meant a good deal of money to them, unless those papers have been carried to Europe the company could get them inside of forty-eight hours, (and not a particle of doubt,) and until the court sees evidence to show that the officers of this corporation have used the same exertions to get these papers to put before the Grand Jury that they would exert to get the papers if the decision meant $50,000 or $60,000 in the treasury of their company, the court is inclined to think that they have not exhausted everything that is open."

Judge Lacombe also said that it seemed to him a curious sequence that the papers had been returned to Parks by the three men about the same time, and their action tended to indicate that they feared trouble.

Mr. Untermyer on behalf of the recalcitrant witnesses denied that a combination existed, and declared that the papers called for by the Grand Jury were returned to Mr. Parks three or four months ago, long before the agitation regarding pulp and white paper arose, and this action was voluntary on the part of the witnesses.

Judge Lacombe then announced that he would give Dr. Campbell and Mr. Outterson until Friday morning to find the papers for the Grand Jury. As Haupt was but a sales agent and had returned the papers by order of President Everard, President of the Fibre and Manila Paper Manufacturers' Association, Judge Lacombe said he would make no ruling in his case.

LEADERS SNEER AT MESSAGE.

Admit Little Chance for the Measures President Advocates.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 28.—At both ends of the Capitol to-day it was made plain that no special acceleration of legislation would result from the special message sent in late yesterday afternoon by President Roosevelt and read in both houses this morning. It was also declared that Mr. Roosevelt takes an extremely roseate view of the legislation he says "there is good ground to hope for." The fact is that, as a man high in Administration circles put it, "they are not disposed at the Capitol to pay much attention to a waning star."

But there is renewed intimation in Administration circles that there will be trouble for Congress if something substantial is not done at this session in carrying out the President's recommendations. It was explained to-day that the message was sent to Congress because of a breach of faith at the Capitol in failing to live up to the agreement made by the President with Representative Watson, the Republican whip of the House, regarding the legislative programme for the remainder of the session.

In that agreement Mr. Roosevelt consented to an adjournment about the middle of May, on consideration of the promise of Watson, representing the Senate and House leaders, that certain of the President's favored measures should be put through. Since that agreement was reached nothing has been done by either house toward carrying it out.

The leaders and their friends speak of the message in most uncomplimentary terms, and sneer at its hopeful expression regarding expected legislation. The first thing the President said there was good ground to hope for was legislation providing for recompensing all employes who suffer injury in the public service. Both Senate and House leaders hoot at the proposition.

Another item in the hopeful category is financial legislation. As to that there is agreement at each end of the Capitol that something will be done.

Just why the injunction bill has no chance there is no explanation from either Senate or House leaders. This is declared to be purely a political proposition aimed at putting the Republicans in a better position with organized labor, and it is urged by Administration men that no matter who is the nominee of the Chicago Convention he will have to meet the labor situation. This bill, they argue, would help him, whoever he may be. But it won't unless the President develops a greater power of persuasion than his message of yesterday displayed.

BLOCKS RAILROAD RELIEF.

Suspension of Commodity Clause of Rate Law Held Up in Senate.

WASHINGTON, April 28.—The commodity clause of the Railroad Rate bill will go into effect within three days (May 1) unless a resolution is passed suspending its operation. Should it take effect, the railroads will be subject to a heavy fine for every carload of freight they haul in inter-State commerce which is owned or produced wholly or in part by the railroad carrying it. It applies particularly to coal roads, but excepts lumber railroads.

Senator Culberson to-day objected to the consideration of a resolution giving such relief to the railroads, and announced that he would continue to object until a programme for the relief of the shipper was adopted.

The resolution will come up again to-morrow.

FLOTILLA AT SAN DIEGO.

Torpedo Boats Were Delayed by the Loss of a Missile.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., April 28.—The second Atlantic torpedo boat flotilla, Lieut. Commander S. I. Cone, which had come from Hampton Roads, arrived here early this morning from Magdalena Bay. It had been expected here since last Thursday.

Commander Cone explained that during target practice the Hull lost a torpedo, the missile having been given a wrong direction as it left the tube. On the way from Magdalena the boats were delayed by foggy weather, compelling cautious speed.

MELBOURNE, Australia, April 28.—The Commonwealth Government has been in consultation with the Governments of Victoria and New South Wales with regard to the entertainment of the American fleet during its visit here. It is understood that more than $500,000 will be devoted to this purpose.

PAPER TRUST POOL GRIPS INDEPENDENTS

Evidence of a Combine to Control the Trade Submitted to House Committee.

UNLIMITED PULP SUPPLY

Spruce in Quebec Alone, According to Testimony, to Last 200 Years—Canadian Mills in Deal, Too.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 28.—That a far-reaching pooling agreement exists among the paper manufacturers in this country and that many paper mills have been closed down indefinitely at the instance of this pool in order to prevent competition and to force up the price by an artificial curtailment of the supply, was the chief fact brought out to-day before the House committee investigating the paper industry by John Norris of THE NEW YORK TIMES.

Mr. Norris had statements from a number of newspapers all over the country in substantiation of his evidence. He said that not only is there a complete understanding among the various manufacturing interests enabling them to fix exactly the production and sale of the manufactured product, but that the manufacturers have been in the habit of meeting annually to arrange harmoniously the details of their alliance.

This understanding or pool, said Mr. Norris, is not limited to the United States. He submitted evidence to show that the Canadian mills also are under the domination of the American manufacturers, or are at least members of the combination. A number of the Canadian mills, he said, had been closed down under the same circumstances that had been created for shortening the supply of print paper in this country.

Mr. Norris said that he was confident that there is no truth in the scare that is started from time to time to the effect that the great use of wood for the manufacture of paper will ultimately deplete the forests in this continent. He said that in the Province of Quebec there are 745,000,000 cords of wood-pulp timber, "enough to supply the United States for 200 years if there was not a particle of reproduction in any other Canadian forest."

In substantiation of his arguments that a comprehensive pool controls the paper output of this country, he submitted answers from newspapers showing that agents had stated that the Wisconsin mills had sold to the International Company; that the output of the Booth Mill in Canada is controlled by Allen McEnnery & Co., Chicago; that the Carthage, N. Y., Mill (West End) is controlled by the Central Ohio Paper Company, and that the J. W. Butler Paper Company had a special agreement in New York that the excess of the St. Croix Company is taken by the International Company; that the International Company is buying from the St. Regis; that the Treasurer or some other officer of the International Company had bought a block of Finch, Pruyn & Co. stock; that the Oswego Falls Pulp and Paper Company, supposed to be independent, attended meetings of the manufacturers in New York, and that the Finch interest in the Finch-Pruyn Company had been acquired by the International Company.

There was a sharp exchange of words between Chairman Mann and Mr. Norris when the bell rang at 12 o'clock to summon the members of the committee over to the House of Representatives to answer a roll call demanded by the Democratic filibuster.

"That bell," said Mr. Mann, "means that your self-appointed prophet and special ally, John Sharp Williams, has demanded that we stop here, and that he is doing this to hasten your work before this committee."

"If our professed friends in the majority," retorted Mr. Norris, "would do what they avow themselves anxious to do, this proposition would have been passed four weeks ago and no roll call would now be necessary."

The Shutting Down of Mills.

Mr. Norris began by submitting further evidence regarding the shutting down of mills. Particular attention was called by him to the statement of the Hamilton, Ohio, Daily Republican-News that it was claimed the Niagara Falls mills were closed down because of "no water." Mr. Norris ridiculed the idea of the claim of no water at Niagara Falls.

Turning his attention to the subject of dates of meetings of paper manufacturers to consider prices, Mr. Norris placed in evidence statements by many newspapers, showing that such meetings had been held. Among the papers quoted was The Ottawa (Canada) Citizen, which stated that the Canadian mills, "came to some agreement last June," and The Wilkesbarre (Penn.) Leader, which had learned that Sept. 4, 1907, was fixed on as a date for raising the price.

According to further statements by publishers, as submitted by Mr. Norris, in a majority of instances they could get paper in sufficient quantities when they wanted it. Not a few, however, had their supply curtailed.

At the afternoon session Mr. Norris said that the selling agents of paper companies who used to visit a town to see the newspaper publisher had ceased their calls since a short period before the several inquiries of the publishers had been made.

Manufacturers "Divide" Business.

In reply to a question by Mr. Stafford, Mr. Norris declared it to be the contention of the publishers that customers have been apportioned to particular mills. The practice, he declared, had been almost uniform. Jobbers had told the publishers, he said, that their prices were governed by uniform raises by the mills, and that advices from one company of a change would be followed in twenty-four hours by similar advices from other mills.

For the purpose of combatting the claim of the paper makers that the high price of paper was due in part to increased freight rates, Mr. Norris read a statement from the Inter-State Commerce Commission, dated Jan. 3, 1908, in response to an inquiry from the publishers showing that with one or two exceptions the rates had stood for a number of years.

The only increase in freight rates he knew of other than the one or two cases mentioned my the Inter-State Commerce Commission, said Mr. Norris, was that which occurred when W. B. Dillon, Vice President of the Great Northern Paper Company, "conspired with a shipper to raise the rate from the Great Northern Mills to Philadelphia from 17 cents to 21 cents." This overcharge, he declared, had continued for a period of years up to March, 1905.

VREELAND HAS NEW BILL.

Will Try to Force Committee to Consider Changes in Currency Measure.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 28.—Following the assurance to-day from Chairman Fowler that the House Banking and Currency Committee would refuse to reconsider the Vreeland bill at the meeting to-morrow, Mr. Vreeland to-morrow will try to force the committee to consider something by bringing up what purports to be an entirely new proposition.

There are, in fact, two new things about the latest edition of the Vreeland measure. One is that the bond secured issue—the last remnant of the original Aldrich bill—is dropped altogether. The other is that the emergency issue to be guaranteed by the Government on the warranty of an association of ten National banks will be secured after the fashion of the Fowler provision by a 5 per cent. gold redemption fund, with a possible reinforcement later to be added of a reserve in lawful money to be retained in the vaults of the particular bank issuing the emergency currency.

LILLEY'S CHARGE DENIED.

Builder of Octopus Thinks Its Cost Will Exceed Contract Price.

WASHINGTON, April 28.—One of the main charges of Representative George L. Lilley of Connecticut against the Electric Boat Company—namely, that that company has received excessive profits on its contracts with the United States Government, was flatly denied to-day by Admiral Francis T. Bowles, ex-Chief of the Bureau of Construction of the Navy Department, and now President of the Fore River Shipbuilding Company, which is building the boats for the Electric Company.

Admiral Bowles stated that the Octopus, the last submarine boat built for the Government, but which has not yet been accepted, will cost the Electric Boat Company for construction alone $235,000. This figure does not include royalties or the general expenses of the Electric Company, and he thought that the total cost of the boat would exceed the contract price of $250,000.

Representative Arthur L. Bates of Pennsylvania testified that Mr. Lilley showed him a copy of his resolution of inquiry the day before he introduced it, and that after its introduction and before the naval bill was reported to the House he said to him that if the committee changed the bill so as to provide for open competition he would withdraw it.

REALTY'S FUTURE BRIGHT.

Dealers Tell Y. M. C. A. Classes the Trade Is Full of Promise.

The fourth annual dinner of the real estate classes of the Acme Real Estate Club of the West Side Young Men's Christian Association was held in the Hotel Astor last night. There were about 150 members, who, after the dinner, listened to talks about real estate from well-known New York real estate men. They were Joseph L. Buttenwieser, Joseph P. Day, Robert E. Dowling, F. S. Rawson, and Robert E. Simon.

Mr. Buttenwieser, who spoke on the outlook in the real estate trade, declared that the real estate interests had weathered the recent financial flurry like veteran seamen, and said that while one might water stocks and other securities, real estate was one asset that refused to take the water cure. When the recorder in the Register's office records a real estate transaction, he added, the record contains the true facts. The future of the real estate trade, he said, was bright with promise, and that it would conquer.

Mr. Day was in favor of the real estate interests becoming associated in a non-political organization, with a central head, the duty of which head should be to safeguard realty interests at the City Hall and at Albany. Real estate, he said, pays $101,000,000 of the $130,000,000 that New York City spends, and it was but right that it should have a square deal, and he believed that it would, if the real estate men worked together.

Mr. Dowling talked of the financing of real estate, while Mr. Simon had as his topic the operations in lots. William M. Kingsley, Chairman of the West Side Young Men's Christian Association, also spoke.

Mrs. James B. Regan, wife of the proprietor of the Hotel Knickerbocker, left a valuable gold bag in one of the Broadway theatres on Monday night, and the pawnshops of the city are being searched for it. "Mrs. Regan just left the bag in the theatre, that's all," said Mr. Regan last night. "She forgot it. The bag cost $400 in Paris and was a beauty."

To Hear Bermel Charges.

ALBANY, April 28.—Gov. Hughes to-day appointed Samuel H. Ordway of New York as Commissioner to hear testimony on the charges filed against President Joseph Bermel of the Borough of Queens in connection with the sale of Kissena Park. A demand has been made for Bermel's removal from office.

RECEIVER FOR FINANCE CO.

Calvin Tomkins Brings Suit Involving Buffalo Railroad.

Frederick T. Johnson was appointed receiver by Vice Chancellor Howell in Newark yesterday for the Transit Finance Company of New Jersey. The appointment was made in insolvency proceedings brought by Calvin Tomkins, President of the Interurban Association.

The Transit Finance Association was organized to build the Buffalo, Lockport & Rochester Railway Company. To get money for this enterprise the company issued certificates entitling purchasers to stocks and bonds in the company when the road was finished. The company was unable to complete the road, and the enterprise was taken up by Toronto investors, including P. R. Wood, Fred Nichols, and Sir Henry Pellatt.

The road was finally completed, and the purchasers of certificates from the Finance Company demanded their stocks and bonds. The Toronto men turned over to the concern 800 bonds of $1,000 each of the railroad company in payment for the work done. The Finance Company, however, had obligated itself to issue bonds to the extent of $1,261,000 to the purchasers of certificates.

Under threat of suit Calvin Tomkins obtained the twenty-five bonds promised him by the concern, but was unable to get the stock amounting to about $25,000. The present suit in chancery was then instituted.

Vero-form Liquid Soap.

Dandruff presages baldness. There will be, can be, no dandruff if the scalp is absolutely healthy and clean. There is no necessary reason why the hair should drop from any one's head. Just as surely as a scar tells of a some time wound does a bald head tell of scalp mistreatment.

VERO-FORM LIQUID SOAP is unmatched for the shampoo. It insures just those conditions of scalp that make healthy hair a certainty. It stimulates hair growth by putting the right conditions around it. It cleanses the hair perfectly, giving it the sheen of silk—the sheen of absolute rightness.

For every toilet soap purpose VERO-FORM LIQUID SOAP is the best of best. Baby enjoys its use; mother and all are delighted with the cleanness and freshness it imparts to the skin.

A Constant Current of Fresh Dry Air

The usual atmosphere of a cold storage plant is low in temperature but the air is still and stuffy. In our plant a moving current of cold, dry air is constantly circulated to every part of the storage rooms, preventing any possibility of odor or mustiness. All the storage rooms are above street level, insuring perfect dryness.

DRY COLD STORAGE

Our storage plant—the largest in the world for the exclusive storage of furs and fur articles—uses no preservative but pure, cold dry air. Each garment is hung, separately covered, on its own hanger. Telephone 3761—38th and our messenger will call.

METROPOLITAN PAID POLICE WITNESSES

Regular Rate $5 a Day While Under Subpoena, Witness Testifies at Jerome Hearing.

JULIAN TELLS OF BRIBERY

Vouchers Also Throw Light on Railroad's System of "Roping" Even the Plaintiff's Witnesses.

Through vouchers of George T. Bagg, the ex-investigator for the Metropolitan Street Railway, whom District Attorney Jerome had on his pay roll while the Seabury jury-fixing inquiry was going on in February and March of 1906, evidence was obtained yesterday at the hearing on the charges against the District Attorney, showing in many of its intimate details the system employed by the law department of the Street Railway between 1898 and 1901 in controlling as far as possible the result of its accident cases in the courts. District Attorney Jerome conceded the day before that there had been criminality on the part of the railroad's lawyers in dealing with court officials, witnesses, and jurors.

This evidence is being taken on the first charge on which the King Committee of Metropolitan Street Railway stockholders is seeking the removal of Mr. Jerome. The charge relates to Mr. Jerome's conduct in the jury-fixing investigation before Judge Seabury when Ambrose F. McCabe was on trial on the statements of William H. Tillinghast, Louis E. Julian, and Stanley S. Bagg. At Monday's session it came out that about the time of the Seabury inquiry George Bagg, then working for both the District Attorney and Metropolitan Street Railway, sought to get rid of the trunk full of vouchers which have furnished the basis of most of the testimony of the last two days.

Many of these vouchers were George Bagg's own. Some of them showed payments to policemen. Witness Julian testified yesterday in explanation that it was the custom to pay policemen $5 a day while they were under subpoena, whether they were actually in attendance at trials or waiting for cases to come on, meanwhile going about their usual business. Other payments were for getting witnesses "right," the vouchers said, and for "roping" witnesses. There were many for the "handling" of witnesses for the plaintiff. A "general" voucher showed a payment of $125 at "U. S. Post Office" for special services.

The George R. Bagg vouchers show a wide variety of activities. Among them are the following:

Disbursements at saloon and poolroom corner Greene and Houston Streets, where one of plaintiff's and one of defendant's witnesses were (before trial,) $4.50.

Night work roping, locating, and interviewing plaintiff's witnesses and learning strength of his case, $18.25.

Expense with court attendants (3) who remained in charge of a jury from 1 to 9 P. M., for their meals, and incidentals and expenses, $15.

"Shadowed" Its Own "Shadows."

Apparently when the Metropolitan was shadowing people it also had to shadow its own shadows, for a voucher read:

Incidentals with runner who worked up plaintiff's case and in shadowing him while with our employe, $10.60.

The following voucher told its own story:

Court expenses in getting jury and with witnesses, $14.60.

Here are other vouchers:

Roping and shadowing, $19.50.

Feb. 16—Special expenses, Rev. P. B. J., $100. Check to bearer.

The latter was a voucher signed "John T. Little." It was followed by a voucher reading:

Feb. 17, 1900—Suppers with plaintiff's witnesses, two men from Post Office Department, where he works, on Feb. 16 and 17. General incidentals in getting them right, $16.50.

Another investigation was reflected by this voucher:

Expenses investigating plaintiff's record at Considine's Sixth Avenue saloon, where plaintiff was formerly bartender, $8.50.

The "United States Post Office" voucher read:

General. All. Sept. 22, 1899.
To special charge for investigation room and services at United States Post Office, (general,) $125. GEORGE R. BAGG.
Approved, H. A. Robinson.

Julian explained that the use of the word "general" meant that the expense was to be distributed generally over all divisions, and not charged up against any in particular. How well "disinterested" witnesses were treated was shown by this voucher:

Expenres in preparing for trial with our two disinterested witnesses in going over case with them, and means and incidentals and general expenses at the Hoffman House, $21.

For "Roping" Plaintiff, $31.70.

This is an entry going to make up the details of a voucher for $100.95:

In shadowing and roping plaintiff his attorney, and attorney's female stenographer; night work; meals; hotel bills, and incidentals, $31.70.

Another mode of operation was illustrated by this voucher, dated Jan. 30, 1901:

Expended at night, 125th Street and Park Avenue or thereabouts, with plaintiff's witnesses, Fay and Bowers, and investigation with their friends for the purpose of keeping them away from home, $11.60.

The good things on hand for policemen were thus exhibited in a Bagg voucher:

Oct. 12, expenses with police officers, (two,) $15.

Mr. Jerome took Julian in hand and undertook to find out what the witness had said to representatives of the District Attorney's office about the existence or destruction of these vouchers when he told the story of Tillinghast's vocation and the general tampering with court proceedings by Stanley Bagg. Julian didn't remember in detail, but a moment later it was brought out that specific mention of the vouchers and the fact that at some time in 1901 they had been given to George R. Bagg to destroy was contained in the affidavit which A. E. Woodruff, his lawyer, presented to a legislative committee on Feb. 13, 1900, a week before Justice Seabury began his inquiry and five weeks before Mr. Jerome himself appeared in the hearing on the McCabe charges.

The District Attorney was insistent to know whether there were ever any disbursements of a corrupt nature through Julian's department when he was with the street railway, or if witnesses were ever paid to testify falsely.

"It would be hard to say," answered Julian, "if giving money to witnesses is paying them to testify falsely. I didn't see all the witnesses."

Mr. Jerome insisted upon a more explicit answer, and Julian said that he didn't think any money had been used through his department to make witnesses testify falsely.

"How about the police?" asked Mr. Jerome.

"It was a rule of the office," replied the witness, "to pay policemen $5 a day while they were under subpoena, whether they were actually in court or around during the preparations of the cases."

"Even policemen who were the plaintiff's witnesses?" asked Mr. Jerome.

"I think I have known of such cases," said Julian.

Says Jurors Were Bribed.

"Are there any vouchers showing the bribing of jurors?" asked Mr. Jerome.

"Yes," returned Julian. "In those vouchers are some in Ambrose F. McCabe's own handwriting showing payments to jurors." He added a few minutes later:

"I considered that paying a witness to leave town was practically bribing the witness."

Mr. Jerome then asked Julian if people had ever been sent out of town through his department in this way. Julian declared that it was always on the orders of H. A. Robinson.

"You were cognizant of the fact?"

"Yes," replied Julian.

Next Mr. Jerome asked Julian if he could recall a single instance where he personally had knowledge of the commission of a crime. Julian said that George R. Bagg told him of the case of a plaintiff named Kanan against the company, in which a witness testified for the plaintiff on the first trial and reversed his testimony on the second, was arrested, found guilty of perjury, and had his expenses paid by the Metropolitan while he was in the Tombs—

"And the voucher is in that trunk," said Julian, pointing to the famous trunk.

Mr. Jerome asked if it wasn't the case that the plaintiff was convicted on the testimony he gave at the first trial. Julian said Bagg had told him it was the other way.

"You swore at the last hearing," went on Mr. Jerome, "that you had never committed a criminal act yourself."

"I don't know," said Julian. "You've had me indicted on a couple of things I don't believe were criminal acts. It seems to me that everything I do is a criminal act from the time that I went to you with evidence against these people. I regret now that I ever went."

At this there was applause in the hearing room for the first time since the inquiry began, but it was suppressed by Mr. Hand, and the witness was admonished to confine himself to the matter in hand.

"While you were with the Metropolitan Street Railway did you do any criminal act?" insisted Mr. Jerome.

"No," said Julian.

"And did you know of George Bagg's doing a criminal act?"

"Yes, and I told your assistant, Mr. Smyth, about it in the Wimmer case," retorted the witness.

Court Officers Got Free Hats.

Then Mr. Pierce sought to get from the witness an explanation of the vouchers showing large purchases of Knox hats, which, it had already been testified were distributed among court officers. The hearing at this time was punctuated by repeated clashes between Mr. Pierce and Mr. Jerome. The latter characterized some testimony as "ridiculous nonsense."

"I won't submit to be called ridiculous nonsense," cried Mr. Pierce, who had misunderstood. "Has the public no rights here?"

A moment later, in the course of some passage at arms with Mr. Pierce, Mr. Jerome said, with reference to the distribution in the courts:

"I hope they're still doing it. Everybody needs hats."

The evidence on the first charge was ended yesterday, and Mr. Pierce put in evidence the second, third, and fourth charges, excluded by Gov. Hughes because relating to matters in the first term of the District Attorney. These charges had to do with jury-fixing, or witness-fixing cases, and were submitted as showing knowledge by Mr. Jerome of the state of facts covered by the first charge.

The hearing was adjourned until this morning.

QUIGG'S WORK FOR VREELAND.

"Did Whatever I Wanted Him to Do," Testifies City Railway Head.

With H. H. Vreeland, President of the New York City Railway, still on the stand, the suit of Emanuel Weil and Minnie Weiler, in the Eleventh District Municipal Court, against the Directors of that corporation was continued yesterday. The suit is brought to recover losses suffered in holding on to stock of the Metropolitan Street Railway, which the plaintiffs allege they were induced to do because of false reports made by the New York City Railway. The suit is backed by the King committee of Metropolitan Street Railway stockholders.

A good part of the session was taken up with things Mr. Vreeland did not remember to have happened at the previous hearing. He did have some recollection about the services of Lemuel E. Quigg, the accelerator of public opinion. Quigg testified that he was hired by Mr. Vreeland and took his instructions from him.

"Mr. Quigg," said Mr. Vreeland, "was connected with newspaper men and politicians and had a wide acquaintance with men who did things. He was an efficient man in his position, and did his work well."

"Did he take care of legislative matters?" asked Eugene Kremer, counsel for the plaintiffs.

"He did whatever I wanted him to do," said Mr. Vreeland.

"Did he take care of matters in the Board of Aldermen?"

"He did whatever I wanted him to do," the traction President repeated.

A minute later Mr. Kremer asked the witness if he knew what part of the moneys received from the Metropolitan Securities Company either the Metropolitan Street Railway or the New York City Railway had in their treasury when the receivers took charge."

"Five hundred thousand dollars," Mr. Vreeland replied.

"Did the receivers take it?" was the next question.

"They always do," said Mr. Vreeland.

Mr. Kremer got once more on the subject of political contributions, about which Mr. Vreeland admitted that he knew something when he was before the Grand Jury. The witness said the money was usually drawn on check and then placed in the hands of various persons for distribution.

Mr. Kremer then reverted to the day in the campaign of 1902 when the Metropolitan gave at the same time $20,000 to Benjamin B. Odell for the Republican organization and $16,000 to Charles F. Murphy for the Tammany organization. Finally he got back to the payments going into the five-hundred-thousand-dollar fund that had to be refunded in 1900 and led to the Wall & Cortlandt Street Ferries transaction, and asked Mr. Vreeland how he allowed such amounts of money to be paid out to a man who wasn't even a Director of the company, Mr. Vreeland replied:

"I was like your partner, Chandler, or like Mr. Root. I took what Mr. Whitney said, and let it go at that. I had confidence in Mr. Whitney, and knew that he was a man of sufficient wealth so that he did not need the money for his personal use."

The hearings will go on to-day.

TO STUDY PRIMITIVE MAN.

Canada Wants to Join Our Expedition Among the Eskimos.

The Canadian Department of Geological Survey has written to Dr. H. C. Bumpus, Director of the American Museum of Natural History, asking permission to cooperate in the expedition of V. Stefansson and Dr. R. M. Anderson, sent by the museum authorities on a two years' trip to study the tribes of Eskimos in the Far North. They are believed to be the most primitive men now in the world.

Dr. Bumpus in reply telegraphed R. W. Brock, Acting Director of the Geological Survey, that the museum authorities would welcome the participation of the Canadian Government in the undertaking.

A telegram came yesterday from Messrs. Stefansson and Anderson. They are in Winnipeg, and about to start on the next stage of the journey, which leads to Edmondton. They wired that the Spring up there was very late and the trails still filled with ice and snow. They did not expect to reach Edmondton before the middle of May, whereas they had counted on getting there by May 1.

Mrs. McCarthy and Larned Win.

Speed and accuracy in driving for placement won the final of the mixed doubles for Mrs. A. H. McCarthy and William A. Larned yesterday on the court of the St. Nicholas Rink. Not only was Mrs. McCarthy splendidly sure of her shots, but her brother easily appeared in the best form he has shown in many seasons. The opposing pair was Miss Juliet Adee and Raymond D. Little. The former surpassed her partner, for Little was most uncertain and continually sent the ball into the net or out of court. The score was 6—2 and 6—4.

In an endeavor to bring the series of tournaments to an early end, the women's singles were also put on yesterday, and Miss Elizabeth H. Moore won her way to the final in two matches. She disposed of Mrs. H. L. Minott by the score of 6—0 and 6—2. Miss Moore then met Mrs. A. G. Miles, who played the former champion a hard second set before Miss Moore won, 6—3, 4—6, and 6—0.

In another of the single matches Mrs. Morton L. Frearey of the Richmond County Country Club, proved skillful against Miss Margaret Busk. Both women volleyed well in this contest before Mrs. Frearey scored at 6—4 and 6—3. The summary:

Mixed Doubles.—Final Round—Mrs. A. H. McCarthy and William A. Larned defeated Miss Juliet Adee and Raymond D. Little, 6—2, 6—4.

Women's Singles.—First Round—Miss Elizabeth H. Moore defeated Mrs. H. L. Minott, 6—0, 6—2; Mrs. Morton L. Frearey defeated Miss Margaret Busk, 6—4, 6—3.

Semi-Final Round—Miss Elizabeth H. Moore defeated Mrs. A. G. Miles, 6—3, 4—6, 6—0.

Harvard Students in Revolt.

Special to The New York Times.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., April 28.—Harvard undergraduates for the second time in the history of the university have risen in revolt at the Faculty over athletics, and a monster petition is going the rounds of the undergraduates requesting the Faculty to allow the students to settle the question of the curtailment of intercollegiate contests and the abolishment of Winter sports themselves.

The Athletic Committee to-night postponed indefinitely consideration of the desirability of abolishing Winter sports, and the undergraduates have now decided to deal with the Faculty direct in a final stand in the cause of athletics. Meetings of all four classes have been called for to-morrow evening, when the petition will be signed generally, and other resolutions probably adopted.

Yale Crews in Practice Race.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., April 28.—The Yale 'Varsity crew to-day covered four miles in the first practice spin of the season. It found the water and wind conditions in the harbor favorable, and both first and second crews were sent away. The regulars won by two lengths. The time was not announced, but is known to be fast. The 'Varsity eight rowed as follows: Stroke, Griswold; No. 7, Ide, (Captain;) No. 6, Howe, No. 5, Dunke; No. 4, Hunt; No. 3, Rice; No. 2, Peyton; Bow, Auchincloss.

KEEN RIVALRY FOR RIBBONS OF BLUE

Horses of Judge Moore and Miss Bedford Catch Fancy of Society at Brooklyn Show.

PRIZE FOR MRS GERKEN

Newsboy and Shopgirl Win the First Award for Harness Pairs—Robbins First in Jumping Class.

Miss Emily H. Bedford and Judge William H. Moore created the real sensation of the evening at the opening of the sixteenth annual Horse Show of the Riding and Driving Club of Brooklyn last night. They were keen rivals for the blue ribbon in the single-harness class for horses from 15 to 15.2 hands. Miss Emily Bedford, modishly attired in white, with a big green feather waving from her white hat, drove her chestnut mare Hildred, making not only one of the most attractive pictures of the night in the judging ring, but presenting one of the best exhibitions as well. Judge Moore handled the reins over his brown gelding Pride o' Prides. The horses were well matched in quality, and even the society folk and débutantes in the boxes could not help rising to the enthusiasm of applauding the rival exhibitors as they circled the tanbark. When Miss Bedford got the blue ribbon, the spontaneous applause showed that it was a popular victory, as, indeed, it was a well-earned triumph. Judge Moore also got third with King of Kings.

Judge Moore and Miss Mabel B. Hooley attracted the interest in the tandem class. Four teams entered, and after the preliminary exhibition Miss Hooley, who drove a fine pair of chestnuts, and Judge Moore took several extra turns about the ring, receiving a genuine ovation. Judge Moore's pair, Senator and Pride o' Prides, was easily superior, but the judges then took a lot of time placing the others, with the result that George Watson beat Miss Hooley for the second award. It was Miss Hooley's first appearance in the show ring as a tandem driver, and as she was the only woman exhibitor, her creditable performance elicited keen interest.

Mrs. John Gerken's well-known blue ribbon winners, Newsboy and Shopgirl, scored a well-earned victory in the harness-pair class, the third event of the evening. Mrs. Gerken drove, and showed off the good qualities of her notable pair to perfection. Miss Emily Bedford drove her handsome black team, Donner and Maet, but she had to be content with the red ribbon.

Judge William H. Moore, who was well represented in the harness classes, made his first appearance in the ring in the second event of the evening, a single harness class over 15.2 hands. He drove the bay gelding Senator, but was slightly outclassed by William A. Jamison's black mare Jet. Judge Moore took both second and third honors.

The attendance for the opening night was better than in previous years. Practically all of the boxes were filled, and well-known horse fanciers from New York and neighboring towns were present in goodly numbers. The horses, while not up to the quality in some classes of the last two or three years, were, on the whole, very good and well worth seeing.

Among those present in the boxes were Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Bedford, Judge and Mrs. Jenks, Mrs. William Robinson Simons, Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Blum, Arthur Brisbane, Judge and Mrs. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Potter, Mr. and Mrs. William Gilmour, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Hooley, Mr. and Mrs. William N. Dykman, Mr. and Mrs. George H. Coutts, Mr. and Mrs. F. T. Parsons, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Ames, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Cardee, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence H. Robbins, Mrs. J. S. Bogert, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Ernst, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Colman, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Prentice, C. H. Callaghan, Mr. and Mrs. Henry S. Strauss, Mr. and Mrs. William Beverly Winslow, Miss Ada Winslow, Miss Jennie Winslow, Miss Penfield, Miss Jeanette Weldon, Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Pratt, Jay F. Carlisle, Edgar F. Luckenbach, Allan Pinkerton, Louis Haight, Miss Grace Bedford, Mrs. Paul Taylor Brown, Cheever Candin, W. H. Collier, Mrs. Charles F. Hubbs, Miss Ethel Moore, and George Watson, Jr.

Clarence H. Robbins scored a magnificent victory in the class for jumpers, his bay gelding, Chenoe, taking the six 4½-feet jumps without grazing a bar.

$10,000 EXCELSIOR STAKE.

Jack Atkin Probable Favorite for Jamaica Feature Race.

The second of the big handicaps of the Spring series, the $10,000 Excelsior, one mile and a sixteenth for three-year-olds and upward, will be run this afternoon as the feature of the opening of the Metropolitan Jockey Club's Spring meeting on the Jamaica track, and in the quality of the even dozen horses named to start the best race in the history of the fixture is promised. The contest to-day will be the sixth running of the Excelsior.

Of the twelve horses announced as starters all but one have had the benefit of seasoning in races, five of the number having been winners at the Aqueduct meeting, which closed yesterday. These winners include Jack Atkin, the champion sprinter of the New Orleans Winter meetings and winner of both the Carter and Queens County Handicaps; Chapultepec, one of the star three-year-olds of the Winter tracks; Restigouche, from the Keene stable; Zienap, and Rifleman.

The single horse of the field that will go to the post for the first time this season in the Excelsior is McCarter, the star campaigner of the Newcastle Stable, and the colt which last season ran Peter Pan to a head for the $25,000 Brighton Handicap, after making all the pace. McCarter's stable mate, Spooner, which ran one excellent race at Aqueduct, also is named to run, but is a doubtful starter, as the stable yesterday could not find a lightweight jockey acceptable to the owners to ride Spooner. Berkeley, which ran yesterday at Aqueduct, is another doubtful starter, while to make compensation, there is every probability that there will be additions to the race to-day, especially if there should be rain enough to make the track soft.

In the estimates of the betting on the Excelsior last night the Carter Handicap winner, Jack Atkin, was made the favorite, in spite of the fact that his trial in the race will be his first effort over the distance. Jack Atkin through all the Winter was rated as a sprinter, and though he had been a winner at a mile, it was not until he had covered the mile of the Queens County Handicap, his latest start, in 1:39, that he was regarded as a real factor in the Excelsior. The horses next in favor were the Newcastle Stable's entry, McCarter and Spooner; Harry Payne Whitney's fast mare, Brookdale Nymph, which was one of the runners for the Carter Handicap; the B. and O. Stable's three-year-old Chapultepec, and James R. Keene's Restigouche.

In the event of a soft track the most notable of the expected added starters are Nealon, winner of the Suburban of last year, and Baby Wolf, one of the sensational performers of 1907 in muddy going.

The Excelsior, with a guaranteed value of $10,000, will be divided, with $7,000 to the winner, $2,000 to the second, and $1,000 to the third horse. The entries, weights, and jockeys and the estimated opening betting to-day follow:

The Excelsior Handicap, for three-year-olds and upward, guaranteed value $10,000; one mile and a sixteenth.

Columbia Tennis Team Defeated.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., April 28.—Princeton by a clever rally in the doubles defeated Columbia in to-day's tennis match by the score of 5 to 4. The New York team won four of the six matches in singles, but the Tiger players proved too much for them in the last half of the contest, and secured all three doubles. Summary:

Singles—Pyne, Princeton, defeated Banks, Columbia, 6—2, 8—6; Thomas, Columbia, defeated Dixon, Princeton, 6—3, 4—6, 6—3; Reiser, Columbia, defeated Gordon, Princeton, 6—4, 8—6, 6—3; Boorman, Columbia, defeated Stockton, Princton, 6—3, 4—6, 6—4; Moses, Columbia, defeated Tomlinson, Princeton, 6—2, 6—4; Aitkin, Princeton, defeated Fleishman, Columbia, 6—2, 6—4.

Doubles—Pyne and Dixon, Princeton, defeated Banks and Reiser, Columbia, 6—3, 6—3; Gordon and Stockton, Princton, defeated Boorman and Moses, Columbia, 6—3, 4—6, 6—1; Tomlinson and Aitkin, Princeton, defeated Thomas and Fleishman, Columbia, 6—2, 6—4.

NO CONFERENCE ON SAVANNAH COURSE

Dates Fixed for Grand Central Palace Automobile Show.

DINNER TO A. L. CAMPBELL

Walter Allen Pays Striking Tribute to Injured Allen-Kingston Driver —Racing Car Exhibited.

There were no further developments yesterday in the efforts of the Savannah representative to corral the Vanderbilt Cup Race. Jefferson De Mont Thompson had intended to meet Harvey Granger and discuss the subject with him, but found it impossible to do so. The conference was put off until to-day, when Mr. Granger is expected to make his plea. Whatever argument he may adduce is not likely to decide the matter at this time, as the commission is strongly of the opinion that a definite selection of a course should be delayed as long as possible in order to hold the race as near New York as possible. However, some understanding may be reached which will be satisfactory to the Georgian, so that he may see his way clear to proceeding with the preparation of the extra roads necessary to complete a course of the desired length.

The one development of the day in automobiling was the announcement of the dates for the independent show. It will be held at Grand Central Palace during the week of Dec. 31 to Jan. 7.

A dinner was given yesterday in honor of Arthur Campbell, who was to have driven the Allen-Kingston car in the Briarcliff race. Campbell was unable to attend it, being still confined to the White Plains Hospital with a broken jaw, sustained in the accident two days before the race. Walter Allen paid a striking tribute to his plucky driver, whom he called the American Duray, and said that he was confident before the accident that Campbell would win the Briarcliff race.

The A.-K. car was on exhibition at the company's salesroom on Forty-fourth Street, opposite Sherry's, where the dinner was served, and all those who attended were invited to examine it. There was nothing wrong with the car except a slightly bent axle.

Lewis Strang and his mechanician attended the Campbell dinner and spoke of the plucky work done in the race by De Palma and Campbell and some of the other drivers. Of his own performance Strang spoke very modestly. He said he was confident of victory, and believed the car capable of carrying him to victory. With reference to his plans, he said he would go to Buffalo to-day to prepare the Thomas car, which he will drive in the Grand Prix race, and sail for Europe week after next.

AS AN ADMONITION.

The dinner of the so-called "Cosmopolitan Society of Greater New York," reported in yesterday's newspapers, a dinner at which more than one hundred black men and black women and white men and white women sat down together, and where race "equality" and intermarriage of whites with blacks were discussed, may in the orderly course of nature, like many other unpleasant things, be consecrated to the good of society. Just as in the individual organism the white corpuscle busies itself with devouring the germs of disease; just as the gastric crisis averts the more serious consequences of dietetic indiscretion; just as the disagreeable results of any transgression of hygienic law serve as timely warnings or correctives, so, in the social organism, the tendency to vagariousness and hebetude inherent in so many men and women, sooner or later, and before the danger point of epidemic idiocy is reached, bumps against its inhibitions. This particular banquet, we think, provoking as it must the public disgust and indignation, will serve to call the attention of the community to certain forces of evil that have been rather actively at work of late, and will, if we mistake not, tend in a marked degree to check and destroy them through the odious exhibition now made of what they really mean.

At this banquet, of which brotherhood was the "note" and the promotion of Socialism the moving spirit and intent, negro men and women—there were more negroes than whites—met white men and women upon a plane of extemporized "equality" and listened to and applauded addresses from persons known for their activity in the Socialistic propaganda, some of them known, also, as "settlement workers," in which the intermixing of the races by marriage was discussed. "Intermarriage," said one speaker, "if continued long enough, would solve the race problem. I do not believe that the white man would be so anxious to marry the negro woman, as the negro man to wed the white girl. But this would continue, the negro man marrying the white woman until the dark race would gradually bleach." We quote these observations textually as reported in order that they may be pondered and the significance of the "equality" doctrine understood by men and women who have hitherto paid little attention to the ideas expressed in the word "Socialism" by those who use it with definite purpose.

In the first place, speakers at this banquet discussed what is expressly prohibited by the marriage laws of twenty-seven States and Territories of this Union. That is, perhaps, the least of the reasons why public censure should be visited upon this exhibition of Socialism in its nakedness. The opinions of a people may change, and then they may change their laws. This law strikes its roots deeper than the statute book. The establishment of a race "equality" and the intermarriage of whites with blacks are forbidden by an instinctive, prevailing, and unconquerable resolve and condition of mind. Prejudice is not the name for it, since the thing is not a matter to be judged, but a matter as to which belief and conviction are innate. That belief and that conviction are so nearly universal as to be quite beyond the possibility of change; their universality and their depth are so attested by the facts of human experience that to call them in question is everywhere felt to be a public affront.

In the North we may be said to have no negro question, but there is a negro question in the South, and it would be well-nigh impossible to do the negroes of the South a greater injury than was done by these flabby-minded persons who assembled in New York City on Monday to talk about and to exemplify the social "equality" of the races. The wise friends of the negro race, those high-minded and philanthropic men who have given of their time, their thought, and their substance for its welfare and advancement, will be appalled by this performance. In the South it will be discussed with a degree of passion and resentment that must inevitably intensify existing differences and retard works of beneficence undertaken in behalf of the negroes. Upon the unpleasant suggestiveness of the associations involved no one here would be inclined to dwell, but we may be sure that in the South it will be frankly pointed out.

Out of the many evils springing from this most unwise and unnatural venture for the further spread of Socialism there will emerge, as we have said, the corrective influence. That will be salutary, and it is the only good thing we discern in the escapade. Much contemplation of the vague and formless doctrines of Socialism of the parlor or "brotherhood" variety has brought many seemingly intelligent men and women in this city into more or less open relations with the real Socialists, the persons who are seeking by pen and speech and by all the arts of agitation and mob leadership, by revolution if necessary, to destroy society, and with it the home and religion. These men know and act. Their deluded coadjutors merely dream and palter in their amateurish way with a thing they do not comprehend. The university professors, the men of holy calling, the workers in settlements and charitable organizations, the persons of wealth and social standing who have lent their names, their sanction, and their effort to the propaganda of Socialism are giving aid and comfort to agencies of destruction. The black and white dinner of the "Cosmopolitan Society of New York" will sharply call attention to the mischievous and dangerous nature of what they are doing, and so we trust good may come of it.

"DRYNESS" IN NEW ENGLAND.

The result of the Spring elections in Massachusetts and Vermont upon the question of licenses for the liquor traffic is a marked change in the direction of the prohibition of sales. In Massachusetts, according to The Boston Transcript, six cities and thirty-six towns voted no license, closing 210 licensed places, or 10 per cent. of the total now open. There are included the City of Worcester, with a population of 130,000, and the manufacturing towns of Haverhill and Lynn. In Vermont only 27 towns out of the 246 in the State will permit the licensed sale of liquor after to-morrow. In that State the progress of the no-license movement has been very steady. Five years ago there were 92 towns voting "Yes" where there are not now a third of that number.

The next aim of the temperance people will be to pass a law by which all license fees shall be paid into the State Treasury on the theory that the three-fourths now paid to the towns is really a bribe to vote for license. This will be strenuously opposed by the liquor dealers. The latter seem in great part to be of the impression that the prohibition movement will "not be much of a shower," and are preparing to store their wares until the tide of public sentiment shall turn. It is quite probable that there will be fluctuations of the tide, but all signs point to a continued reduction of the public authorization of liquor selling. Prohibition is no longer regarded as the fad of fanatics as it was even a score of years since. The principle of local option has had much to do with this change. It has given a chance for the regulation of the matter by the portion of the community most directly and largely affected by the trade, leaving a good deal of liberty to those communities that really wished the trade allowed. It has also tended in the direction of regulation rather than entire abolition. Up to the present time it cannot be denied that the dealers and the drinkers have progressively failed to carry the sentiment of their own neighbors with them. How far this will continue to be the case cannot be foreseen, but there is no doubt that the advance in restriction does correspond to a very general change in public feeling.

WASTING THE PEOPLE'S HERITAGE.

Following the President's declaration that the vast water powers of the country should be kept as "the heritage of the people," the appropriation for Federal gaugers of stream flow has been cut by the committee from the Sundry Civil bill, thus abolishing 332 gauging stations in thirty States. Unless the provision shall be restored by amendment, any water power company applying for rights in a certain locality will be well assured that the Government authorities are ignorant, and must take the say-so of its engineers as to whether 1,000 or 20,000 horse power can be developed.

The act of the committee prevents the formulation of definite plans for the use of the people's property in flowing waters, of which privileges have heretofore been given away indiscriminately and in perpetuity. It strikes at the "consistent unified plan" of improving our navigable waters, for which President Roosevelt declares there is "crying need." Powerful interests are bent upon getting absolute control of the water powers on great watersheds. The public will read with interest, we think, the arguments which certain members of the House may urge against restraining this necessary appropriation for the gauging of streams, and against other appropriations for appraisal of natural resources—in all $350,000—of which the committee has seen fit to deprive the Geological Survey.

THE DANGER OF TALKING MUCH.

The nervous diseases that are supposed to afflict modern society are causing a great deal of undue alarm. They are accounted for variously by the confusion of ideals, the mad pursuit of wealth, lack of rest, overeducation, overeating, overdrinking, "psychical and physical maladjustment." A new pathological explanation is offered by a London clergyman, Mr. Lombard, who thinks that too much talking leads to nervous breakdown and even to insanity. We fancy that Mr. Lombard is mistaken. The most voluble persons one meets think least. Few great talkers overwork their brains. Of course there have been, and still are, distinguished exceptions to this rule. Thomas Babington Macaulay and Richard Brinsley Sheridan talked a great deal; Mr. Roosevelt, Mr. Bryan, District Attorney Jerome, and Mr. Richmond Pearson Hobson talk a great deal. Not one of these is a type of mental infirmity. The danger of nervous breakdown from too much talking applies more to the people within the range of the speaker's voice than to the speaker. The chatterer may be maddening, but he is rarely mad.

"People who are silent by nature are rarely ill," says the London clergyman. That may be true, but how few are silent by nature! Man is a conversational brute, and when he habitually holds his peace circumstance generally controls him. He may have learned his lessons in a severe school, he may have been taught, by experience, like the parrot of popular fable, that silence is often not only golden, but the better part of valor. However, it is not the silent man, but the one who thinks before he speaks, who wins private and public respect.

We cannot accept the theory that volubility leads to madness, or that talking about imaginary ailments brings them on. A person may think himself sick and presently be sick, but thinking and talking are different things. No human beings talk more than the Christian Scientists, who endeavor by the employment of suggestion, conveyed in many words, to cure the evil effects of suggestion.

Mr. Lombard's attempt to make volubility unpopular, however, ought to have some sort of encouragement. If he can make great talkers cease from needless speech long enough to think that talking is dangerous, he may accomplish a great good. But he is undertaking an almost hopeless task.

Speech, which was invented for the communication of ideas, and was twisted in an age of sophistry into a medium for concealing them, is almost everywhere in this age a means of indicating a lack of ideas and thought. The alarm about nervous diseases and insanity does not bother us much. The doctors are more vigilant and know more than they used to. But the habit of talking too much is an everpresent evil.

FALLACIES ABOUT RABIES.

The Pathological Division of the Bureau of Animal Industry has issued a pamphlet on mad dogs. It states that rabies has increased in the United States, and points to the fact that by muzzling all dogs continuously for a few years European countries have ridden themselves of this scourge.

It is fallacious and superstitious to presume that the muzzling process should be confined to "dog days," or the hot season from the first of July to the middle of August, when the dog star Sirius is above the horizon with the sun; in Summer and in Winter dogs are equally liable to infection, and rabies is prevalent in all seasons. The "mad stone" is an inefficacious amulet. To shoot a dog in perfect health on the theory that should it develop rabies in the remote future the person it has bitten will likewise be affected is monstrous. The beast should be kept alive ten days, when, if it shall have failed to develop symptoms, there is no fear of danger. No animal has "spontaneous" rabies; it must itself be infected by a bite or laceration. A mad dog does not fear water, and it may venture to cross a stream. But well-marked symptoms of a change of disposition, alteration of voice, inability to swallow, returning home in an exhausted condition, paralysis of the jaw, or swallowing abnormal substances such as wood and stones, should lead its owner to place it under restraint. A bite may be harmless whether the dog's mouth be red or black within—the black color is due to a perfectly normal deposit of pigment.

Whoever is incredulous that rabies exists ought to witness the cases of infected animals under the charge of health officers, veterinarians, or in the Pasteur Institute. Folks never die of lyssophobia or "fear of madness," but for genuine hydrophobia the sole cure recommended by the pathologists at Washington is the Pasteur treatment.

That cheerful marauder Rais Uli the Moor, it seems, has escaped his enemies, the tribesmen called Elkmes. He was probably in a tighter place than when our State Department telegraphed to the Republican National Convention, via Tangier, its demand for "Perdicaris alive or Rais Uli dead," for the tribesmen really had him in ambush among them, while our Government could only act through the frightened Sultan of Morocco. The bandit lives to ply his trade and may lay hands on another wandering American by adoption in time for the next Convention.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

A Last Word About "Lachesis."

We have not ourselves received any direct evidence that readers of The Times take the stories about the "lancehead" snake and the "lachesis" made out of the creature's venom otherwise than as we did—namely, as affording an amusing illustration of the extent to which human credulity can be pushed, and, incidentally, as showing that the wildest vagaries of Hahnemannism still linger for profitable exploitation in nooks and corners of the medical world, though modern homeopathy gives them no countenance in practice and but little in theory.

It should have been noticed, and we think was, by everybody of ordinary sophistication, that everything we printed concerning the manufacture, the value, and the potency of "lachesis" was in quotation marks and carefully ascribed to the—well, call them humorists, who have so solemnly exploited the renewal of the world's stock of this precious "medicine." We did not assume, even by remotest implication, any responsibility for anything except the fact that certain people were doing certain things and saying certain other things about the doing. It did not at first occur to us as necessary to explain that this was all nonsense, any more than it did when a Wyoming romancer sent in a yarn about an attack by timber wolves upon the New York to Paris racers.

Some good friends of ours, however, inform us that these "lachesis" tales have been taken seriously by more than a few people, and that this is likely to do real harm by leading those people to accept as hopeful treatment for grave maladies the administration of a substance which cannot do them any good. We have already expressed our own opinion and that of doctors worthy of the name in regard to "lachesis," but to remove the last least chance of misunderstanding on the subject we hasten to declare that neither this snake's venom nor that of any other, administered as these men purpose to use it, has any known or demonstrated medicinal efficiency. The very most that can be said for it is that in a few cases and with patients of a certain kind it might just possibly serve as a means of beneficial suggestion.

We have no desire or intention of entering upon the general subject of homeopathy, its principles, and remedies, or of offending any believers in or practitioners of it and them. "Lachesis," however, does not belong to the homeopathy of the day; it is a survival from the time of infinite "attenuations," when men could talk gravely of curing by "olfactions" and even by holding in the hand sealed tubes containing the absurdest of drug dilutions. In other words, "lachesis" is a joke, and we are even more surprised than grieved that it was not taken so by everybody who didn't expect to make money by its sale.

He Is Here Given a Lecture.

Attentive readers of the President's latest message must have been struck by the frequent recurrence in it of a peculiarly clumsy and illogical locution—that of making one of the two objects which certain verbs take in the active voice the subject of one of those verbs used passively.

The President is a fairly careful writer, as well as always a vigorous and lucid one. He even takes pains, occasionally at some apparent inconvenience, not to divide his infinitives, which is a matter of taste rather than of necessity, as has been well shown by that ablest defender of colloquial English, Prof. Lounsbury, but the word "power" seems, curiously enough, to have a mysterious tendency to lead him into the ugly phrasing to which we are referring.

For instance, he writes in the message: "Somebody, whether a commission or a bureau under the Department of Commerce and Labor, should be given this power." And again: "Any Governmental body, whether a court or a commission, if given power enough to enable to," &c. And again: "Some body or bodies in the Executive service should be given power to pass upon any combination or agreement," &c.

In every one of these cases it would have been the easiest of things to put the sentence beyond the reach of criticism—or of hypercriticism, for that matter. We do not for a moment claim that "he was given" is a mortal sin of grammar, do not deny that the locution is in common usage, and will admit that it can be found in the works of many estimable writers. That, according to Prof. Lounsbury, justifies the President and puts us out of court as plaintiffs against him, but Prof. Lounsbury defends many expressions which he would not advise his pupils to use—which he himself avoids.

Nobody is under a legal obligation to have a fine style, and many of us, alas! can never acquire one, but anything as carefully written and as often revised as a Presidential message—when the author happens to be a man as well-read as Mr. Roosevelt and as sensitive to the value of words—might well serve as a model of verbal proprieties for the rest of us to follow.

Helping Along the Cause.

It will strike some observers that Harlem manners are in need of immediate mending. Of course, there is no necessity for taking either the suffragists or the suffragettes with the seriousness of mortuary sculpture; it is even permissible for anybody so inclined to laugh at them, if he does it with the kindness and courtesy which are their due, first, as women, and, second, as women of excellent intentions, using such wisdom as they have with the excellent intention of improving the condition of humanity—which certainly needs it. To silence them with riotous derision and insult is a different and graver matter. Insult is not argument, and causes are not defeated by the maltreatment of their advocates. Harlem should take care not to be represented by its hoodlums or it will get a bad name.

Mr. Lampton Suggests a Successor.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I read in The Times of Sunday Mr. Hale's brilliant and breezy—I might say Rooseveltian—article on the daily activities and mental, moral, and political strenuosities of President Roosevelt, and the highest praise that I can bestow upon its spirited manner and profound matter is that you send him out to do a baseball game as you sent me out. I am quite aware that I have set a high standard in that department of literature, but I have no fear whatever that Mr. Hale will not put the peg a notch or two higher. If there should be any doubt later we can call on Mr. Roosevelt to decide. Really, the Hale story was bully.

Another Point of View.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In your issue of April 25 is a letter entitled "The Point of View," in which the writer states that she has found willing hands to serve her wherever she has lived. It does all depend on the point of view. If you are not particular how you are served; if you do not mind unclean pots, kettles, beds, clothing, and the like, and the various breeds of vermin resulting therefrom; and if you are willing to pay honest money for counterfeit work, you can find thousands upon thousands of willing hands to grab your money, but not to serve you. No! No! No!

The Olive Drab Uniform.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

W. E. Taylor has the uniforms mixed. All the National Guardsman, as well as the enlisted men of our regular army, agree with me that the olive drab uniform is the most comfortable ever issued, and has the best appearance.

NEW YORK GUARDSMAN.

New York, April 28, 1908.

GOV. HUGHES

Summoned to Make His Battle an Issue for Re-election.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

If Gov. Hughes has made one fact clear above all others, it is that his whole heart, soul, and strength are given to carrying out the will of the people. If we look further than this, we shall also see that he believes his duty to the people and to himself is to present vital questions to them, and clearly, dispassionately, and logically explain their relation to the public welfare in the light of the Constitution and the law. It is only after this has been done, and he knows that the people understand the issue and are with him, that he brings the irresistible force of an enlightened public opinion—the will of the people—to bear upon their deputed servants, the legislators, to enact laws that are just and right.

Rarely if ever before, even within the recollection of those of us who are no longer young, has there been so complete a carrying out of the underlying principle of our Government on the part of an Executive as has been shown in the work of Gov. Hughes. He has first informed the people, then molded their thought, then crystallized their opinion, and, finally, looked to them for that verdict from which there is no appeal. The ultimate success of his measures is a certainty, provided he remains where he is until he has had time to bring the full power of the people to bear upon the practical system of government which has always existed at Albany, and, largely, in every other State capital in the country. Such a magnificent result cannot be achieved in a moment—not in one Governor's term—but it is as sure to come as the sun is sure to rise to-morrow, provided time is given to such an influence as that now at work in the person of the Governor.

Under such conditions, would it not be best that he should accept at least another term, and thus continue, until a point of safety is reached, the remarkable work he is now doing? Without him, would not the effort fail and the State relapse again into the political slough of despond in which it has so long struggled? Should the Governor leave the Children of Israel in the depths of the wilderness when he alone has blazed the trail thus far and he alone can carry them into the Land of Promise? Of all men, Hughes is not a "quitter," and if he now views the situation with that lofty spirit which has characterized his course from the first, there are many of us who believe that he may accept the office again, and thus save the State from the dangers which otherwise would imperil all the good thus far accomplished.

Undoubtedly Hughes is fitted even now for the Presidency, and he has an immense following of the very best class of citizens of this State, but if he remains to complete his work he will have performed at this particular juncture a greater task than any other which could be given him—even at Washington. Gov. Hughes is still a young man, and he can well permit his countrymen and his party to wait until he has finished the battle here before they invite him to assume what may seem the greater responsibilities of a more imposing office.

"CREATIVE" WOMEN.

Are They the Mothers or the Literary Geniuses?

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The birth of a child is of vastly greater value than the work of all the literary scribblers or artistic geniuses who ever lived. For its destiny enters the realm of eternity, while the production of the "creative minds" hardly outlasts a single generation, and its influence depends on the caprice of the hour. When an Irish washerwoman or an Italian peddler becomes the mother of a brood of children she has, to my thinking, produced something of infinitely greater moment than all the writings of George Eliot or Charlotte Brontë or George Sand or Mme. de Staël or than the canvases of Rosa Bonheur or Elizabeth Thompson. There are no bounds to the development of an immortal spirit when it has been once started, no matter what may be the insignificance of its earthly career.

The books and pictures of the "creative minds" are certain to perish in a few centuries, indeed the most of them hardly outlive a single decade, and the world is not much the worse off for their demise. The principal reason why our present civilization is down to so low a depth is because the immortal value of a human soul is not at all recognized. We imagine in our blindness that the only things of any account are fat dividends on railway stocks and magnificent profits on oil and pork! The infinite and tender throb of the human heart is scarcely heard at all in our feverish life, and the roar of our industries is set altogether to the jingle of gold dollars.

Dangerous Baseball Playing.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I hope you will give this a place in your paper, so that Mr. Bingham, our Police Commissioner, may see it. To-day my wife, when crossing through the park near the Tombs Prison, was struck on the head by a ball and severely injured. The ball came from a bat in the hands of an Italian boy about 18 years old. Two policemen were chatting together on the corner, perfectly oblivious that the law was being defied. The Commissioner can see any day baseball being played down there with the hardest kind of balls, endangering the lives of people.

KITTY MONTROSE.

New York, April 26, 1908.

NEW YORK'S ELEVEN HUNDRED.

Oh, isn't ours a city of the bung tung brand,
The truly lallapalooza of the whole dern land,
When it comes to social orders
That distinguish it from what
The reubs of other cities
Yearn to have, but haven't got?
Yes, it is,
And the provinces are pazziz.
Yes, pazziz.
Don't you know what pazziz is?
Pazziz is something ooter,
It is—what?
Great Scot,
Don't you know what ooter is?
It's Parisian for pazziz.
See?
Maybe you say
Ootray—
However, Freddie Martin,
Who is really expert
In swaggerocious matters,
Takes the pleasure to assert
That we have eleven hundred
In our Swagger Circle now
To whom the boozherwasherie
Must do the grand ko-tow.
Our one time Chief, McAllister,
Could count up only four,
But we know our Swagger Circle
Must be growing more and more.
It's a shame, of course, but, say,
There is no other way,
When we've got eleven hundred
In Soci-e-tee,
And eleven hundred thousand
Who would like to be!
It is horrible doclassy
To oversize the bunch
Of those who stand for manners
And who set the fashion hunch;
So it's up to them that's in it,
By privilege divine,
To sound the social tocsin
And draw the swagger line;
Kill off the noovo reachers,
Remove the parvenus,
And make the Swagger Circle
Exclusively exclusе.
That's what!

NO BLAME FOR COLLISION.

Coroner's Jury Exonerates Captains of the St. Paul and the Cruiser.

YARMOUTH, England, April 28.—The Coroner's inquest on the bodies of four of the twenty-eight men who were drowned as a result of the collision last Saturday between the liner St. Paul and the British cruiser Gladiator was held today, and a verdict was given saying the men came to their deaths accidentally and that nobody is criminally to blame for the collision, as all orders on both boats had been carried out.

The British Admiralty and the American Line, owner of the St. Paul, were represented by counsel. Capt. Passow of the St. Paul and Capt. Lumsden of the Gladiator were present.

Capt. Lumsden said he was on the bridge of the Gladiator when he saw the St. Paul approaching, about half a mile away. She swung to port and Capt. Lumsden starboarded the helm of the Gladiator to pass the liner. Asked by the Coroner why he had decided to pass the St. Paul on the starboard side, Capt. Lumsden said he would prefer not to answer, as he had made a confidential report to the Admiralty on this point.

Capt. Passow, commander of the St. Paul, testified that he was with the pilot on the bridge of his steamer, and that he had a first officer in the lookout in the bows. After passing Yarmouth a vessel was reported ahead. He believed she was from a quarter to a half mile off on the port quarter. He stopped the engines and then heard one blast, indicating the direction of a course to starboard. He answered the blast and put his engines full speed astern and the helm hard aport. Then, noticing that the cruiser was closing in upon him, apparently on the starboard tack, he put his port engines full speed astern as well.

Directly the collision occurred he stopped both engines. After the impact and as quickly as possible he ordered the engines "Slow ahead" in the hope of filling the gap and keeping the vessel afloat, but being hailed by an officer on the cruiser to go astern, he complied and ordered his boats out.

Questioned by the jury, Capt. Passow gave it as his opinion that the collision would not have occurred had the rule of the road been observed. They were steering the course they steered every month.

The St. Paul was docked at Southampton to-day. She sustained no damage below the water line.

DESTROYER GALA SUNK.

Cut in Two by Scout Attentive—One Officer Drowned.

HARWICH, England, April 28.—The British torpedo-boat destroyer Gala was cut in two and sunk early this morning off Kentish Knock, in the North Sea, by the scout Attentive. The torpedo-boat destroyer Ribble was also involved in the collision and returned to Sheerness with two compartments full of water.

Engineer Liuet. Frank A. Fletcher of the Gala, who was in his bunk at the point where the destroyer was struck, went down with the vessel. There was no other loss of life.

WARSHIP BOILER EXPLODES.

Four Men Seriously Hurt on British Battleship Britannia.

PORTSMOUTH, England, April 28.—The explosion of a boiler tube on the British battleship Britannia during a full-speed trial to-day injured five men, four severely and one slightly.

The Britannia reported the accident by wireless telegraph to this place, and late to-night she anchored at Spithead. The injured were not brought ashore and no communication could be had with the battleship to-night. The explosion is not believed to have been serious.

BRONZE BUSTS FOR EMBASSY.

Dr. J. A. Coles of New York Makes Present to Our London Headquarters.

LONDON, April 28.—At the farewell dinner given to Whitelaw Reid, the American Ambassador to Great Britain, by the New York Pilgrims at the close of his last visit to New York, Joseph H. Choate referred to the absence of a portrait of Benjamin Franklin from the collection of pictures of American diplomats that adorn the offices of the American Embassy here.

Mr. Reid made a reply in which he eulogized Franklin, spoke of Houdon's busts of Washington and Franklin that flank the entrance of his residence in London, and promised that a proper memorial of the printer-editor who served his country as the diplomatic agent of the Colonies in London and Minister of the United States to France should be placed in the embassy offices.

Soon after this Dr. J. Ackerman Coles of New York offered to present to the embassy bronze copies by Barbabienne of the Houdon busts of both Franklin and Washington, with suitable marble pedestals. This offer was accepted by Mr. Reid, and to-day both busts were received from Dr. Coles and suitable places were provided for them at the embassy.

WANTS PATENT AGREEMENT.

Germany Fears Laws Requiring Patentees to Manufacture Here.

BERLIN, April 28.—It is understood here that the German Government has taken the preliminary steps to negotiate a patent agreement with the United States. This action is in consequence of the prospect of federal legislation requiring foreign patentees to manufacture in the United States, otherwise their patents will be forfeited.

The German law provides for forfeiture in the event of a patent remaining unused for three years if a German subject makes application to have it set aside.

TO REMOVE HEINE'S STATUE.

Kaiser Will Erect Memorial to Empress Elizabeth in Its Place.

BERLIN, April 28.—Emperor William, who is spending a vacation in the Achilleon villa, on the Island of Corfu, has decided to have the statue of Heinrich Heine removed from the grounds of the palace.

The late Empress Elizabeth of Austria, for whom the palace was built, was a great admirer of the German poet, and had this statue to his memory erected. The Emperor has given an order to Herter, the Berlin sculptor, to make a monument of the Empress Elizabeth, which will occupy the place of the Heine memorial.

The Berlin newspapers, commenting on Emperor William's decision, say it was generally expected, as he disliked Heine because he was lacking in national spirit.

Duc de Chaulnes Buried.

DAMPIERRE, France, April 28.—The body of the Duc de Chaulnes was interred at the château of the De Chaulnes family here to-day. This morning a private mass was celebrated in the chapel of the château. Only the immediate members of the Duke de Chaulnes's family were present.

Rais Uli Escaped from Ambush.

TANGIER, April 28.—It has been learned definitely that the report in circulation that Rais Uli had been assassinated is untrue. He was ambushed by the Elkmes tribesmen, but escaped.

Notes of Foreign Affairs.

LISBON, April 28.—It is announced here that King Manuel, when he takes the oath of the sovereign on May 6, will grant a general amnesty to all political prisoners, excepting those who are involved in the murder of his father and brother.

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, April 28.—The American Federation of Labor has petitioned Gov. Post to recommend the appointment of an independent to fill one of the three existing vacancies in the native membership of the Executive Council. The Council now includes two Unionists, two Republicans, and one Independent. The Governor proposes to eliminate the Independent and to recommend the names of two more Unionists. The federation has submitted three names and the matter will be taken up with President Roosevelt.

KING SHARED GRAFT WITH PARTY LEADERS

Carlos Turned Over $800,000 of the $1,500,000 Treasury Advances He Got.

GUARDING PRESENT RULER

City Filled with Troops for the Opening of Parliament To-day—Plot Recently Discovered.

LISBON, April 28.—Great anxiety exists here lest the reopening of Parliament to-morrow may be the occasion of a fresh outrage, possibly an attempt on the life of the young King Manuel, who in accordance with the traditions must go in state to the Cortes to pronounce the opening.

The city is full of troops, and the entire route from the Necessidades Palace to the Parliament House will be lined with soldiers. The King will travel in a closed carriage surrounded by lancers. Some time ago a plot was discovered, said to be a direct sequel to the tragedy of Feb. 1, and a man named Palanque was arrested, but, the police failing to procure incriminating evidence, he was released.

The Republicans, Dissidents, and Francoists seem to have completed preparations to bring an onslaught on the Government shortly after Parliament opens by reviving the scandal in connection with the "royal advances" obtained by the late King Carlos from the State Treasury.

It appears that the secret of the failure to comply with the King's request for a commission to investigate these advances was that the amount credited to the King on the Treasury books was not $700,000, as everybody supposed, and the sum liquidated by Franco, but approximately $1,500,000. The most sensational revelation, however, is that the royal family received only $700,000, the remaining $800,000 having been absorbed in the process of transmission by the "Rotatives" then in control.

The present administration, being unaware that this knowledge was in the possession of the Francoists, announced the intention of violently attacking the entire Francoist régime. But Senhor Reymao and Senhor Martins de Carbalho, who were respectively Minister of Public Works and Minister of Finance in Franco's Cabinet, and who have been elected to the Chamber, promptly called the Government's bluff.

They publicly announced that they were in possession of important incriminating documents which would prove that the major portion of the money which was supposed to have gone to the royal house had found its way into the pockets of several of the Regenadores and Progressives who belong to the present Government.

Thereupon the Government made overtures for an alliance whereby the Francoists should act with the Government in resisting the attacks of the Republicans and Dissidents. The Francoists, however, declined the offers of a compromise, and Parliament opens with them apparently lined up with Republicans and Dissidents against the Government.

The Government organ Mundo says that upon the first evidence that the Republicans are trying to bring on a conflict the Government will dissolve Parliament, suspend the Constitutional guarantees, and proclaim a military dictatorship.

ASQUITH MOVES LICENSE BILL.

Conservatives Confident It Will Not Pass the Lords in Present Form.

LONDON, April 28.—The House of Commons made a fresh start at its labors today under the leadership of the new Premier, H. H. Asquith.

Mr. Asquith moved the second reading of the highly controversial Licensing bill. The vote will not be taken before the evening of May 4. The second reading will be carried by a large majority. The Conservatives are confident that it never will pass the upper house in anything like its present form.

MME. GOULD GOING TO ROME.

Naples Paper Thinks She and Sagan Will Discuss Their Marriage at Vatican

NAPLES, April 28.—Prince Helie de Sagan and Mme. Anna Gould and her party have made arrangements to leave here to-morrow morning for Rome, where they have engaged apartments at the Grand Hotel. One of Mme. Gould's automobiles has been sent to Nice, and it is believed that Mme. Gould intends to spend some days on the Riviera.

One of the Naples newspapers says that the reason Prince Helie de Sagan and Mme. Gould are going to Rome is that they may discuss at the Vatican the possibility of meeting the objections of the Church to a marriage between them on account of the fact that Mme. Gould has been divorced.

FOR CREDIT CO-OPERATION.

Marcus M. Marks Advocates a National Chamber of Commerce.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, April 28.—Marcus M. Marks of New York, President of the National Association of Clothiers, spoke on "Credit Co-Operation" at the banquet of the Philadelphia Credit Men's Association at the Hotel Walton to-night. He said in part:

"Now as to the broader selfishness, in other words, the spirit of brotherhood in trade, who will deny that life is more the worth living if spent in a happy relation of confidence and good-will with one's business neighbors? And what better method of getting together than in a credit circle, which inspires the brotherly feeling through the realization of our general community of interests. Credit associations contribute considerably in the direction of raising the tone of trade by the mutual striving toward higher ideals.

"If, then, a single credit circle is of advantage, both from the narrow standpoint of selfishness and from the broader standpoint of commercial brotherhood, cannot this advantage be greatly multiplied by extending and interlacing such circles in various trades throughout our country? In brief, this is the plan I have been actively promoting for years, and which is coming closer and closer to practical fruition: That each trade form its own credit circle; first local in its various markets, then National, by connecting these locals.

"I appeal to every credit man here to use his influence toward stimulating a trade organization in his own particular line, and follow this up by pushing the local idea into one of National extent. As soon as this is done, the development of a National Chamber of Commerce will naturally follow, and the reward will satisfy the selfish and the unselfish alike, making more successful, better merchants and better men of all."

TENT CITY FOR QUEBEC FETE.

Railroad Plans One to House Guests at Tercentenary Celebration.

Owing to the demands for hotel accommodation at the tercentenary celebration ceremonies at Quebec, which begin July 22, the Canadian Pacific Railroad is considering the scheme of erecting a tent city on the Heights, overlooking the harbor, to accommodate 1,000 persons.

Quebec has few hotels of importance except the Chateau Frontenac, all the rooms in which have been taken since the beginning of the year.

The Royal Mail Steam Packet Company and the Quebec Steamship Line will run steamers from New York to Quebec in the celebration week, and the passengers will be allowed to sleep and eat on board while in port.

MISS DE PEYSTER WEDS DR. G. A. LUNG

Ceremony at St. Bartholomew's Largely Attended by Old New York Families.

WAS A NAVAL WEDDING

Bridegroom, Best Man, and Ushers All Wore Full Dress Uniforms, Brave with Gold Lace.

The wedding of Dr. George Augustus Lung, U. S. N., and Miss Helen Van Cortlandt de Peyster, eldest daughter of Mrs. Frederic J. de Peyster, yesterday afternoon at St. Bartholomew's Church drew a large crowd of well-known people.

It was a naval wedding, the bridegroom, his best man, and eight ushers all appearing in full dress uniforms, brilliant with gold lace.

The church chancel was decorated with palms, Easter lilies, and Spring blossoms, and Easter lilies were tied to the pews in the nave.

Miss de Peyster, wearing a princess gown of satin partially veiled with old point lace and trails of orange blossoms, wore also a court train and an old point lace veil, which was worn by her grandmother, Miss Birckhead of Baltimore, when she married Mr. Morris. She was given in marriage by her brother, Frederic Ashton de Peyster, who, a week ago in Lakewood, married Miss Alice Abercrombie-Miller. The bride had no attendants.

Dr. Lung's best man was Dr. Philip J. Leach, U. S. N., and the ushers were Lieut. Commander N. M. Taylor, U. S. N.; Dr. G. Rothganger, U. S. N.; Dr. K. Ohnesorg, U. S. N.; Lieut. W. F. Bricker, U. S. N.; Lieut. Belknap, U. S. N.; Paymaster I. N. Jordan, U. S. N.; Lieut. J. C. Townsend, U. S. N., and Naval Constructor E. S. Land, U. S. N.

The ceremony was performed by Bishop David H. Greer and the Rev. Dr. Leighton Parks.

A special musical programme was given by Clarence Eddy, the church organist. Preceding the ceremony, de Bois's Nuptial Mass, a Spring song by Alfred Hollins, and Chopin's Wedding Chimes were played. The Coronation Wedding March was the processional music, and during the ceremony Gounod's "Sanctus" was played, followed by the Mendelssohn wedding march as the recessional.

The reception was held at the home of Mrs. de Peyster, 11 East Eighty-sixth Street. Dr. Lung and Mrs. Lung received in a palm and cherry blossom bower in the drawing room. Spring flowers, Southern smilax, and lilies and roses decorated the house.

After a brief wedding trip, Dr. and Mrs. Lung will live in a house assigned them in the New York Navy Yard, Brooklyn. Dr. Lung's assignment to the navy yard has still eighteen months to run.

Dr. Lung, who was graduated from the Medical College of the University of Pennsylvania, was with Sampson's squadron in the Spanish-American War. He was on the Philadelphia at the time of the Samoan difficulty and made an enviable reputation.

Mrs. Lung has been interested in many charitable works. She is a lineal descendant through her mother of Lewis Morris, who signed the Declaration of Independence, and through her father is related to many old Dutch families.

Among the guests invited were Mr. and Mrs. Newbold Morris, Philip Birckhead, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Ashton de Peyster, Mr. and Mrs. Livingston Pell, Mr. and Mrs. Goodhue Livingston, Edward de Peyster Livingston, Mrs. Philip Livingston, Mr. and Mrs. Maturin Delafield, Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Iselin, Mr. and Mrs. Columbus Iselin, Mr. and Mrs. Howland Pell, the Rev. Alfred Duane Pell and Mrs. Pell, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lewis Morris, Mr. and Mrs. George R. D. Schieffelin, Mr. and Mrs. John Ross Delafield, Mrs. L. L. Delafield, the Misses Delafield, Mr. and Mrs. William G. Low, Mr. and Mrs. Fordham Morris, Mrs. George Kingsland, the Misses Kingsland, Col. Alfred Wagstaff and Mrs. Wagstaff, Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Shoemaker, Mr. and Mrs. W. Emlen Roosevelt, Mrs. John E. Roosevelt, Mr. and Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish, the Rev. Dr. Morgan Dix and Mrs. Dix, Mr. and Mrs. Goelet Gallatin, and Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Gallatin.

TO-DAY'S WEDDINGS.

Hard-Bourne Nuptials at 3 o'Clock—Miss Ruggles to Wed.

Miss Whiteman to Wed R. F. Janes.

The engagement of Miss Lucille Voorhis Whiteman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Whiteman of Port Chester, New York, to Robert Foster Janes of this city has been announced. The wedding will take place in the Fall at the home of the bride's parents.

Mrs. A. G. Vanderbilt to Entertain.

Mrs. Alfred G. Vanderbilt will give a dinner for fifty people at Newport on Saturday next, and her guests will include some of those invited to the wedding of her niece, Miss Pauline French, and Samuel Wagstaff, which will take place at Newport on Tuesday, May 5. A number of New York guests will go to Newport on Friday, and will return the day after the wedding. They will go to the Muenchinger-King cottages and other villas in Newport now open.

Social Notes.

Mrs. Benjamin Lathrop, who is to sing to-morrow at the entertainment at the New York Theatre in aid of the House of the Holy Comforter, will give the ballatella from Pagliacci, the aria from "Louise," and diletto by Luckstone.

This afternoon at 3:30 o'clock Paderewski will give a recital at the Plaza Hotel for the benefit of the Music School Settlement. Paderewski is giving his services free of charge, so that all the proceeds from the sale of tickets will go to the music school.

Miss Agnes Repplier will read an unpublished essay on "The Mission of Humor" at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon at the Colony Club for the benefit of the New York Cooking School.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Leland Pierce will sail for Europe to-day on the Majestic for a three months' trip. Upon their return home they will spend the remainder of the Summer yachting.

The A. A. A. Fraternity of St. Francis Xavier College will hold its annual dance to-night at Delmonico's.

It has been decided to hold the ladies' championship fencing match in the rooms of the Fencers' Club, in the Windsor Arcade, this morning at 11 o'clock instead of on Friday, May 1, as first planned.

A fourth performance of La Belle Chausseuse by amateurs for the benefit of crippled children was given last night at the Berkeley Lyceum.

Eltinge S. Warner, Jr., who is to marry Miss Ruth L. Eaton on Saturday, May 2, gave his bachelor dinner last night at the Princeton Club. His guests included his best man and ushers. Miss Eaton also gave a dinner last night for her bridal attendants.

Marcel Steinbrügge is at the Shelburne, Atlantic City, for a week.

Archbishop Farley has accepted an invitation from Frederick Townsend Martin to be a guest with Cardinal Logue and Cardinal Gibbons at a dinner to be given in two weeks at the Plaza. The date of the dinner will be selected later. There will be only twelve guests.

MAY OPPOSE MRS. INGRAHAM.

Some Daughters of the Revolution Want Mrs. Granger for President.

The General Society, Daughters of the Revolution, opened its annual meeting yesterday morning at the Waldorf-Astoria with a large attendance of patriotic women from all parts of the country, representing the different branches of the society. The interest of the meeting will centre about the election of officers. The report of the Nominating Committee was brought in at the afternoon session and accepted, though not unanimously. There were many vigorous "nays," but the "yeas" had it.

Following the acceptance of the report a Massachusetts woman rose to withdraw the name of Mrs. Alice M. Granger of Massachusetts, First Vice President General of the society, nominated for re-election.

"You cannot do that now," said Mrs. D. Phoenix Ingraham, President General, presiding, "because the report of the Nominating Committee has been accepted." The matter was allowed to stand, but it is understood that the Massachusetts women do not wish Mrs. Granger to run on the ticket as given, because they have the Presidential bee in their bonnets, and would like to carry off the highest office for the Bay State. Mrs. Granger will probably be nominated from the floor for President to-day.

Here is the ticket as presented by the Nominating Committee:

President General—Mrs. Adelaide Ingraham, New York; First Vice President General—Mrs. Alice M. Granger, Massachusetts; Second Vice President General—Mrs. Elvira E. Moffitt, North Carolina; Third Vice President General—Mrs. Mary S. Ward, New Jersey; Fourth Vice President General—Miss Frances C. Jordan; Corresponding Secretary General—Miss Josephine Wandell, New York; Recording Secretary General—Mrs. Caroline P. Heath, Massachusetts; Treasurer General—Miss Mary A. Kent, Pennsylvania; Register General—Mrs. Mary C. Casey, New York; Librarian General—Mrs. Caroline Montgomery, Colorado; Historian General—Mrs. Nellie M. Pray, Massachusetts.

Board of Managers—Mrs. Louise Keay, Pennsylvania; Miss Adelaide Sterling, New Jersey; Mrs. Martha M. Park, West Virginia; Dr. Marie Heslip; Miss Louise L. Kent, Pennsylvania; Mrs. Elizabeth Fitch, New York; Mrs. Minnie Helfer; Miss Cora R. Bleaksley, New York; Mrs. Eva M. Bockman, Maryland; Mrs. Ida F. Whiting, Long Island.

At the morning session Mrs. Zeb Mayhew, Regent of the New York Society, made the address of welcome. In her annual address Mrs. D. Phoenix Ingraham said:

"The day which is set apart for the great privilege of the free man, the day in which he casts his vote, is fast becoming a day of recreation and pleasure only, so mothers, wives, and sweethearts, use your influence."

In the evening there was a dinner attended by both men and women in the Astor Gallery of the Waldorf, preceded by a reception.

America is destined to become the greatest world power ever known, Delphin M. Delmas told the members and guests of the General Society after the dinner at which he had been the guest of honor. Responding to the toast, "Our Country," he said:

"It will not be a world power which unfurls the flag of conquest and wields the sword of victory; it will be a world power felt by moral force. Not by the sword, but by justice; not by conquests, but by the people she has reclaimed and bound to her by the ties of fellowship, will her power be known. With this feeling let me propose this sentiment:

"American liberty, our liberty, that liberty which makes the American people capable of defending their rights and incapable of invading the rights of others."

Mrs. Ingraham presided, Miss Mary Augusta Kent was toastmaster, Mrs. Zeb Mayhew, Mrs. David C. Carr, and the Rev. Dr. Wallace MacMullen were other speakers, and Mrs. Alma Webster Powell sang.

DIXEY APPEARS AS PAPA LEBONNARD

In an English Prose Version of Jean Aicard's Famous Little Comedy.

AUDIENCE WELL PLEASED

Sense of Sincerity Not Strongly Conveyed—Play's Interesting History.

"PAPA LEBONNARD," a comedy in four acts, by Jean Aicard. Translated by Iva Merlin and C. Aidilima. Adapted and arranged by Kate Jordna. BIJOU.

Papa Lebonnard	Henry E. Dixey
Sofia, his wife	Miss Helen Tracy
Jeanne and Robert, their children	Miss Marie Nordstrom and James Spottswood
Dr. Andrea	Eugene Ormonde
The Marquis	Frank E. Aiken
Blanche, his daughter	Miss Edna Conroy
Martin, the new butler	Scott Siggins
A domestic	Miss Pauline Duffield

Mr. Henry E. Dixey appeared at the Bijou last night in the title rôle of Jean Aicard's "Le Père Lebonnard," (Papa Lebonnard.) The English version of the play, shorn of its verse, retains the essential features of the story, if not always the more delicate qualities of character and argument. Mr. Dixey's performance was loudly acclaimed, and in justice to him it may be said that for one whose effort has generally been so far removed from what the play demands, he made a comparatively good showing. He knows the mechanics of acting, and he does just what any actor of average training and ability would do in a given situation. He does these things better than many actors. But to say that he ever got at the heart of Papa Lebonnard, either when the old clockmaker's heart was gay or when it was heavy, would be more than the circumstances warrant.

The main idea of the play is illegitimacy, a theme not the most interesting to English-speaking playgoers, but as it is developed here, with a vein of gentle comedy, and a climax of poignant emotion, it could scarcely fail to be powerfully moving in the hands of a great artist. Novelli was magnificent in it. Mr. Warfield could probably play it to bring tears from a stone.

For fifteen years, for the sake of his daughter, the old clockmaker has concealed the fact of his wife's infidelity, and never betrayed by the slightest sign the knowledge that his reputed son is illegitimate. At last, when son and wife alike oppose the marriage of his daughter to a man who loves her, but who is himself the victim of a father's guilt, the old man is driven to denounce his wife and the unfortunate offspring of her faithlessness. In the end all are reconciled and the family is happy. It is a simple little story, but in the original everything is adjusted with the nicety of one of the old clockmaker's best works.

There is never much sense of sincerity to the thing as we have it at the Bijou, where Mr. Dixey is by no means alone in failing to seem real.

"Le Père Lebonnard" dates back something over a quarter of a century. Long ago, in the days of M. Got, for whom the principal rôle was designed, it was rehearsed again and again at the Comédie Française, but was ultimately rejected. The author, in a state of dudgeon, took it to the Théâtre Libre, where, on Oct. 21, 1889, it was presented, in company with "Dans le Guignol," a prose prologue, in which M. Got was satirized, together with the proceedings generally of the Comédie Française. It was this play which did much to establish the reputation of M. Antoine, who at this time played the title rôle. But it owes its celebrity in reality to its ultimate performance at the Comédie, where M. Sylvain appeared as Lebonnard, scoring a tremendous success.

Evening Recreation Musicale.

The glee clubs and orchestra which represent the activities of the evening recreation centres will give a musicale this evening in the auditorium of the De Witt Clinton High School to show the advance made in the last session in this branch of work. The programme includes works of such composers as Sullivan, Raff, Mendelssohn, Grieg, Mozart, and Schumann. The chorus numbers seventy voices, the girls ranging in age from 16 to 18 years, while the orchestra has thirty pieces. Gustav L. Graef is director of both organizations.

SUFFRAGE BY TROLLEY CAR.

New Movement Started by Mrs. H. S. Blatch to Make Converts.

A trolley car expedition in the interest of the ballot for women is the latest method of the workers for woman suffrage, and will follow an anniversary suffrage convention. This trolley expedition, which will be from town to town, under the direction of Mrs. Harriet Stanton Blatch, will start from Seneca Falls, N. Y., on May 28. The party will work its way down to New York, stopping at many towns along the way to hold open-air meetings.

This is a suffragist, not suffragette, movement, though Miss Josephine Casey of the Chicago Trades Union, who came to New York to work with the suffragettes and made her first public appearance at the suffragettes' exciting open-air meeting in Harlem on Monday evening, will be one of the trolley trip suffrage speakers.

The trolley trippers will start from Seneca Falls after meeting there on May 27 to celebrate the anniversary of the first woman suffrage assembly, which was held in the Wesleyan Church at that place in 1848. There will be four meetings, at one of which a bronze tablet will be unveiled at the old church. Earl Barnes of Philadelphia will speak to the young people, and at a meeting for the pioneers different women will represent the women of 1848 who were present at the first suffrage meeting.

Mrs. Henry Villard will represent Lucretia Mott, Mrs. Blatch will represent her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Cady Stanton; Mrs. John Calvin Day of New York will represent her mother, Mrs. Isabella Beecher Hooker, and Mrs. Perrell of Washington, the colored woman, will represent Frederick Douglass.

The fourth meeting of the convention will be in the evening, when, among others, Mrs. Anna Garlin Spencer, Mrs. Frederick Nathan, and little Miss Elizabeth Cook, the winner of the prize for oratory at Cornell, will be speakers.

Miss Cook, it is expected, will be one of the orators of the trolley car expedition. Besides Mrs. Blatch and Miss Casey, Mrs. Herzig, a lawyer of New York; Miss Helen Hoy, another lawyer, and Miss Drier of the Women's Trades Union Association of New York, will be among the speakers.

THE KAISER'S SCULPTOR HERE

Prof. Schott Comes to Plan for German Art Exhibit in November.

Prof. Walter Schott, a noted German sculptor, who arrived yesterday on the North German Lloyd liner Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse, said that he had come at the invitation of a committee of artists headed by Prof. A. Hildebrand to arrange for an exhibition of German works of art in New York which would last from November, 1908, to January, 1909. Plastic art would be one of the principal features of the exhibition, Mr. Schott said, and a collection of masterpieces would be sent over far superior to anything ever seen in this country.

Prof. Schott said that the German Emperor had expressed the hope that the project would be followed by a return exhibition of American works of art in Germany.

Among the works executed in Germany by the professor are the new garden front of the palace at Sans-Souci, by order of the Emperor; decorative angels on the exterior of the cupola of the Berlin Cathedral, a statue of the Emperor in the dress of a Roman Emperor, for the new Academy of Art, in Berlin, and portraits of the royal family.

Desk Made by King Ludwig.

Among the articles included in the Lehne antique collection to be sold to-day, to-morrow, Friday, and Saturday at the Fifth Avenue Art Galleries is an old Napoleon upright desk in ebony, said to be the workmanship of King Ludwig of Bavaria. It was once in the possession of Lola Montez.

MUNICIPAL BUILDING AWARD.

Jury Selects Plans Submitted by McKim, Mead & White.

A jury of award, composed of Architects Kimball, Boring, and Day, has made a report recommending the adoption of the plans submitted by the firm of McKim, Mead & White for the new municipal building. The plans were submitted in competition, and nearly a dozen firms took part.

The recommendation of the jury of award does not end the competition. The plans will now be submitted to the Bridge Department and Public Service Commission. In each of those departments the chief engineers will ascertain whether the proposed building will meet the requirements. If found satisfactory the award will be made, and then the plans will be submitted to the Municipal Art Commission.

While the McKim, Mead & White plans are said to lack in some degree the beauty shown in other plans submitted with regard to the exterior of the proposed building, the floor arrangement is said to be so admirable that the plan got first place in the competition chiefly on that score.

The new building is to be twenty-three stories in height and is to cost about $7,000,000, exclusive of the cost of the site, which is bounded by Park Row, Centre Street, Tryon Row, and Duane Street. It is estimated that eleven floors will be all that will be necessary for housing the departments other than the Fire, Police, and Health, and those in the City Hall and the Hall of Records. These departments are already provided for permanently. The additional floors will allow for the extension of the city's business, and it may be that some of the offices will be rented. The two main floors are to be used mainly for a terminal for transit lines.

THESE GIRLS WERE "BIRDS."

They Wore Feathery Costumes and Crowed for the Three Arts Club.

Girls in male costumes were one of the attractions of the two vaudeville performances given yesterday afternoon and evening by the Three Arts Club in Duryea Hall for the benefit of the club building fund. In addition to the vaudeville performance in the evening there was a dance, which lasted until midnight.

Napoleon has been represented in many manners, by actors ranging from Sir Henry Irving to Arnold Daly, but yesterday was probably the first time that a woman has appeared as the Little Corporal.

The first number on the programme was a musical sketch entitled "Love's Locksmith," and the mender of broken locks was none other than Napoleon in the form of a young woman, who did her best to appear martial. Her "dragoons" spoke in high treble.

Besides a Spanish dance by one of the girls and the performance of a dramatic sketch, "Pierrot and Pierrette," the young woman offered an original "Barnyard Stunt" which caused much amusement. The girls appeared in such feathered costumes as only art students could have conceived, and the author herself, Miss Humphrey, was a fine turkey gobbler. One of the big "hens," who henpecked her husband, was run down by an automobile and died an ignominious death before the very eyes of the audience.

"MERRY WIDOW" ON STRIKE.

Ethel Jackson Refuses to Go to Chicago for Remainder of the Season.

Ethel Jackson, who played the title rôle in "The Merry Widow" at the New Amsterdam Theatre for several months and then retired on account of illness, has not returned to the cast, though entirely recovered. The fact is that Miss Jackson and the "Merry Widow" management have a difference of opinion. Manager Savage is still in Europe, but his representative has notified Miss Jackson to report for duty in Chicago, where the Western "Merry Widow" company is now playing, and where Lina Abarbanell, now playing the title rôle in the New York company, was formerly the leading performer.

"It is true that the Savage offices have notified me to go to Chicago," said Miss Jackson last night. "However, I have declined to go. My contract requires me to play only two weeks longer this season, and, though I might consent to extend the time for a month, I am not willing to play during the hot weather. If the Savage office wants me to play these two weeks in New York, of course I will do it. My contract did not specify that I should play all the season in New York, but there was a verbal understanding to that effect.

"It is true that Mr. Savage has a right to my services for next year by the terms of the contract, on the agreement to pay a certain amount. I should naturally expect to go on tour next August unless the original company should continue for a second season in the city."

"Home Show" to Run a Week.

All trades connected with the erection and equipment of a modern house will be represented in the "Home Show," which will open at the Grand Central Palace next Saturday evening and continue for a week. Many features out of the ordinary, including an electrical house showing the many ways in addition to lighting in which electricity can be applied to household conveniences, will be exhibited. The management announces that many city officials will be present at the opening.

Big Chief Sees Buffalo Bill.

His eyes almost blinded by old age and scarcely able to walk, old Tom Whirlwind Horse, father of one of the Indians now performing with the Wild West Show, witnessed the performance last night at Madison Square Garden. He had come all the way from the Pine Ridge Agency just because he had heard the call of Col. Cody's exhibition and wished to see the representation of the Battle of Summit Springs, in which he was with the hostile braves that fought Buffalo Bill.

Two Weeks for "Polly of the Circus."

After a run of practically an entire season, Mabel Taliaferro will close her season in "Polly of the Circus" at the Liberty Theatre two weeks from Saturday, simultaneously with the opening of her husband's big Summer playground, Luna Park. Next Autumn, instead of making just one dramatic offering, as has heretofore been his custom, Mr. Thompson announces that he will present three new plays in Broadway Theatres.

American Pianist Plays in Paris.

PARIS, April 28.—John Powell Young, a young Virginia pianist who recently made his début in Berlin, made his first appearance in Paris to-night at a recital. He had a flattering reception, among those attending the recital being the American Ambassador, Henry White and Mrs. White.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

Guy Standing and the stock company which is to occupy the Belasco Theatre in Washington this Summer left town yesterday. It includes Martin Sabine, Alfred Hudson, Sr., Frank Craven, Hall McAllister, Dorothy Hammond, Vira Stowe, and Alice Butler.

Cyril Scott will close his New York season in "The Royal Mounted" at the Garrick Theatre on Saturday.

Final engagements for the company of "Falling Leaves," the production of which by the Shuberts is announced for the near future, includes Grace Elliston, Dorothy Dorr, Roberta Brenna, Louis Massen, John Wesley, Lester Lonagan, Albert Grau, and a number of other well-known players.

The farewell performance of the present management of the Irving Place Theatre will take place on Thursday evening, with a production of Ibsen's "Ghosts."

Anna Held, who intended to close her season next Saturday, has decided to extend it three additional weeks, opening at the Broadway, Brooklyn, on Monday.

Eugene Walter has written a new one-act play entitled "Inside the Circle," for the Friars' Festival. Herbert Standing and Frank Sheridan will appear in it.

Mildred Holland will give a professional matinée at the Yorkville Theatre on Friday.

WHAT YOU DON'T LIKE IGNORE, AND IT ISN'T

New Thought Recipe for Dodging the Undesirable That Can Be Put More Technically.

HOW TO BUILD A NEW BODY

Impulse Given to Old Thought by Seeing New Thought Children at Play—New Thought Songs.

The New Thought College in Carnegie Hall has announced another discovery: Only that which is in consciousness, is. When you refuse to recognize anything in consciousness, it just isn't. The possession of the great human trinity, the All-Health, the All-Wealth, and the All-Love, depends merely on this principle of recognition.

A sigh broke forth from the audience assembled for the healing clinic, and Dr. Julia Seaton Sears acknowledged that there did seem to be different words in the New Thought. But they were common everyday ones, she said, and as simple as A, B, C.

Recognition is also simple. If you saw an undesirable citizen coming along in the world of the Old Thought, you would cut him dead. Now here, if you feel an unhealth or an unwealth or an unlove thought approaching, merely give it the icy stare and refuse to recognize it.

This is very important, for by a year of conscious thinking in your thought world you can build yourself a new body, but not if destructive unhealth thoughts impolitely interfere. Therefore, self-healing doesn't exist until it is born in your recognition of the truth that things outside of your recognition do not exist.

"I never realized this," said Dr. Sears, "until one day I saw a hawk high up in the heavens soaring like my soul. I said to my friend, 'See that hawk?' She declared there wasn't any, but I had recognized it way up there, and I said, 'Well, I guess there is!'

"Self-healing, otherwise the achievement of the All-Health, is very easy. Refuse to recognize disease thoughts and keep your mind on wholeness. That way you attain to 'power consciousness,' which is the 'I am' consciousness, born into you by a long course in perceiving the wholeness."

New Thought mothers are requested to begin instructing their children in the "I am" consciousness between the ages of 7 and 9. They'll take to it quite readily, Dr. Sears assured the assemblage, for the child possesses naturally the desired exalted ego, so much so that an Old Thought person on beholding New Thought children at play was moved to exclaim: "If those young ones belonged to me, I'd teach them a few things!" But this is very wrong, for the New Thought offspring should never be commanded, for that would threaten the uplift of the natural ego.

The audience was asked to close its eyes and murmur the open sesame: "I know, therefore I am." This is claimed as a New Thought watchword, despite the fact that Descartes played with a slight variation of it in 1637. While concentrating on this gem of truth yesterday a silver collection was taken, at which Dr. Sears remarked that she knew her words had "not gone forth void, but now bore fruit every day."

Then followed the silent contemplation of wholeness, after which, at the doctor's direction, every member was to speak the name of the person to be healed. This was assured by singing to the tune of "Blest Be the Tie That Binds," the hymn beginning, "I'm whole, praise God, I'm whole." The second stanza announced with the same expression of thankfulness the welcome news that "you" also were "wholes."

After this the healing clinic adjourned to the reading of certain literature regarded as conducive to wholeness. Beginners tried "The Sphinx," published in Missouri, where all things are made manifest. The further initiated read the Prabuddha Bharata, or Awakened India. The most advanced simply dote on "The Stellar Ray," which advocates scientific religions, philosophic and New Thought currents, that do not flow between the stone walls of prejudice.

For the more devotional there are the "Hymns of Truth, Health, and Happiness," some of which have a strangely familiar sound, explained by their adaptation for the New Thought. "Throw Out the Life Line" has become "Send Out the Sunlight." There is also "O wonderous peace" in three syllables, which is certainly a new thought and should be sung slowly and with feeling. One other title having a familiar sound reads: "In Heavenly Mind Abiding," and may be sung as a solo. These "Hymns of Health and Happiness" were composed, compiled, and published by Addieleen Stevens of this city.

"SUGARING OFF" IN BROOKLYN

As Near to a Real Vermont Feast as Could Be Arranged.

If Brooklyn is not a hillside of Vermont it was as near like it last night as the Society of Vermonters could make it for their sugaring-off, the first festival of the kind ever held anywhere near this town. At the entrance of the assembly's big dining room stood two small trees, and between them the sap kettle for the maple syrup, with the fire blazing underneath. Within the room the Vermonters assembled, a few hundred strong. Some of them actually hailed from that small State, but more were like Col. Elijah Kennedy, President of the New England Society, who wears the Vermont badge, as he says, because he was born in Connecticut, educated in Wisconsin, and has lived most of his life in California.

Contrary to expectations, the Vermonters assembled on camp chairs. The proper caper at a sugaring-off is to empty the sap buckets, reverse them, and use them as seats, but the authorities frowned on realism. The tables were spread with cheese and doughnuts, saltine crackers, and pickles. The rule is to eat a dishful of sour pickles after a helping of syrup, which process whets the appetite for yet more sugar. The waiters brought in individual cakes of ice on which to wax the boiling syrup. This was a substitute for the dish of snow used up-country for the same process, but as no snow was to be had the blocks of ice answered the purpose.

Then it was that the genuine Vermonters seized their knives, each one to excavate a hole in the centre of his ice cake, to keep the syrup from running overboard. At this operation the waiters were so astonished that they nearly collapsed where they stood, and as a result the coming of the sugar was somewhat delayed. George Miner, the President of the Vermonters, explained that the waiters weren't much acquainted with syrup. He telephoned to ask if it had arrived, and was told that the establishment didn't know about any syrup, but a big lot of molasses had come. The boiling sugar is dropped on the ice, waxed to the consistency of taffy, and slowly removed with the aid of a fork and a pickle.

The only speaker of the evening was the Rev. Charles Montgomery, the Rev. Dr. Parkhurst's assistant, who spoke on "Getting On, Getting Honor, and Getting Honest." The clergyman seemed to think there was room for this in New York, and told of the minister who was translating the parable of the Good Samaritan into modern terms for an east side mission class.

There were no toasts, as Vermont is a prohibition State, but the orchestra played, "Drink to Me Only with Thine Eyes."

Brig. Gen. Alfred Lacey Hough.

PRINCETON, N. J., April 28.—Brig. Gen. Alfred Lacey Hough, retired, died at his home here to-day. He was 82 years old. He is survived by his son, Judge Charles M. Hough of New York City, and his daughter, Mrs. W. R. Hall of Princeton. His grandson, Charles L. Hall, was recently graduated from West Point, second in his class. Gen. Hough served with distinction in the civil war, and was retired in 1890.

Cow Stepping on Old Man Kills Him.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., April 28.—Daniel Herbert, 90 years old, died at Dunham's Corner, near here, to-day of blood poisoning, resulting from a cow stepping on his foot some weeks ago. Mr. Herbert was formerly Collector of East Brunswick Township, and was one of the few Democrats now living who voted for Andrew Jackson.

Adair Opperman.

Adair Opperman, 23 years old, a son of Henry Opperman, passenger agent of the Pennsylvania Railroad, died last Sunday of pleuro-pneumonia. Mr. Opperman entered the service of the Pennsylvania Company six years ago as a junior clerk, and had advanced so rapidly that his friends predicted for him a brilliant career as a railroad man. He was promoted a few weeks before his death to a position of much responsibility.

The Yankees pounded the ball hard yesterday at the American League Park, and captured the second game of the series from Boston by the score of 7 to 4. Although the locals won, the contest was not a well-played one, and was in striking contrast to the playing of the teams on Monday. Errors were sprinkled in with the basehits, but the latter predominated, and as a result the Yankees romped home the easiest kind of winners. As a matter of fact one inning practically sufficed to set at rest all doubt as to the ultimate outcome. Glaze was Manager McGuire's first choice, but after five hits, including a triple, resulting in four runs, had been made by the New York players, he was retired in favor of Burchell, who pitched very creditably for the remainder of the game.

"Doc" Newton had good speed and kept the quartet of hits made off him well scattered. In only three innings were the visitors able to hit safely, and even then they were all singles, while the Yankees amassed ten safe bingles, which included a double, two triples, and a homer, the latter being due to Gessler misjudging Kleinow's long fly.

New York scored four runs in the first on four singles and a triple. Kleinow's homer came in the second, and a double, single, steal, and error accounted for the brace of tallies in the seventh. Two singles and Hemphill's fumble enabled Boston to score twice in the third inning, while bases on balls were directly responsible for Boston's additions to the run column in the fifth and sixth innings.

During the contest there was an unusual amount of kicking over Umpire Sheridan's work. In the third inning Stahl kicked over a decision and was put out of the game, Moriarty taking his place. This somewhat curbed the outward demonstrations, but the players renewed their outbursts in milder form repeatedly. The score:

RE ROLLE WINS FIRST GAME.

French Expert Defeats Poggenburg in International Tourney, 400 to 295.

Lucient Re Rolle, the French amateur champion, last night defeated J. Ferdinand Poggenburg of New York in the initial game of the international amateur billiard championshp tournament at the Liederkranz Club by the score of 400 to 295. Nervousness played a conspicuous part in the contest, and neither contestant was seen at his best. The Frenchman gave a splendid exhibition of 18.2 balk-line billiards, but he was handicapped by conditions with which he was not familiar. He complained that the balls rolled heavy, while the resiliency of the cushions somewhat affected his stroke. Despite his poor average, he is capable of playing better billiards. Poggenburg played a plucky game, but was compelled to yield to superior science and execution. Re Rolle averaged 12 4-33, with high runs of 83, 47, 45, and 30, while Poggenburg's average was 9 7-32, with 39, 35, 29, and 28 as his best individual contributions. The score:

Re Rolle—0 9 1 2 0 0 7 28 6 14 0 1 2 7 1 30 0 16 5 47 14 5 17 6 1 45 14 3 14 10 83 1 11. Total, 400; average, 12 3-33; high runs, 83, 47, 45, 30.
Poggenburg—1 0 0 2 2 0 0 28 2 35 0 23 10 24 0 0 1 21 7 5 39 2 17 1 1 0 1 29 1 13 17 13. Total, 295; average, 9 7-32; high runs, 39, 35, 29, 28.

Plans for Schoolboy Shoots.

At a meeting of the Board of Coaches of the Public Schools Athletic League, held at the Board of Education Building yesterday afternoon, plans were made for holding some of the shooting competitions of the outdoor season. Gen. George W. Wingate, President of the league, in offering a trophy for shooting in the high schools, suggested that the qualifications for the winning of it be based on the number of sharpshooters and marksmen in each school qualifying, the proportion of the former to the latter being considered 50 per cent. greater in the rating of the average. A committee consisting of Capt. Corwin of the Seventy-first Regiment and Messrs. Mueller and Mann of the high schools, was appointed to make arrangements for the coming outdoor championship shoots of the league. It was decided to have the entries for the shoot for the Whitney trophy close on May 16 at the headquarters of the league. The shoot will be held on May 22 and 23, at the Seventy-first Regiment Armory, the schools to be divided into two squads, each to have the use of the armory on one of the days. The shoot will be under the actual supervision of Capt. Corwin.

Power Boat Cruise Committee.

E. Morris Oliphant, President of the American Power Boat Association, has appointed the following committee to take charge of the association cruise for this season: Walter M. Bieling, Dr. T. V. Roe, Dr. Emil Heuel, E. W. Graef, and John H. McIntosh. It has been decided to hold the cruise to the Thousand Islands, leaving New York Aug. 11.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, April 28.—New York won the second game of the Boston series by consistent team work. Seymour's throws from centre field to the plate and his long hit late in the game were the features, and, indeed, to them must be ascribed New York's victory.

Dorner was not hit hard, but his willingness at times was nerve-wrecking. In the first inning he passed three men, and was only saved by the fastest kind of a double play. He gave way to Lindaman in the eighth inning, owing to an injury in the right foot from a batted ball. Taylor was taken out after the fifth inning, as the Bostons showed signs of punishing him.

Boston scored its only runs in the first and fourth innings on errors by Bridwell and Taylor, supplemented by good hitting. An error by Dahlen and two bases on balls in the fifth yielded New York the first run. In the eighth, with two out and Tenney on second base, Donlin hit to right, and then came Seymour's long, winning hit. The score:

EINSTEIN WINS TROPHY.

Ninth Regiment Games, Especially Basket Ball, Please Crowd.

Athletic events combined with basket-ball competition pleased a big crowd at the Spring games of the Ninth Regiment in West Fourteenth Street last night. One of the most interesting events was the special 600-yard scratch race for the Pinkney trophy, which was won by M. Einstein of the Thirteenth Company.

Edward Frick of the New York Athletic Club easily captured the 600-yard novice race from a good field. The one-mile novice event drew a large field. It was won by Charles L. Hall, an unattached runner, who after staying in the rack for most of the distance started a wonderful sprint 150 yards from the tape and won with 10 yards to spare.

The summary:

600-Yard Run, (Scratch,) for the Pinkney Trophy, (Closed to Ninth Regiment.)—Won by M. Einstein, Thirteenth Company; William E. Pratt, Seventeenth Company, second; J. A. Bohlin, Seventeenth Company, third. Time—1:25 1-5.

600-Yard Run, Novice, Open.—Won by Edward Frick, New York A. C.; W. Clark, West Side Branch Y. M. C. A., second; Charles Collins, Gordon A. A., third. Time—1:24.

One-Mile Run (for men who never won a prize at that distance before.)—Won by Charles L. Hall, unattached; Irwin P. McDowell, Pastime A. C., second; Robert Stevenson, unattached, third. Time—4:57.

POLICE HEAD OFF BOXING BOUT

McGovern and Summers Not Permitted to Meet in Ten-Round Mill.

The proposed bout between Terry McGovern and Johnny Summers, England's crack lightweight, scheduled to take place last night in Lyric Hall, did not occur. The boys were to have boxed ten rounds, and much stress had been laid upon the announcement that "Terrible Terry," after his long retirement, had shown such form in his training for a bout with Summers as to encourage his admirers that he might be able to regain his old prestige in the ring.

The police, however, took a hand, with the result that the promoters of the bout were unable to carry out their agreement. A big crowd appeared at Lyric Hall early, but found a platoon of police from the Twenty-third Precinct, in charge of Capt. Farrell, drawn up in front of the entrance and the doors closed.

When Capt. Farrell was asked by whose orders the match was forbidden, he replied: "By my orders. I told these people that they couldn't come into my precinct. Here they hire a public hall, with no athletic club attachment, and expect to pull off a ten-round bout between two prizefighters. They might as well have hired Madison Square Garden."

Meanwhile a man stood in the doorway of the hall, and announced to all inquirers that Terry and Summers would have it out at the Sharkey Athletic Club, Sixty-fifth Street and Columbus Avenue. Many of the crowd went there, but Capt. Reidy of the Twenty-eighth Precinct was there with a squad of his men, and the place was cleared.

Capt. Reidy said that he had no alternative other than to stop the bout.

"This is not the Sharkeys' night,' he said, "and even if it was, McGovern and Summers could not box because they do not belong here. I understand the clubrooms were opened in an underhand manner. No ten-round bouts can 'go' in my precinct."

McGovern and Summers were not present either at Lyric Hall or the Sharkey Athletic Club.

Tom O'Rourke is said to have been at the head of a syndicate to pull the bout off.

Brill stores offer everything that clothing stores can offer.

In Brill stores there is a diversity of styles appealing to a diversity of ideas.

In Brill stores there is a wide range of prices, making purchases possible for men of either limited or large means.

In Brill stores there are the tailoring ideas, the cutting ideas and the fabric ideas of ten of the foremost tailoring organizations in America—concerns whose progressiveness has raised ready-to-wear clothing to its present high standard.

In Brill stores, too, there are the clothes ideas of the Brill organization expressed in models and fabrics that are six months to one year in advance.

Licensed under Selden patent

And Guaranteed for one year.

A Simplex stock car driven by Mr. J. Morton Seymour held second place in the Briarcliff Trophy Race, defeating ALL OTHER American cars and ELEVEN foreign cars WHILE IT WAS ALLOWED A CLEAR COURSE. This, in spite of the fact that Mr. Seymour had NEVER before driven in ANY kind of a race. At the beginning of the last lap the car was running perfectly and Seymour was going FASTER THAN EVER.

Seymour started 17 minutes after the winning Isotta, 19 minutes after the Fiat, 13 minutes after the Stearns, 18 minutes after the Apperson. On the last round Seymour was delayed for over twenty minutes by a railroad train standing on a crossing directly across the course. As he left Eastview and spurted for the last stretch to Briarcliff and the finish he was forced to slow down to five miles an hour by crowds of spectators in automobiles and afoot, who poured onto the course from both sides of the road. Seymour threaded his way slowly through this crowd and drew up at the finish in time to be awarded 5th place by the Committee. As the Simplex started 20 minutes after the Bianchi, which had been given 5th place, and finished only 7 minutes and 5 seconds after it, the Simplex is clearly ahead of THAT car, even if NO consideration be taken of the delays caused by blocked roads. We KNOW the Simplex is entitled to 5th place, and now let us see about 4th place.

OFTTIMES LIFE

For automobilists, the newest thing in town—the most interesting and important, to-day—is the improved

FISK REMOVABLE RIM.

It fits the Fisk Bolted-On Tire.

It is the sanest, safest, simplest, lightest, speediest, cheapest device yet offered long-suffering motorists for solving tire troubles on the road.

Any man who has a car neglects his own interests not to go and get a demonstration at 1725 Broadway, N. Y.

A set of these rims, put on the wheels with two extra rims for spare tires, costs from $60 to $75, according to sizes.

It is worth hundreds of dollars in comfort, safety, convenience, time-saving and tire wear.

Any novice can replace a damaged tire with a new rim and tire in seventy seconds, after being once shown how.

A common wrench—remove five nuts.

That is all.

See it! It is

Stocks Active and Strong—Call Money Rates, 1¾@2 Per Cent.

BIGGEST TRADING OF YEAR

Movement Very Irregular, with Profit Taking Heavy—Government's Deposit Withdrawals.

The rise in stocks which has been under way almost without interruption for a fortnight went on with increasing speed through the greater part of yesterday's market session, transactions reaching nearly $1,200,000 shares before the end of the session. The same group of stocks conspicuous on recent days was again in the forefront of the advance, and their extreme gains ran to 3 points or so. In the afternoon the high level of prices invited profit taking, and as realizing sales increased in volume, stocks which had advanced only slightly fell back below the prices of Monday night, while among the market leaders losses were half of the earlier gains. The movement as a whole seemed to have very little reference to the day's news developments. The announcement from Washington of the recall of $45,000,000 of United States deposits was looked upon as possessing no force as a market factor for the reason that surplus reserves of the banks are enormous, and gold exports are under way which may be checked by such withdrawals. The message of the President to Congress, advocating, among many other things, greater control over corporations doing inter-State business, was likewise without influence, for it is now recognized that little more in the way of legislation will be forthcoming during the present session of Congress. Railroad earnings coming to hand were mixed in their import, although the reports of the Northern Pacific and Chicago & Northwestern to the Inter-State Commerce Commission covering operations in the month of March displayed steady betterment over the earlier months of the year, and the Atchison reduced a gross loss of $1,032,000 for March to a net loss of $333,000.

After the close of the stock market the United States Steel Corporation's report for the March quarter was published. It conformed in most respects to the opinions held in advance of its issue. Net earnings of $18,229,000 are a little more than half those of the December quarter, or the March quarter a year ago, but the showing for individual months of the quarter makes a more favorable comparison with December, 1907, when the full effects of the financial disturbances began to make themselves felt upon the corporation's business. The earnings that month were $5,034,000, and from that figure they have advanced steadily to $7,466,000 in March. The total net was so small, however, as to make it impossible for the corporation to make its usual deductions for additional construction and improvements, and even with this economy it was able to show only $7,865 as surplus, after the payment of all dividends, as against $3,684,000 in the same quarter of 1907, when large improvement deductions had first been made. The unfilled orders of 3,765,000 tons compare with 4,624,000 tons at the end of the December quarter, and is the smallest tonnage on the books of the corporation at the end of any quarter since Sept. 30, 1904. Obviously, the steel business is dull, and much improvement is necessary before anything like normal activity again obtains. Perhaps price reductions are among the essentials.

As a result of the Government's call it is figured that some $30,000,000 will come directly from the banks of this city, while indirectly they will presumably have to provide for the requirements of interior banks. According to last Saturday's bank statement, there were $43,000,000 of Government deposits in the Clearing House banks, so that New York is plainly providing more than its share of the withdrawals, possibly because it received the heaviest deposits during the troubles of last Fall. Upon the foreign exchange market the effect of this announcement was found in a sharp drop in rates. As a fast steamer makes a favorable opportunity for further exports on Thursday, the amount of engagements to-day should provide an inkling of the result of the withdrawals upon the movement. In the money market the Secretary's call occasioned somewhat higher rates.

OUTSIDE SECURITIES

Curb Market Opens Strong with Brisk Trading, but Sags as Business Flags.

PENNSYLVANIA 4S TO 101⅜

New Issue Makes Record, but Closes ⅜ Below High Level—Coppers Irregular.

After an active opening yesterday in which the trend of prices was generally upward, the volume of trading fell off, and in most issues the close was at a lower level than the high of the day. The greatest interest was shown in the new Pennsylvania bonds, which sold as high as 101⅜, which was ⅝ above the opening, and closed ¼ up, at 101, after reported transactions of $225,000. Interborough Rapid Transit 6s were not so strong, selling off from 100⅜ to 100¼. The close, after transactions of $139,000, was at 100½. Nevada-Utah led the copper stock in point of activity, selling 15,800 between 4 1-16 and 4½. The close was at 4⅜.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

A Big Day.

The volume of transactions on the Stock Exchange yesterday ran up to 1,101,299 shares, which made the day the biggest since Oct. 22 last. The second biggest day of the current year was Jan. 10, when 1,018,301 shares changed hands. All this is interesting to those who pin their faith to the theory of "culminations," which is simply that a big day after a long advance means distribution of stocks and the possible end of the rise. It came out so in January, but it has been known to fail.

⁂

Echoes of the Failure.

Brokers point out that one of the factors contributing largely to the strength of the market recently has been the result of the recent failure of a big commission house. Naturally this particular factor is not apparent to the average trader, although many brokers realized its importance from their own views and experience. The failure of a bear house excited some distrust among other houses which have been loaning stocks. It is a common practice for houses to loan stocks and for houses, the customers of which are short, to borrow such stocks. The suspension of this particular house aroused suspicion as to the stability of other houses, with the result that there were calls on many borrowers of stocks to return them. This served to create practically a new short interest and necessitated buying in the market, adding an element of strength.

⁂

Variable Views of Bond Men.

Bond men say they are unable to give a direct answer to any question as to the character of the bond market just now. There is an improvement in the demand for certain bonds, but complete apathy in others. Some enthuse over the success of the Pennsylvania flotation, while others do not regard it in a very friendly light. They point out that the Pennsylvania is such a high-class bond that naturally it will affect other issues which do not possess the same elements of security and comparative cheapness. Furthermore, they assert that it operates adversely against what might be called junior issues throughout the list. Tho ordinary collateral trust, convertible bond, or debenture, selling at a relatively high figure, does not possess the attractions that a Pennsylvania first mortgage bond does. On the other hand, the increase in actual available securities increases, temporarily at least, the supply. One of the members of a bond house in the Street voiced his views in this fashion: "Without doubt the Pennsylvania incident has been exaggerated, but no one should minimize its influence. The oversubscription is reassuring but logical. The bond market is having a little spell of what might be termed comparative activity in certain issues, but the rush of investors is not serious yet."

⁂

Plenty of Bullish Information.

In the first hour of trading yesterday the transactions exceeded 300,000 shares. One thing noticeable in yesterday's market was the preponderance of bullish information. All sorts of tips were let loose, and all sorts of prices predicted for every conceivable stock. It must be remembered, however, that as a rumormonger the little fellow is the most mischievous.

⁂

Changing Speculative Habits.

Because his health has not been very good for the last year, one big operator in one of the markets has been gradually closing his commitments, and is now doing very little. He is planning a vacation of a year, in which time he expects to recover from the strain of the last year and to be able to return to business again. Six weeks ago he was ready to quit the game completely, but he found himself now and then making commitments, which, of course, deferred the time when he could get away from his office. He would close them up, but find subsequently that he was long of this or short of that and interested again in fluctuations. Finally he decided that if he were to escape the temptation of the game and really get away he would have to have the ticker removed from his office. This he did. Now his friends are convinced that he can stay out of the market, and he has about made up his mind that there will be no further delay. Some of his very intimate friends, however, say that if he wants to make sure of the continuance of his good resolution he will have to stop visiting his friends' offices.

THE COTTON MARKET.

Low Records on Southern Selling—Closes 13 to 19 Points Down.

Cotton was very weak and unsettled yesterday, making new low records under Southern selling, which is attracting a great deal of attention in view of the prolonged period of depression and low prices. The market closed at bottom barely steady at a net decline of 13@19 points, the lowest of the season on July and later months. Sales of the day were estimated at 275,000 bales.

The market opened weak at a decline of 12@16 points and only rallied briefly during the morning.

Private cables denied Monday's reports that German mills would go on short time.

The range of contract prices was as follows:

$1,000,000
CITY OF MOBILE, ALABAMA
Refunding 4½% Bonds

Dated October 1, 1907. Due October 1, 1937.
Interest Payable October 1 and April 1 in New York. Coupon Bonds of $1,000 Denomination.

These bonds are part of a total issue of $1,897,000, made for the purpose of refunding an issue of $2,500,000, of which $603,000 had been paid off prior to maturity in cash. They are a direct obligation of the entire City of Mobile, and are additionally secured by a first lien upon the wharf property, water front rights and privileges of the City, valued at over $2,000,000.

For the payment of the principal and interest of this issue a constitutionally enacted tax levy of ¾%, independent of all other city taxes, is specifically and exclusively provided. This tax, on Mobile's present assessed valuation ($26,360,000), will produce in round numbers $197,000 annually, while the maximum charge for interest and sinking fund amounts to less than $136,000 annually. This wide margin between the amount required and the amount actually available for the payment of this loan will be increased very fast each year, as Mobile's assessed valuation increases, and as bonds are retired by action of the sinking fund.

Mobile owns salable income-producing property, including Water Works, Wharves, etc., valued at over $4,000,000, a sum far in excess of the City's entire bonded indebtedness. Deducting bonds issued for and secured by such income-producing properties, leaves a net debt of only $424,000, or less than 2% of its assessed valuation.

Mobile, with a present population of about 65,000, is the foremost city in the State of Alabama. It is located at the mouth of the Mobile River, the outlet of a river system aggregating over 2,000 miles—1,000 miles of which are navigable the year round; on Mobile Bay, with its deep water harbor, and on five important railroads, thus giving it splendid transportation advantages with all of the principal cities of the United States, as well as foreign countries. Since 1900 the population has increased 70%, bank deposits over 125%, and postal receipts over 110%. Foreign trade shows an increase of over 360% in ten years, averaging 36% yearly growth in the business of the port. During the year 1907 the total cost of improvements, according to the building inspector's record, was in excess of $1,500,000, and for the year 1908 it is estimated that the actual cost of improvements now under construction will not be less than $2,500,000 to $3,000,000. The Government is spending nearly $3,000,000 on improvements at the entrance of Mobile harbor and vicinity.

The legality of this issue has been approved by Messrs. Dillon & Hubbard, of New York City.

STEEL EARNINGS GAINED IN MARCH

This the One Favorable Feature of an Otherwise Poor Showing by Steel Corporation.

A FALLING OFF IN ORDERS

Quarterly Earnings $18,229,005, Compared with $32,553,995 for Previous Quarter—Charges Cut in Two.

The one favorable feature of the quarterly report of the United States Steel Corporation, made public yesterday, was that the net earnings of the company showed a gain of $1,700,000 in March over February. The earnings for each of the first two months of the year were only a little better than the month of December, when the earnings dropped to $5,034,000, and the surplus for the March quarter, after the payment of dividends, was only $7,865, leaving nothing to be set aside for the extraordinary expenditures funds, to which the company in the same quarter in 1907 appropriated $14,500,000. The net earnings for the quarter were $18,229,005. The earnings for the previous quarter were $32,553,995, and for the corresponding quarter last year $39,122,492.

The unfilled orders on the company's books on March 31 amounted to 3,765,343 tons, compared with 4,624,553 tons at the close of December. Thus, despite the small output during the last three months, unfilled orders dropped off about 860,000 tons.

It was not only the extraordinary expenditures fund which was reduced because of the small earnings of the quarter, but the charges under the head of regular depreciation and reserve funds were more than cut in two, compared with the same quarter in 1907. Of the $18,229,005 earnings, the amount deducted for sinking funds for subsidiary companies and for depreciation and reserve funds was $2,062,745, compared with $5,154,521 in the quarter ended March 31, 1907. The fixed charges for the quarter showed an increase, because of the issuance last Fall of bonds to take over the Tennessee Coal and Iron Company, and the balance after charges was $8,854,297, out of which $6,304,919 was paid in dividends on the preferred stock and $2,541,513 on the common.

If the regular depreciation and reserve funds had been charged out of the quarter's earnings in the same amount as in the March quarter last year, the balance of earnings would have fallen over $2,000,000 short of the amount required to pay these dividends.

The quarter's earnings of $18,229,005 were made up as follows: In January, $5,052,743; in February, $5,709,428, and in March, $7,466,834. It is understood that the rate of increase shown in March has not been maintained during the current month.

The Directors yesterday re-elected all the general officers, and re-elected George F. Baker a member of the Finance Committee.

Holders of Interborough Rapid Transit Company Notes due May 1, 1908, may deposit their Notes, ex Coupon due May 1, 1908, with the application, and will receive preference in allotment to the extent of Notes so deposited, such Notes being accepted in full payment for a like amount of the New Notes.

The subscription list will be opened at 10 a. m. on April 29th and will be closed at or before 3 p. m. the same day.

We reserve to ourselves the absolute right in our discretion to close the subscription list at any time without notice and to reject any or all subscriptions and also to allot smaller amounts than applied for.

All subscriptions should be made on forms which may be obtained at our office, and must be accompanied by a deposit of $50 per $1,000 Note, or the maturing Notes of the Interborough Company, as mentioned above.

If no allotment is made, the deposit will be returned in full, and if only a portion of the amount applied for be allotted, the balance of the deposit will be appropriated towards the amount due on May 1, 1908. If any further balance remains, such balance will be returned. Failure to pay the balance of the subscription when due will render the previous payment liable to forfeiture.

Temporary receipts will be issued pending delivery of the definitive Notes.

Subscriptions will also be received and Notes maturing May 1st may be deposited at the offices of Messrs. Lee, Higginson & Co., 44 State Street, Boston.

BOSTON STOCK MARKET.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, April 28.—While the undertone in the Boston copper shares was strong, more attention was given to the general list to-day, Union Pacific, Steel, &c., all being active. Butte Coalition and North Butte were the two principal features in the copper share list, the former advancing to 21⅞, while North Butte sold up over 3 points, to 58¾, on Western buying. The balance of the copper stocks was generally fractionally higher, while the local investment shares, such as American Telephones, United Fruit, Pullman, &c., were strong and in good demand. The market closed steady and at around the highest prices of the day. Complete list of transactions follows:

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

WHEAT.—Under heavy stop-loss selling in the last hour yesterday wheat sustained a heavy break and closed very weak, with new crop months leading the decline on more favorable weather news and better crop advices from the Northwest. Early in the session May was relatively strong. Interior movement for the day was 302,000 bushels, against 594,000 bushels a year ago. Northwest arrivals were 182 cars, compared with 510 cars last year. Exporters announced thirty-five loads taken on the decline, about ten loads of which was laid to be low-grade Winter, at Chicago. Foreign markets showed a partial decline of ⅜@¾d at Liverpool and an advance of ⅛@1⅛c at Budapest. Stocks at Minneapolis decreased 400,000 bushels for three days. Cash wheat in New York closed as follows: No. 2 red, $1.05⅜-8, elevator, and $1.07⅝c, free on board, afloat; No. 1 Northern Duluth, $1.14⅝, and No. 2 hard Winter, $1.11⅞, free on board afloat.

CORN.—Reports of cold, wet weather in sections where corn is being planted gave yesterday's early market an advance, but prices lost all the improvement in the afternoon, notwithstanding very small estimates for Wednesday's receipts. Cash corn in New York closed firm, as follows: No. 2, 76¾c, nominal, in elevator, and 74½c, free on board, afloat; No. 2 white, 75½c, free on board, afloat.

FINANCIAL NOTES.

Theodore M. Banta, Cashier of the New York Life Insurance Company, completed yesterday a service of fifty years with the company.

Harold Herrick will sever his connection with the Stock Exchange firm of Brown, Williams & Burbank on May 1, to become associated with the Stock Exchange house of Tate & Hays.

J. H. White, who has been the manager of the Produce Exchange branch of T. A. McIntyre & Co. for several years, has made a connection with Post & Flagg and will manage a Produce Exchange branch for that firm.

Application has been made to the Stock Exchange to list certificates of deposit representing Mexican Central consolidated 4 per cent. bonds and first and second income bonds, also the preferred stock and second preferred stock of the National Railroad of Mexico. Certificates representing deposits of Mexican Central stock have already been listed.

A. B. Leach & Co., Mackay & Co., and H. F. Bachman & Co. of New York and Philadelphia are offering to investors the new loan of $5,875,000 City of Philadelphia thirty-year four per cent. gold bonds, which are tax exempt in Pennsylvania.

A change has been made in the characters used on the stock tickers for the International Mercantile Marine issues from "IMM" to "MAR." This change has been made as the result of confusion arising out of the old abbreviation for International Mercantile Marine with the abbreviation used for other issues.

THE FOREIGN MARKETS.

Money in Good Demand and Steady on London Market.

LONDON, April 28.—Money was in good demand and steady on the market to-day. Discounts were firm, and the fears that Secretary Cortelyou, in calling in Government deposits, may check the gold exports to the Continent, caused an increased demand for gold here.

The Stock Exchange has not yet succeeded in shaking off the effect of the recent new issues. Consols further relapsed to-day, and brought down other British shares with them, but they hardened in the afternoon on covering operations. Paris sold foreigners, especially Russians, while copper shares drooped, on the American cut in copper.

American securities started the day cheerfully under the lead of Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, and Union Pacific, and the low-priced issues received good attention for Continental account. In the afternoon, New York bought Southern Pacific, Union Pacific, and Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul. This strengthened the whole list and the market finished strong.

Bar silver steady, 24 11-16d per ounce. Money 2½ per cent.

PARIS, April 28.—The tone on the Bourse to-day was heavy.

BERLIN, April 28.—Prices on the Boerse to-day were irregular, but mostly firm. Pennsylvania was strong upon the success of the bond issue.

MEXICAN CENTRAL. CONSOLIDATED INCOME BONDS.

The following dispatch is published by owners of large amounts of the above securities for the information of their fellow bondholders, and to prevent the sacrifice of the Bonds before proper arrangements are made for obtaining their intrinsic value:

New York, April 27th, 1908.

Senor J. Y. Limantour, Minister of Finance, Mexico City:

Holders of Three Millions of Dollars of Mexican Central Consolidated Income Bonds decline to donate their securities for stock in a Holding Company.

In view of your proposition to negotiate for other terms of purchase of our property, we would consider the acceptance of Fixed Interest Bonds for Fifty per cent. of First Incomes and Forty per cent. of the Second Incomes. These investments are held by hard-headed Englishmen and Americans.

NEW HAVEN SELLS BONDS.

Kidder, Peabody & Co. Take $11,000,000 of Road's Underlying Companies.

Financing by the New York, New Haven & Hartford to the extent of $11,000,000 was announced in Boston dispatches yesterday, stating that Kidder, Peabody & Co. of that city had purchased from the New Haven $9,000,000 of bonds of underlying companies held in the New Haven's Treasury, and in addition $2,000,000 of New Haven notes. The proceeds of these bonds and notes, it is stated, will be used to pay off maturing obligations, including about $8,000,000 of debentures which fall due the closing months of this year.

No information was had yesterday regarding the allotment of Pennsylvania Railroad bonds, the bankers not being prepared yet to make any announcement. It is understood that the small subscribers will get their bonds while those who subscribe for larger amounts will receive only a small percentage of the amount they wanted. One banker who subscribed for $4,000,000 said yesterday that he did not expect to be allotted more than $50,000.

Although the subscription lists for the $25,000,000 of Interborough Rapid Transit notes offered by J. P. Morgan & Co. will not be formally opened until 10 o'clock this morning, the issue has already been oversubscribed. Many of the Interborough's old notes have been offered in exchange for the new notes, the old noteholders receiving the preference in the allotment.

BANKS TO GIVE UP $30,000,000

Two-Thirds of Treasury Funds Called For to be Supplied from Here.

Most of the $45,000,000 of Government deposits which have been recalled by the Treasury Department will be taken from the New York City banks. In well-informed banking quarters it was stated yesterday that probably $30,000,000 will be surrendered by the banks in this city. The first installmentt of $20,000,000 is due on or before May 9, and the balance of $25,000,000 by May 23. The repayment under the call was begun yesterday, one of the large banks turning in to the Sub-Treasury $3,000,000.

Last Saturday's bank statement showed that the New York City banks had about $43,000,000 of Government money. The total Government deposits in all the National banks was about $191,000,000.

WILLIAMSBURG TRUST LOAN.

Money to be Advanced by the Metropolitan Trust for Reopening.

The plan by which the Metropolitan Trust Company is to advance money to the Williamsburg Trust Company to enable it to reopen differs radically from the liquidation of the Oriental Bank by the New York institution, and involves nothing more than a loan to the Williamsburg institution. The Metropolitan will advance $1,500,000 and the Williamsburg Trust Company will continue in business, retaining its identity.

There is no deferred payment plan involved, and on the day of resumption the Williamsburg Company will have funds on hand to pay off every deposit should demands be made on it to that extent.

INTERBOROUGH MORTGAGE.

The Company's Real Estate Pledged as Part Security for $55,000,000 Loan.

As partial security for an issue of $55,000,000 of bonds, the Interborough Rapid Transit Company has mortgaged its real estate in Manhattan, together with properties in Brooklyn and Queens, to the Morton Trust Company.

The mortgage, which was recorded yesterday in the Register's office, covers the power house at Fifty-eighth and Fifty-ninth Streets and the North River and the various sub-power stations on City Hall Place, Nineteenth, Fifty-third, Ninety-sixth, 132d, and 143d Streets, Hillside Avenue, Boston Road, and Bronx Street. The mortgage will run until Nov. 1, 1952.

REFEREES' NOTICES.

SUPREME COURT, COUNTY OF NEW YORK. —MINNIE A. BLANCHARD, plaintiff, against WILLIAM ROSENZWEIG REALTY OPERATING COMPANY et al., defendants.

In pursuance of a judgment of foreclosure and sale, duly made and entered in the above-entitled action, and bearing date the 9th day of April, 1908, I, the undersigned, the referee in said judgment named, will sell at public auction, at the Exchange Salesroom, Nos. 14-16 Vesey St., in the Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, on the 14th day of May, 1908, at 12 o'clock noon on that day, by Joseph P. Day, auctioneer, the premises directed by said judgment to be sold, and therein described as follows:

All those certain lots of land situate, lying, and being in the Borough of Bronx, City, County, and State of New York, designated as Lots Numbers 12, 13, 14, and 15 on a certain map entitled "Map of Bruner Estate, at Jerome Avenue and Gun Hill Road, in the Borough of the Bronx, owned by Century Realty Co.," dated New York, September 30th, 1905, surveyed by Geo. C. Hollerith, 146 Broadway, New York City, and filed November 9th, 1905, in the office of the Register of the County of New York, as Map Number 1,105, excepting all land lying in the bed of the streets, roads, and avenues adjacent thereto.

Said premises being subject, however, to restrictive covenants contained in deed made by Century Realty Company to William Rosenzweig Realty Operating Company hereto.

Being the same premises conveyed to William Rosenzweig Realty Operating Company by Century Realty Company by deed delivered and intended to be recorded simultaneously with this said mortgage, which was given to secure part of the consideration or purchase price for said premises.

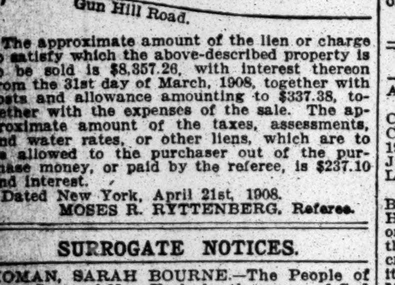
The sale will be conducted in such a manner that the premises will be first offered for sale in separate lots as shown on the map of the Bruner estate, and after all the lots have been so offered for sale, then the entire four lots will be offered for sale in one parcel, and if the bid for the one parcel shall exceed the aggregate bids of the separate parcels the property to be sold to the person bidding for the one parcel, otherwise to be sold to the highest bidder for each individual lot.

Dated New York, April 21st, 1908.

MOSES R. RYTTENBERG, Referee.

A. LINCOLN WESCOTT, Attorney for Plaintiff, Office and P. O. Address 135 Broadway, Borough of Manhattan, New York City.

The following is a diagram of the property to be sold:



The approximate amount of the lien or charge to satisfy which the above-described property is to be sold is $8,357.26, with interest thereon from the 31st day of March, 1908, together with costs and allowance amounting to $337.38, together with the expenses of the sale. The approximate amount of the taxes, assessments, and water rates, or other liens, which are to be allowed to the purchaser out of the purchase money, or paid by the referee, is $237.10 and interest.

SURROGATE NOTICES.

HOMAN, SARAH BOURNE.—The People of the State of New York, by the grace of God free and independent, to ALICE NELSON and ERNEST WAKEFIELD, the heirs and next of kin of SARAH BOURNE HOMAN, deceased, send greeting:

Whereas Russell Homan of Lake Cushman, Mason County, Washington, has lately applied to the Surrogates' Court of our County of New York to have a certain instrument in writing, dated the 13th day of July, 1884, relating to both real and personal property, duly proved as the last will and testament of Sarah Bourne Homan, late of the County of New York, deceased, therefore you and each of you are cited to appear before the Surrogate of our County of New York, at his office in the County of New York, on the 8th day of June, one thousand nine hundred and eight, at half-past ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, then and there to attend the probate of the said last will and testament.

And such of you as are hereby cited as are under the age of twenty-one years are required to appear by your guardian, if you have one, or if you have none to appear and apply for one to be appointed, or in the event of your neglect or failure to do so, a guardian will be appointed by the Surrogate to represent and act for you in the proceeding.

In testimony whereof we have caused the seal of the Surrogates' Court of the said County of New York to be hereunto affixed. Witness, Hon. Charles H. Beckett, a Surrogate of our said County of New York, at said county, the 8th day of April, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and eight.

IN THE REAL ESTATE FIELD

Deals for Large Plots in the Bronx—Apartment House for Upper Riverside Corner—Successful Offerings in Two Auction Rooms.

R. I. Brown's Sons have sold for Robert A. Cheesebrough, as executor, the plot bounded by 149th Street, Austin Place, and Whitlock Avenue, 301 by 300 and irregular.

Leo M. Mosauer of the office of Jacob Leitner has sold for the Smilax Realty Company the block front of sixteen lots on the east side of the Southern Boulevard, extending from Tiffany to Barretto Street, 400 by 100; also, for John Mayer, the block front on the north side of 144th Street, extending from Southern Boulevard to Timpson Place, 98 by 158.

To Build on Riverside Corner.

Salomon & Greenbaum have sold for Klein & Jackson the southeast corner of Riverside Drive and 144th Street, a plot fronting 100 feet on the Drive and 106 feet on the street. The buyer, the Gracehull Realty Company, will begin at once the erection of a six-story elevator apartment house.

Abraham Ruth has sold another of the row of five-story forty-foot apartment houses on the east side of Amsterdam Avenue, between 158th and 159th Streets.

Dwelling Sold on the Heights.

The Renton-Moore Company has sold for Mrs. Reta A. Yawger to a client, for occupancy, 408 West 146th Street, a three-story stone-front dwelling, on lot 19 by 99.11.

W. J. Huston & Son have sold for the estate of John O. Stone to a client, for occupancy, the three-story dwelling 209 Edgecombe Avenue, on lot 16.8 by 99.11.

Sale of West 78th Street House.

Joseph P. Day has sold for a client the three-story dwelling 223 West Seventy-eighth Street, 20 by 102.2. William C. Walker's Sons represented the buyer.

Adrian Iselin is reported to be the buyer of the dwelling 16 West Fifty-second Street, sold recently.

Estate Sells on Lenox Avenue.

Joseph P. Day has sold for the estate of Morris Grosner to Edward L. Radcliff 206 Lenox Avenue, a four-story stone-front dwelling, on lot 20 by 80. The property was to have been sold at auction yesterday by Mr. Day.

Arnold, Byrne & Baumann have sold for Abraham Benedict to Lowenfeld & Prager 241 West 148th Street, a five-story flat, on plot 39 by 99.11.

Amsterdam Avenue Purchase.

Richmayer & Irving have sold for the Welch estate 790 Amsterdam Avenue, a five-story flat on lot 14.4 by 84, between Ninety-eighth and Ninety-ninth Streets.

Patrick Kiernan is the buyer of the northwest corner of Sixtieth Street and Columbus Avenue, six five-story flats, sold recently by Arnold, Byrne & Baumann for Cohen & Glauber.

Lease in New Apartment House.

Pease & Elliman have leased for a long term of years for John T. Williams an entire floor in his recently completed apartment house at 778 and 780 Madison Avenue to Mrs. Frank Harmon.

Plans have been filed for making over the four-story dwelling at 553 Fifth Avenue into a five-story loft building with stores at a cost of $12,000. The property is owned by the Owens estate.

Deal for 86th Street Dwelling.

D. W. Rockmore has bought the five-story brownstone dwelling 433 East Eighty-sixth Street from S. Ellerstein.

A. B. Mosher & Co. have leased for a term of years to the Sheffield Farms-Slawson-Decker Company the store on the northeast corner of 117th Street and Fifth Avenue; also, to I. Kaplan, the store and basement at 42 West 116th Street; also, to Engle & Kunz, three stores at 3,550 Broadway; also, in the same building, to C. J. Ross, the hall, 75 by 50; also the store 104 Lenox Avenue and the dwelling 399 Manhattan Avenue to William T. L. Armstrong.

Plans have been filed for the five-story furniture warehouse to be erected at the southwest corner of Third Avenue and 121st Street on a large plot now occupied by a group of twelve one and two story buildings. The new structure will front 126.2 feet on the avenue and 100 feet on the street, and will have a three-story annex to be used as a stable. The building is to be erected for Edward Gallan as owner at a cost of $120,000, according to the estimates of Architects Bartholomew and John P. Walther. The northeast corner at Third Avenue and 121st Street, owned by the First Dutch Reformed Church of Harlem, is also being improved.

Addition to Fifth Avenue Colony.

The latest removal from the old high-class retail colony around Union Square to the newer one in the Fifth Avenue district is that of H. Jaeckel & Sons, who have just taken possession of the new Jaeckel Building at 16 to 20 West Thirty-second Street. This structure was put up especially to meet the requirements of the Jaeckel business and has an unusually complete equipment for the storage of furs.

West 34th Street Lease.

McNally & Cochran have leased for Bernard Crystal the store at 23 West Thirty-fourth Street for a term of years to Aaron Kosofsky; also a store in the St. Catherine Apartments, 144 to 148 West Sixty-seventh Street, for George A. Branigan.

Woodcock & Britt have leased the three-story dwelling 302 West Twelfth Street to Dr. J. J. Shea; also the three-story dwelling 28 Bethune Street to Charles H. Tuthill; also, to Rose A. Maddox, the three-story dwellings 30 and 32 Eighth Avenue; also, to Ernest W. Fick, the stores 16 and 18 North Moore Street, and, for Richard Block to Michael Germine, the store and basement at 18 North Moore Street.

William Henry Folsom will move his offices on Friday to 927 Broadway, between Twenty-first and Twety-second Streets.

New Partnership Formed.

Theodore Starrett and Edward A. Carpenter have formed a partnership under the firm name of Theodore Starrett & Co., with offices at 103 Park Avenue, to conduct a general business as engineers and managers of construction in large building operations. Both were executive officers of the Thompson-Starrett Company for eight years, during which time they erected more than 150 fireproof buildings.

Forest Avenue Property Sold.

Williamson & Bryan have sold for the Flinn estate the flat and store 836 Forest Avenue.

Cahn & Cahn have resold 729 Cauldwell Avenue, a two-story frame dwelling, for Benicannio Pompilio to Irene Di Donato.

A. Shatzkin & Sons have bought from I. Singer a plot, 100 by 100, on the north side of 211th Street, 177 feet east of White Plains Road.

The same firm has sold to Nicola Bracchi a plot, 50 by 100, on the north side of 213th Street, 50 feet east of Pleasant Avenue; also, a plot, 50 by 100, on the north side of 211th Street, 150 feet west of Maple Avenue, to Carmine Delucci; also, a lot, 25 by 125 by 132, on the east side of Cedar Avenue, 125 feet south of Bartholdi Street, to Gaetano Salvos; also, to James Raffale a lot, 25 by 109, on Cedar Avenue, south of Corsa Lane.

Purchase at Elmhurst Heights.

The Ernestus Gulick Company reports the sale of thirty lots on Hillside Avenue, at the easterly corner of Black Stump Road. This property adjoins Jamaica Estates. The sale was made for C. E. Naler to F. C. Myers.

The Ernestus Gulick Company has also sold twenty-seven lots on Madison and High Streets for Emelia Heidenreich to F. C. Smith, for $25,000.

Deal for Lots at Hollands, L. I.

The Lewis H. May Company has sold LOT 295 and other lots on map of Arden for a client to John Schottler six lots and four buildings on Lefferts Place, adjoining Bayside Avenue, at Hollands, L. I.

New Hospital Projects Opposed.

Much disapproval is being manifested among business men of Queens Borough over the action of the Legislature in passing, just before adjournment, Senate Bill 1,314, which provides for the use of the rifle range at Creedmoor as a site for the Long Island State Hospital.

The Queens Borough Real Estate Exchange, through its Committee on Law, Legislation, and Taxation, of which D. Maujer McLaughlin is Chairman, has communicated with the Governor, asking him to veto the bill. Members of the committee will probably go to Albany and present their arguments.

"We think that the measure is unwise and unnecessary," said Chairman McLaughlin yesterday. "Instead of moving the present hospital in Flatbush to Creedmoor, all we think that is necessary for the State to do is to enlarge the present public institution at Central Islip. What is the use of having two State institutions within a few miles of each other, when one, properly enlarged, will fully serve the purpose?

"Flatbush, of course, wants to get the institution out of its territory, but neither that nor the fact that the State already owns the Creedmoor property is sufficient reason why the hospital should be put right there in the very heart of a territory building up fast and growing tremendously in value."

The Auction Room.

The feature of yesterday's business in the Vesey Street salesroom was a long series of voluntary and executors' sales at the stand of Joseph P. Day.

In the Bronx salesroom Julius H. Haabs conducted a successful offering of vacant property in the Wakefield section. Results of both sales follow:

NEW JERSEY—FOR SALE OR TO LET

SYNDICATE NOW FORMING

To Acquire a Piece of Property Suburban to New York City at a Great Bargain.

I have an option on a very valuable small tract of land and desire some persons to join me in its purchase. The option held by me is at a figure much below its present value and far below the value that this ground will have two or three years hence.

The property is located in a growing suburban town, close to New York City, and will receive the full benefit of the many big improvements in transit facilities now nearing completion.

It is a perfectly conservative statement to say that the parties joining this syndicate and buying this land a wholesale prices at the present figure will reap a profit of at least 100% in the next year or two, and possibly go as high as 200% or 300%, with no expenses while these profits are accruing except the taxes, which are merely nominal. Equally large, and even larger, profits have been realized by many similar syndicates.

The title to this property is guaranteed by The New Jersey Title and Abstract Company of New Jersey, and for an amount equal to the sum that we will pay for the land. The adjoining property has been developed by one of the leading Realty Companies of New York, and is being sold at 100% to 200% above the price at which I hold my option.

For the information of those not familiar with this method of making large and certain profits I desire to state that during the past three years an aggregate of several million dollars has been made by the few syndicates that have acquired property in well selected localities and held it for an advance, or sold it to those who divided it into building lots, or to those who purchase for permanent investment. It can be safely stated that there is no other enterprise that will show such large profits combined with absolute safety of principal. The opportunity is greatest right at the present time, just previous to the opening of the several new tunnels and bridges.

The property consists of about 50 acres and can be divided up among the ladies or gentlemen who join me, in the proportion, large or small, that each one desires to take, each getting title to the piece he takes; or it can be held in one block by some individual as trustee, or any reliable trust company or bank for the benefit and profit of all the participants. The undersigned will, of course, take a substantial part of the property himself.

Those who are interested are invited to call at my office or communicate with me by mail or 'phone. 'Phone, 536—Madison.

E. J. WALKER, Real Estate,
34 WEST 33D ST., N. Y.
Builders' Exchange Bldg., Few Doors East of Broadway.

NOTE:—Persons residing outside of New York City desiring to join the syndicate will be forwarded full information on request.

PROPOSALS.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS.
New York State Education Building.
Sealed proposals will be received by the Secretary of the Trustees of Public Buildings in the Executive Chamber, the Capitol, Albany, N. Y., up to 12 o'clock noon June 2d, 1908, for the entire work of constructing the New York State Education Building to be erected on the north side of Washington Avenue, extending from Hawk to Swan Street, in the City of Albany, N. Y., and opened publicly by the Trustees of Public Buildings in the Executive Chamber at that time.

Proposals shall be accompanied by a certified check or cash deposit to the amount of one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000.)

The Trustees reserve for the State the right to reject any or all bids received if they consider it to the best interests of the State so to do.

Each bidder submitting a proposal will be required to furnish a guarantee from a surety company or surety companies that it or they will furnish bond or bonds aggregating the sum of one million dollars.

The contract provides that the building shall be completed on or before the 31st day of December, 1910.

On and after April 30th, 1908, drawings and specifications, the form of contract, the bond, and blank forms for proposals may be obtained at the office of the architects, Palmer & Hornbostel, 63 William Street, New York, N. Y.

One set of plans, specifications, &c., will be furnished to general contractors upon the application to the said architects and upon the payment of a deposit of $50, this deposit to be forfeited if the plans and specifications are not returned to the architects in good condition. Additional copies will be furnished upon the payment by the contractor of the net cost of the same. Plans and specifications will be supplied to subcontractors wishing to submit to general contractors figures for the various departments of work, upon reasonable notice to the architects and payment of the net cost of the prints and specifications required.

ROBERT H. FULLER,
Secretary of the Trustees of Public Buildings,
Executive Chamber, The Capitol,
Albany, N. Y.

FT. MONROE, VA., MARCH 28, 1908.—Sealed proposals in triplicate will be received until ten A. M., April 30th, 1908, for construction of one Officers' Artillery School and one Enlisted Men's School buildings, including plumbing, heating, electric wiring and fixtures, and electric elevator. Plans and specifications may be seen in offices of Depot Quartermaster, New York, N. Y.; St. Louis, Mo.; Advisory Architect of the Q. M. Department, No. 702 17th St., N. W., Washington, D. C., and Chief Quartermaster, Chicago, Ill. Deposit of certified check for fifty ($50.00) dollars required for guaranty return plans and specifications. Bidders on proposals must state the name of manufacturers supplying them material. Information on application. U. S. reserves right to accept or reject any or all proposals, or any part thereof. ERNEST R. TILTON, Captain and Constructing Quartermaster.

POST OFFICE DEPARTMENT, WASHINGTON, D. C., March 20, 1908. Sealed proposals will be received at the office of the Purchasing Agent of this Department until 2 o'clock P. M., May 11, 1908, for furnishing Package Boxes and Combination Letter and Package Boxes, as may be ordered for the use of the Postal Service from time to time during the four years beginning July 1, 1908, and ending June 30, 1912. Blanks for proposals, with specifications and instructions to bidders, will be furnished upon application to the Purchasing Agent for the Post Office Department, Washington, D. C. G. v. L. MEYER, Postmaster General.

SAYS WORK OFFSET CHECK.

Further Hearing of Fraud Charge Against Lawyer W. F. Kisselburgh.

In refutation of the charge that he had perpetrated a fraud against the Hotel Marie Antoinette in passing a bad check for $725, William F. Kisselburgh, when the case was called in the West Side Police Court yesterday, asserted, through his attorney, Robert L. Luce, that he had performed legal services for the hotel company to the value of $2,500, suit for the payment of which had been begun.

The chief witness was Alfred M. Wooley, the hotel manager, who related the facts concerning Mr. Kisselburgh's stay there; said the amount of his bill when he left was $1,028, and that the check drawn on the First National Bank of Ballston Spa was found among the effects of the late Capt. Smith, the auditor who committed suicide, supposedly because of a deficit in his accounts. The witness also said he found some clothing and papers in Kisselburgh's room after he had left. He said that a second check for $500 had been found among Smith's papers.

Mr. Luce got Mr. Wooley to admit that Mr. Kisselburgh had done considerable legal work for the hotel for which he had not been paid.

Mr. Kisselburgh admitted that he had never had sufficient funds in the Ballston Spa bank to meet the check for $725.

"It was a small account," he said "for my wife's use. I did not know how much there was there, nor do I know how much there is there now. The bank has the book." The case was adjourned until to-day.

MURDERER ACQUITTED.

But Immediately Rearrested and Indicted—Coroner's Jury Let Him Go.

On the ground that he shot James Taylor of 557 West Fifty-seventh Street in in self-defense on the night of April 18 in his father's saloon, at 736 Eleventh Avenue, a Coroner's jury yesterday acquitted Frank Collins on the charge of murder. He was instantly rearrested, taken before the Grand Jury and indicted for murder in the first degree.

When the jury brought in its verdict Assistant District Attorney Ward said: "I have heard many disgraceful verdicts, but this is the most shameful one I have had anything to do with. Officer Ryan arrest that man."

In a minute Collins was surrounded by angry friends, including several women. They threatened the policeman, and all but attacked him.

Collins was rearrested, and half an hour later indicted and remanded to the Tombs.

GOULD LINE ACCUSED OF COAL LAND GRABS

Inter-State Commerce Commission Also Charges Harriman System with Collusion.

DUMMIES FILED OWNERSHIP

And Then Railroads Took Over Holdings, Formed Fuel Companies, and Put Up Prices.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 28.—The Inter-State Commerce Commission sent to the Senate to-day a remarkable report, showing that railroads in the West have "grabbed" thousands of acres of valuable coal lands, have intimidated individual settlers, and generally have engaged in lawless exploitation of the rich resources of the country. The Denver & Rio Grande Railroad Company is denounced especially as one of the principal culprits. This road is an important part of the Gould system. The Harriman system comes in for less drastic condemnation.

The railroads in every case, according to the report, have indulged in elaborate preparations to protect themselves. Their unmasking to-day was due to a joint resolution, approved March 7, 1906, in which the Inter-State Commerce Commission was authorized to investigate the question of railroad discrimination and monopoly in coal and oil.

The commission already had sent in two reports. The one that was submitted to the Senate to-day is the third, and probably the most sensational. It practically charges the Gould road with "fraud, perjury, violence, and disregard of the rights of individuals."

In the first place, the commission discovered in Utah and Colorado that the Pleasant Valley Coal Company was the principal offender. This company was capitalized at $3,250,000. Further investigation showed that the capital stock of this company was owned by the Utah Fuel Company, the capital stock of which, under a New Jersey law, was $10,000,000.

This was interesting, but when the commission's special agents learned that the Utah Fuel Company was owned by the Rio Grande Western Railway Company and that this railroad was a component part of the Denver & Rio Grande Railroad, they began to look to New York for the solution.

The report declares that the Pleasant Valley Coal Company made a practice of having "dummies," many of whom were women, file on public coal lands, wait ten or eleven months, and then quietly take over the holdings on the payment to the "dummies" of from $50 to $100. One witness before the commission, the report sets forth, declared that Robert Forrester, geologist and engineer of the corporation, between January, 1899, and September, 1902, had acted as attorney in fact for seventy-seven entrymen and entrywomen in the filing of ownership to coal lands in one county in Utah.

In summing up the evidence of this collusion the Inter-State Commerce Commission's report does not mince words. After tracing the ownership of the coal and fuel companies by the Gould system, the commission declares "that the acquisition of coal lands by such coal and fuel companies has been attended by fraud, perjury, violence, and disregard of the rights of individuals."

The activities of the commission's agents, however, were not confined to Colorado and Utah. In Oklahoma they found that of 109 leases on Indian coal lands 58 were held by railroads. Without going into details as to how it was brought about, the report shows that all of the lessees were organized and the McAlester Fuel Company created as selling agent for the combination.

When the McAlester corporation got into action coal prices went up like a rocket. At the present time Oklahoma City is taxed from $7 to $7.50 a ton for coal, although it is within 120 miles of the mines. Likewise, farmers for a radius or 200 miles around must pay $9 and upward a ton.

The most remarkable item of the report is found in that part devoted to the inquiry into the Union Pacific Railroad's monopoly of the Wyoming field. It says: "The Union Pacific Railroad Company does absolutely dominate the mining, transportation, and selling of coal along its line."

A significant statement follows, to the effect that if the policy of withdrawing public coal lands is continued the grip of the monopoly will be tightened and individual competition completely crushed. The withdrawal of certain public lands in the West is one of the President's pet hobbies.

Passengers' Letters Lost Overboard.

One of the ocean pilots who returned to New York yesterday reported that a bag of letters written by the passengers who sailed for Glasgow by the Anchor Line steamship California last Saturday, had been lost overboard as they were being handed down into the pilot boat. It is customary for passengers to write farewell notes on the way down to Sandy Hook, which are given to the pilot to post when he gets ashore.

CITY BREVITIES.

Charles Spitz of 232 Lynch Street, Brooklyn, indicted as Charles F. Williamson for voting last Election Day as Charles F. Mullen in the Sixteenth Election District of the Third Assembly District, was convicted yesterday in General Sessions and remanded for sentence.

Fifteen thousand dollars was awarded to Mrs. Maud Sharp yesterday by a jury before Supreme Court Justice Ford against the McCormick Construction Company for the loss of her husband, James Sharp, who was killed by a plank falling on him while at work on a building at 198th and Dyckman Streets on June 1, 1906. She appeared in court with her six children, the youngest a baby in arms.

The first meeting of the New York County Lawyers' Association, recently incorporated, was held in the Mutual Life Building yesterday afternoon, with Alton B. Parker in the chair, and elected Judge John F. Dillon President, ex-Judge Parker, W. J. Wallace of Albany, and Joseph F. Daly Vice Presidents, Charles Strauss Secretary, and D. A. Spellissy Treasurer. The new association has a membership of 2,800.

Three hundred doctors, nurses, and patients in various stages of convalescence, saw a minstrel show in the Amphitheatre at Bellevue Hospital last night, given under the auspices of the New York Protestant Episcopal City Mission Society. Miss A. N. Stahl directed the performance.

A cable slipped off the basement drum yesterday in the six-story building, 237 Mercer Street, and the elevator fell four stories, injuring four passengers. They were Miss Henrietta Stern of 11 East 106th Street, broken leg and internal injuries; Mrs. Henrietta Krauschaar of Fifty-sixth Street and Fifteenth Avenue, Brooklyn, shock and contusions; Nathan Bin of 127 East Seventh Street, broken left ankle and contusions, and Horace Wendorf, broken right leg and bones of foot.

PLOTTED TO CATCH HIS WIFE'S SLEUTHS

His Son, an Important Witness in the Case, Has Disappeared, He Says —Woman Witness Abroad.

The divorce court was enlivened yesterday by an amazing recital by William S. Brewer, who is being sued for divorce by Mrs. Edith A. Noble Brewer. Brewer is charged with misconduct with a woman, whose identity was unknown, at the Astor House on Jan. 18 last. His defense is that he deliberately plotted to lure his wife and her advisers into the belief that he had misconducted himself in order, as he put it on the witness stand, to "expose her advisers."

The chief evidence against Brewer was furnished by John F. Cella, a private detective. He told how he followed Brewer about the country for several days prior to Jan. 18, when the latter returned to this city. Reaching the Cortlandt Street ferry, Cella swore that he saw Brewer join a woman, and followed them to the Astor House, where Brewer registered as "U. A. Reaful and wife." They were assigned to Room 230.

Cella then registered at the hotel, and got Room 232, next door. Then he telephoned to certain of his principals, who joined him at the hotel for the purpose of watching Brewer. After this testimony had been corroborated by several witnesses, Harry Eckhard, counsel for Brewer, offered in evidence two letters. One was written from Pittsburg by Brewer on Jan. 16, addressed to Eckhard. The other was Eckhard's reply. Brewer's letter to Eckhard read in part as follows:

I have seen several parties that seemed to be traveling with me. I do not know if any one is following me. Have made many stops and tried to detect them, if so, but cannot be sure, as they are very clever in following me, and there must be more than one. Now I have a scheme to find out, and here it is, and I want your assistance in the plan which I hope will meet with your approval: I will go to New York, to arrive there at 8 o'clock Saturday evening. I will meet a lady in the parlor of the Astor House. Cedric will be there, or I have asked him to be with the lady. He will see you there and introduce you. When I come I will not recognize you but will speak to the lady, greeting her in a very friendly way, and registering as "U. A. Reaful and Wife." It means "You are a fool." I'll write so it won't be very plain.

The lady will go up on the elevator with me and go down another way when you or Cedric signal that no one can see her depart. Now you can arrange for a room for me that has a connecting room, so that you and Cedric and any witnesses you want can be in the connecting room while they watch or break in upon me. You can, I suppose, arrange this with the clerk.

You might also see that there is a vacant room for them next to ours without a connecting door to the one I get. You can tell the clerk about the rooms, to be ready for me, but don't let him know what we are up to, for I don't want to scare off any man or men they may have detailed upon me.

Eckhard's reply follows:

Your scheme to rout the enemy if they are really after you will be simply great if we can carry it out to the finish. I can't think of anything that I will more enjoy than to see Wing, Mark Noble, and several others come to your room sanguine that they finally have you—only to be fooled. It is really a funny situatin, which would provide the structure for an amusing little playlet.

I am going to reserve a room for you, if possible. Ask for Mr. Smith, the clerk, and tell him that you are the man I mentioned to him. He will assign you to a room in which Cedric, a friend of mine, and myself will all be from 7:30 awaiting you.

You will go up in the elevator, getting off at your floor. I will try to arrange to have the house detective escort Mrs. —— out of the hotel—using a rear stairway—or she can have the elevator go up above your floor and then descend, passing out hurriedly through the Vesey Street entrance, which is directly in front of the elevator.

Brewer was then placed on the stand and testified as to the successful carrying out of the plot. He swore that the woman mentioned in the letter was a Mrs. Redpath, and that the Cedric mentioned was his son, who is a student at a New York preparatory school. He said that the woman never entered his room. She went up in one elevator and was taken down in the next and smuggled out of the hotel by a side entrance. He then told how he, his son Cedric, Eckhard, and two other friends passed the night in Room 230. His story was corroborated by Eckhard and one of the other men in the room that night.

Murray Hulbert, Mrs. Brewer's counsel, wanted to know why Brewer's son and Mrs. Redpath had not been called. Brewer explained that his son was missing and that Mrs. Redpath was in Europe. He admitted that his son was in the city last Thursday, but said he mysteriously disappeared that night and had not been heard of since. He also admitted that he had given $50 to the boy a day or so before he disappeared.

Brewer is in the hotel supplies business and lives at 433 East Fifty-first Street. His wife is a daughter of the late Prof. Noble, head of the Cincinnati Art School, who died a year ago. She lives with her mother, Mrs. Hogan Noble, at Bensonhurst.

The case will go to the jury to-day.
